VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY, AT JUDGE'S ORDER, IN CASE OF 'TONY' FOLEY

McElhinney, at End of State's Testimony, Announces Result After Prosecutor Agrees No Case Was Made Against Defendant Charged With Keeping Gaming Device.

WITNESSES TELL OF PLAYING DICE

Following the completion of the State's case in the trial at Clayton today of Anthony (Tony) Foley of 7107 Pershing avenue, on a charge of keeping a gaming device at Campbell's Forest Home, Bellevue and Oakland avenues, Richmond Heights, in which several men testified they had gambled there, but had not seen Foley at the place, Circuit Judge McElhinney instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty.

The charge on which Foley was tried today was a felony, punishable by penitentiary sentence. Tomorrow, in the same court and with the State relying upon the same witnesses, he will be trie don an indictment charging that he permitted gambling on the premises, a misdemeanor.

When the State finished presentation of its testimony Judge McElhinney conferred with Prosecuting Attorney Mueller and counsel for Foley. The Judge then announced that both sides had agreed that a case had not been made against the defendant and his instructions to the jury followed.

Several Indictments.

Prosecuting Attorney Mueller afterwards stated that the case against Foley was one of several indictments returned by the grand jury conducted by the Attorney-General that had not been successfully prosecuted. He said the evidence in Foley's case was the same in the trial as that introduced before the grand jury that indicted him.

At the opening of the trial Prosecuting Attorney Mueller said he expected to prove that gambling devices had been operated at Campbell's Forest Home; that Foley was in the office of the place at the time and paid fuel and ice bills.

Fred C. Beckmann of Olivette, proprietor of a feed company, testified that in the latter part of 1919 he went to Campbell's Forest Home and entered a room adjoining the bar, where a dice game was in progress. He said there were two large tables, covered with green cloth, on which were figures familiar to dice players as "the field." He said there were several men around the tables, on which there were dice and money.

Says He Didn't See Foley.

The witness said he joined in the game and played dice for money; that the men around him were betting on the game against the "banker," whom he described as the man conducting the game. He said this man was not Foley. He testified he gambled at dice there several times in 1919 and 1920, but did not see Foley at the place at any time.

George Smith, a commission man of Stratmann, on the Olive Street road, also testified that he played dice at the place in 1920, in the room described by Beckmann. In response to a question whether he won or lost, Smith said he lost $19 or $20. He also said the "banker" of the game, who was not Foley, took all bets.

Reporter Tells of Gambling.

Harry T. Brundidge of 4327A Shaw avenue, a newspaper reporter who went to Campbell's Forest Home seeking information about the place for publication, testified that he had gambled at the place on three or four occasions in the last three years in the dice game that was operated there. He said he recalled losing $5 on one occasion and winning $15 or $20 at another time. He testified that he accompanied Mayor Jensen of Richmond Heights on what was to have been a raid of the place in the spring of last year, but that the raid did not materialize. On one occasion, between December, 1919, and February, 1920, Brundidge testified, the place was dark and he could not gain admittance.

Everett Walker of Maplewood also testified that he gambled at the place, but said he did not see Foley in connection with the game.

GERMANY APPEALS TO HARDING TO MEDIATE REPARATIONS QUESTIONS

Note Dispatched to Washington Agrees to Abide Faithfully by Any Decree President Makes.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 21.—The German Government has formally asked the President of the United States to mediate in the reparations questions.

The note embodying the request was forwarded Wednesday by Loring Dresel, the American Commissioner in Berlin, to the State Department in Washington.

The appeal pledges Germany to accept the mediation without reservations and to fulfill absolutely any award President Harding may make after examination and investigation into the subject.

"In the name of the German Government and the German people the undersigned, notwithstanding the still existing technical state of war, respectfully petition the President of the United States to mediate in the reparations question and to fix the sum to be paid by Germany to the allied Powers."

Harding Receives Germany's Request to Act as Mediator.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Germany's appeal teo President Harding to act as mediator in the reparations controversy between that country and the allies was received today by the State Department from Commissioner Dresel at Berlin. It is understood to have been discussed at a brief conference late today between Secretary Hughes and President Harding.

President Harding is expected to take up the appeal with his Cabinet at the regular meeting tomorrow. Meantime, officials declined to discuss it and the text is withheld.

PRESIDENT PROMISES TO INVESTIGATE RAILROAD STRIKE

Missouri and Northern Arkansas Controversy Presented to Harding by Union Officials.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Investigation of conditions on the Missouri & Northern Arkansas Railway, where a strike has been in progress since February, was asked of President Harding today by representatives of the seven leading railway employes' unions, inciuding tthe big four railway brotherhoods.

The President was understood to have been told that the road had declined to abide by an award of the Railway Labor Board and that provisions of the transportation act were not being enforced.

The union officials said Mr. Harding had shown great interest and promised to make a searching inquiry into the facts.

DAVID BLAIR NOMINATED FOR REVENUE COMMISSIONER

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—David H. Blair of Winston-Salem, N. C., was nominated today by President Harding to be Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The nomination probably would be sent to the Senate today, the Secretary said, adding that no consideration had been given as yet to appointment of a Prohibition Commissioner, that matter remaining as it was on March 4.

Charles F. Marvin was renominated today by President Harding to be Chief of the Weather Bureau, and Claudius H. Hutson of Tennessee was nominated to be Assistant Secretary of Commerce.

The charges were filed by Representative Welty, Democrat, of Ohio. Welty is no longer a member of the House.

MOON WILL BE IN FULL ECLIPSE AT 1:23 TONIGHT

St. Louisans Up at That Hour to View It if Clouds Do Not Interfere.

St. Louisans who stay up tonight until 1:23 a. m. will be able to see the moon in full eclipse, provided clouds do not interfere.

The beginning of the eclipse, caused by the entrance of the moon into the shadow of the earth, will be at three minutes past midnight. The eclipse will not be complete until 1:23. It will begin to emerge from the shadow at 2:05 and will be out at 3:25.

Before the moon enters the inner shadow and after it emerges it will be in the penumbra, an outer shadow not visible to the naked eye.

REFERENDUM ON MEDICAL LAW DEFINITELY DECIDED ON

St. Louis Medical Society to Back Vote on Measure Changing Examining and Licensing Methods.

The Committee on Health and Public Instruction of the St. Louis Medical Society met today and definitely decided to invoke the referendum on Senate Bill No. 433, recently signed by Gov. Hyde, which modified the law regulating the examination of applicants for license to practice medicine in the State of Missouri.

The committee, which is composed of Dr. A. H. Hamel, Dr. Nathaniel Allison, dean of the Medical School of Washington University, and Dr. Hanau W. Loeb, dean of the Medical School of St. Louis University, will meet again tomorrow night to make arrangements for a general meeting at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the auditorium of the St. Louis Medical Society, at 3525 Pine street.

Kansas City will send a delegation to the meeting Tuesday, and delegates from other county organizations of medical men in the State are expected to attend, according to the committee, members of which stated today that doctors all over the tSate have been aroused in behalf of a referendum.

ACTION ON PEACE MONDAY

Knox Expects Resolution to Be Reported That Day.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 21. — The Knox resolution to end the state of war was taken up today by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, but final action deferred until Monday. Senator Knox said he expected the resolution to be reported to the Senate at that time for debate. He predicted adoption in a few days.

Some minor changes were decided upon today by the committee. The most important one, Senator Knox said, was to write a new clause for that now in the resolution relating to termination of the state of war with the imperial Austrian Government.

In the original resolution the situation with Germany was dealt with at length, while that with Austria was covered in a brief paragraph.

$59,000 OVERDRAFTS WERE APPROVED

Bookkeeper Says Lowe Had Records of His $24,000 Overdraft Locked in Safe With Old Accounts.

The trial of Joseph G. Lowe Jr., 6114 Westminster place, secretary-treasurer of the defunct Meramec Trust Co., Virginia avenue and Meramec street, on a charge of receiving deposits when he knew the bank was insolvent, was resumed today in Judge Hartmann's court.

The specific charge against Lowe is that he accepted a deposit of $76 from Adam Mayer, 4104 Louisiana avenue, Oct. 3, 1919, the day the bank was closed by the State Bank Examiner. Another similar charge and a charge of embezzlement are pending against Lowe in connection with the failure of the bank. He has been at liberty on bonds of $2000 for each charge.

Claude A. Eaton of the United States bank, who was a State Bank Examiner in 1919 under State Banking Commissioner Enright, now deceased, continued his testimony at today's hearing and testified that a report which he prepared in October, 1919, showed a discrepancy of $61,699.17 between the bank's assets as shown on its ledger and the secured assets actually found by the examiner. The discrepancy, he said, represented loans made by the bank without real estate security. Eaton testified that he asked Lowe about the discrepancy, but Lowe could not explain it.

Notes in Lowe's Desk.

Eaton testified that on Saturday Oct. 18, 1919, after he had made his inspection report, he found notes in a compartment in Lowe's desk. These notes, he said, were not there when he made his first search for assets. The notes found in the desk, he said, aggregated $8925 and included three notes totaling $1395, signed with the name of the McNally-Knebel Lumber Co. and a note for $7500, signed with the name of Dr. J. A. W. Fernow. As was told in the Post-Dispatch Jan. 12, 1920, Dr. Fernow made affidavit that this note was a forgery.

The witness testified that on Oct. 16, 1919, he received from F. C. Freiburg, president of the bank, several notes which had come to the bank by messenger. These, he said, were notes aggregating $15,000 and signed with the name of Mildred Logeman.

The denominations of these notes were $2250, $1750, $4500 and two of $3250 each. Eaton testified there was nothing on the face of the notes to show they were the property of the trust company, but they were made payable to the trust company.

Eaton also testified as to notes which were taken from a safety deposit box in the bank and handed to the examiner by Lowe Oct. 13, 1919. These notes, he said, aggregated $25,500, the separate notes and the names signed to them being C. A. Logeman, $7500; J. H. Logeman, $7500; Rudolph Realty Co., $7500, and Johanna Logeman, $3000.

He also found notes of J. G. Lowe Jr., aggregating $8500 and representing money borrowed from the Trust company by Lowe, he said, the items being two $1000 notes dated Dec. 8, 1916, and Jan. 16, 1918, and a $6500 note dated Oct. 3, 1918.

Lowe in Overdrafts.

The former examiner testified that on Oct. 4, 1919, he found that the bank's books showed overdrafts by the Logeman Chair Co., amounting to $33,789.03 and overdrafts by "J. G. Lowe Jr., trustee," amounting to $24,882.44. Asked if he knew the nature of Lowe's trusteeship, Eaton testified that he asked Lowe about that and Lowe replied that it was "part of the Logeman Chair Co. liability."

Eaton testified that his examination showed that on Oct. 3, 1919, the trust company's liabilities amounted to $599,667.03.

Attorney Jeffries, in cross-examining Eaton, had him take the figures from his own report and make certain additions and subtractions which left an apparent result of $597,821.64 as the bank's assets, which was $51,865.74 greater than its liabilities.

Special Bank Examiner Benoist explained to a Post-Dispatch reporter that this result was arrived at by considering the $157,500 Logeman loans as protected by security in the form of property at Madison and Chambers streets, which was mortgaged and tied up in subleases. The contract by which this security

HARRISON ATTACKS GEORGE HARVEY IN SPEECH IN SENATE

SAYS EDITOR NEVER KEPT A FRIENDSHIP

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, charged today in the Senate that the appointment of George Harvey by President Harding as Ambassador to Great Britain was "a reward for his efforts" to discredit the Wilson administration. Senators Reed of Missouri and Lodge of Massachusetts defended the Ambassador.

The Mississippi Senator said Mr. Harvey's pursuit of Wilson through his journals and otherwise are only comparable to Milton's "hellhounds that were stationed at the gates of the infernal regions." He added that the Ambassador had "no equal as a creator of prejudice and a stirrer of strife," and that he was a "vindictive, self-anointed, intolerant political accident."

An Opponent of League.

Senator Harrison said he feared Harvey's arrival in London would cause Great Britain and other nations to believe that "he will use whatever influence he may possess and the power of his position in attempts to destroy the League of Nations."

Declaring that his attempt to obtain the consideration of Col. Harvey's nomination in open session of the Senate had been blocked, Senator Harrison said the nomination was "of such peculiar making and such potential import that the country has a right to know the underlying facts that prompted the nomination and the influence that brought about its confirmation."

The Mississippian then launched into a long address.

"Few men in the history of journalism," he said, "have possessed, to a more remarkable degree, qualities of genius for violent expression, caustic criticism and the power through fair or foul means to employ cogent phrases intended to appeal to prejudice and to arouse hatred and resentment. He is a remarkable man in that during his whole life he never remained true to any purpose, loyal to any friend, or steadfast to any conviction. He is wedded to no principle and bound by no conscience. He is a writer of the most cunning and dangerous species and a past master in fomenting trouble and aggravating delicate situations. He has been constant in only one thing, his life's ambition to get political preferment.

Has "Cussed" Many.

"There is not a renowned statesman of this generation who has not been praised and abused, glorified and maligned, elevated and debased, eulogized and cussed at one time or another by George Harvey—the violence or mildness of his expressions being controlled by the exigencies of the moment and his temperamental condition."

Referring to Mr. Harvey's attacks on Mr. Wilson, Senator Harrison said:

"Not satisfied with becoming expression and judicious arguments to oppose the views of this man and his policies as President of the United States, he went farther than the unfairest partisan would go, and placed his fight almost on most personal grounds. Not content in heaping personal abuse upon the President when in health, he pursued him with his scurrilous attacks to his sick bed and there misrepresented his ailment, trying to create in the public mind the impression that the President had lost his mind.

"But he was not satisfied. He then did that which no individual can condone. He tried to draw the fire of indignation and condemnation upon the wife of the sick President. Through the application of his pen he entered the sacred precincts of home to misrepresent a devoted wife.

"You may scan the columns of every newspaper, you may turn the covers of every periodical published in America and I doubt if you will find another that in all those heated controversies between man and parties dragged in the name of Mrs. Wilson. This crown of thorns and thistles that will prick the memory of this man, goes to him and him alone.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 21.—An earthquake shock was felt here at 7:37 o'clock this morning.

DREAMER'S PLOW FINDS POT OF GOLD ON MOUNTAIN FARM

$14,903 in Old Coins Discovered in Furrow Turned by $10-a-Month Worker.

By the Associated Press.

SALEM, Va., April 21.—Henry Dameron, 25, descendant of pioneer Virginia settlers, who works on his uncle's mountainside farm near here from sunup to sundown at $10 a month, often dreamed, he said, of finding treasure and buying a farm of his own. On April 9, while plowing near the foot of Brush's Mountain, his plow unearthed a small metal pot wrapped in buckskin containing gold and silver coins and currency to the amount of $14,903. About $13,000 was in gold, $600 in silver and the balance in currency so badly disintegrated that the denominations could scarce be distinguished. The latest date on any of the coins was 1823.

PATRONAGE MAP IN HYDE'S OFFICE LISTS JOB HOLDERS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 21.—Visitors to the office of Gov. Hyde today noted the appearance of a "patronage map," on which the appointees of Hyde and his subordinates are represented by pins with vari-colored heads.

This map, which is an ordinary map of the State, pasted on cardboard, leans against the wall on the top of the Governor's bookcase. The pins are white, red, yellow, blue and black, according to salary.

St. Louis has the largest cluster, with Kansas City second, St. Joseph third and Springfield fourth, while the job pins are scattered across North Missouri in rather more generous proportions than through the southern part of the State.

All of the Hyde appointees, Bank Commissioner Hughes and the rest, were instructed to provide a geographical list of their appointees, to enable the compliation of the map.

METEOR EXPLODES, SHOWERING RED-HOT METAL IN GEORGIA

By the Associated Press.

MACON, Ga., April 21.—A meteor passed over Middle and Southern Georgia about 9 o'clock yesterday morning, exploding and showering hot metal as heavy as iron.

The meteor was seen in Macon. It exploded over Cordele and also at Pitts, some distance east of Cordele, and also at Albany, southwest of here.

At Pitts, in Wilcox County, more than a dozen heavy explosions were heard, then, as if a machine gun had been pressed into action, there was a sharp crackling in the air for several minutes and red-hot metal, some pieces weighing six pounds each, began to fall. In the wake of the falling fragments was a trail of black smoke. The sky was cloudless. The majority of the pieces fell in open fields, and, so far as known, no one was injured.

PEGGY MARSH'S SON IS DENIED CLAIM AGAINST FIELD ESTATE

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 21.—Henry Anthony Marsh, reputed son of Henry Field of Chicago and a London chorus girl, Peggy Marsh, is not entitled to inheritance of the Marshall Field millions, the Supreme Court decided today in ruling that the Marshall Field will specifically exempts from inheritance any illegitimate offspring.

TESTIFIED HER PIGS STAGGERED

Woman Says 12 Died on Sprees After Visiting Neighbor.

By the Associated Press.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 21.—"My little pigs came staggering home every day from Guerin's farm. At first it was funny. Then, when 12 of them died from continued sprees, it wasn't funny. I spoke to Guerin, telling him he ought to keep his still fenced. He paid me $8 for the pigs."

This was what Mrs. J. A. Harris, a neighbor, told the jury in Circuit Court here yesterday in the trial of Oscar Guerin on a charge of violating the prohibition laws. After hearing Mrs. Harris' testimony, a verdict of guilty was returned.

LIGHTS FOR TRAFFIC POLICE

NEW YORK, April 21.—Night traffic policemen harnessed in small editions of the signal light towers now used to regulate travel in Fifth avenue soon are to be employed in outlying districts.

The newly-devised apparatus consists of storage batteries carried on the policeman's back, and a system of vari-colored lights suspended from the chest. The lights are operated by push buttons on the belt.

W. D. HAYWOOD, DUE AT PENITENTIARY, HAS LANDED IN RUSSIA

Attorney for Convicted I. W. W. Secretary Says His Client Is Abroad on Private Mission and Not Fleeing From His Sentence.

REPORTED EITHER IN RIGA OR MOSCOW

Missing Man Was One of 46 Whose Sentence Under Espionage and Draft Laws the U. S. Supreme Court Refused to Review.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 21.—American Civil Liberties Union today issued a formal statement asserting it had been informed "Big Bill" Haywood, I. W. W. leader for whom the Department of Justice is searching, was on his way to attend an international trade union conference in Moscow in June, but would return as soon as it was ended to begin serving his sentence in Leavenworth penitentiary.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 21.—Federal officials today received confidential information that William D. Haywood, Secretary of the Industrial Workers of the World, who is scheduled to begin a sentence at the Leavenworth (Kan.) Penitentiary this week, had fled from the United States and now is in either Moscow or Riga.

Charles F. Clyne, United States District Attorney, announced that a search had been started for Haywood.

"He is not at Leavenworth, Chicago nor New York, and we have been privately informed that he has landed either at Moscow or Riga," said Clyne. "That is all we know about it, but we expect to have definite information very quickly."

Not Confirming Report.

"I am not confirming this report that Haywood has fled," said Clyne. "I am simply saying that I had a confidential tip to that effect, that we cannot locate Haywood and that we have started a search for him. We are investigating the passport records at New York and Washington, also."

Forty-two of the 46 men affected by the decision have reported either in person or by mail to local headquarters, it was said.

The convicted men will go direct to Leavenworth and the first group was expected there either today or tomorrow. Twelve local I. W. W. plan to leave here in a body Sunday.

Headquarters refused to give out the names of three other men who have not reported, saying the men undoubtedly would be heard from within a day or two.

Haywood was one of 46 I. W. W. whose cases the United States Supreme Court refused to review and who are expected to report to the Leavenworth penitentiary this week. He was at liberty under $10,000 bond. He was sentenced for violation of the selective service and espionage acts during the war.

I. W. W. Leaders Questioned.

Clyne called a group of I. W. W. leaders to his office as soon as he received the report that Haywood had left the country and it was said that they confirmed this report.

Otto Christensen, attorney for Haywood, said he had been informed that Haywood sailed from New York on the Oscar II about April 1 and landed at Riga about April 16. He said he thought Haywood had gone to Russia on a personal mission and that he was not fleeing from the penitentiary sentence.

Originally, 97 officials and leaders of the I. W. W. were sentenced by Judge Landis in August, 1918. The Government had indicted 166. Haywood and 14 others, who were said to have been the real leaders of the movement, were given 20-year sentences and were sent to Leavenworth. They were released on bail pending appeal. Many, however, having received only light sentences, remained in the penitentiary until their time was up, so that only 46 now are scheduled to go to Leavenworth.

Four Others Not Heard From.

"Five of the 46 men scheduled to go to the penitentiary are unaccounted for, District Attorney Clyne said. He expressed the opinion that the other four may have accompanied Haywood to Russia. Haywood was at liberty on $30,000 bonds, sureties for which were William Bross Lloyd,

Item of $6000 for New Auto for Kiel in City Budget

THE municipal revenue budget, as prepared by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, includes an item of $6000 for the purchase of a new automobile for Mayor Kiel.

The Mayor at present is using a closed car purchased for $5800 in 1918. Allowance of $1800 was made on a car turned in. The city furnishes a chauffeur at $125 a month, buys gasoline and keeps the car in repair.

The Mayor said today that every time his car was heavily loaded, it went to the repair shop for a day or two, and that it was in such condition that he felt he needed a new one.

PERSHING TO BE CHIEF OF ARMY WAR STAFF

Organization Will Concern Itself With Strategy, Tactics and Direct Field Forces.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Organization of a war staff headed by Gen. Pershing to take charge of field operations of the armies of the United States in time of war, was announced today by Secretary Weeks.

"Instant preparation in time of peace for active military operations," was given by the secretary as the reason for the new organization.

The organization headed by Gen. Pershing will be entirely separate from the office of the chief of staff, Mr. Weeks said, which will continue to direct the activities of the military establishment in time of peace. Gen. Pershing will have a skeletonized staff which will correspond to that at Chaumont during the world war and which will concern itself entirely with problems of strategy, tactics and war organization.

"We are going to have a skeletonized general headquarters established in the War Department," said Secretary Weeks "Its purpose will be to keep us instantly prepared for active military operations.

"Details are difficult to arrange, owing to the wording of the laws, but the Chief of Staff will continue to direct the administration of the army in time of peace."

Before the World War, Secretary Weeks explained, Marshal Joffre had been similarly selected to command the armies of France, if war came, and organized a skeleton staff which was instantly available.

Secretary Weeks would not confirm or deny rumors that Major-General James G. Harbord, once Pershing's Chief of Staff in France, had been selected to relieve Major-General Peyton C. March as Chief of Staff of the army.

HOLDER OF VICTORIA CROSS ACQUITTED OF MURDER CHARGE

By the Associated Press.

OTTAWA, April 21.—Filip Konowal, holder of the Victoria Cross, Great Britain's highest war decoration, was acquitted of murder on the ground of insanity last night after the Court had ruled in effect that the attention paid by him to the killing of men during the war was partly responsible for his action.

Judge Cousineau declared the killings which the prisoner had witnessed in his four years of service had left their impression on him so that when the occasion had arisen "he reverted to type" and committed an atrocious crime, but was mentally deranged and should not be held guilty of murder.

Konowal will be committed to an insane asylum.

NEW IRISH REPUBLIC DECREE

No Citizen Allowed to Leave Without Permit.

By the Associated Press.

DUBLIN, April 21.—The Dail Eireann has decreed that "no citizen of the republic shall leave Ireland "unless they produce a printed permit signed by the Minister of Home Affairs and sealed with the seal of the republic."

Persons disobeying these regulations will "be deemed guilty of a grave offense against the welfare of the state in time of war and dealt with accordingly."

BILL FOR CITY RENT COMMISSIONS BEING DRAFTED

ACTION AT SPECIAL SESSION PLANNED

Representative Manning Says He Will Introduce Measure if Question Is Included in Governor's Call.

Henry Kortjohn, a lawyer, is drafting a bill providing for rent commissions in cities, which will be introduced at the special session of the Legislature by Representative John T. Manning of St. Louis if Gov. Hyde decides to have the rent question considered at the session, which is to be called next month to pass legislation for the disposition of the $60,000,000 in good roads bonds authorized by the voters last November.

Manning introduced a bill at the last session of the Legislature providing for a State Rent Commission, at the request of the Tenth Ward Improvement Association, but it died in the House Judiciary Committee because of constitutional objections. The Executive Committee of the Tenth Ward Association last night asked Kortjohn to revise the Manning bill to eliminate these objections.

City Commissions Proposed.

The Manning bill was modeled after the District of Columbia law, which was upheld Monday by the Supreme Court of the United States. It called for a State commission to handle all cases involving alleged unreasonable rent and provided for appeals from its decisions to the Court of Appeals. As there has been criticism of putting the expense for a commission on the State, the revised measure will provide for boards in cities which will handle the rent cases, and each city will bear the expense. It is proposed that the Complaint Board in St. Louis dispose of the cases here. The new bill also will provide that appeals from its decisions may be taken to the Circuit Courts.

Arthur J. Stoehr of 4256A Michigan avenue, president of the Tenth Ward Improvement Association, said a committee from the association would visit the Governor to urge him to co-operate in obtaining the passage of the bill.

Favorable Report Expected.

Walter E. Bailey of Carthage, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, told the Post-Dispatch yesterday that he believed his committee would report favorably a workable and constitutional rent bill if the need for such a measure were demonstrated at the special session.

Representative Julius Razovsky of St. Louis, whose rent bill, similar to the New York law upheld Monday by the United States Supreme Court, also was allowed to die at the regular session, has said he will reintroduce it at the special session and will ask Gov. Hyde to include rents in the matters to be considered at the session.

Aloe Names Committee That Will Be in Charge of Rent Inquiry.

President Aloe of the Board of Aldermen today appointed the Legislation Committee of that body which will have charge of the investigation of rent conditions in St. Louis, in accordance with a resolution passed by the board at the first meeting of the current session last Tuesday.

The committeemen named are: Luke E. Hart, Twenty-eighth Ward; Clinton E. Udell, Twenty-third Ward; Ralph Eilers, Twenty-sixth Ward; Gus A. Baur, Fourteenth Ward; William F. Niederluecke, Third Ward; Joseph R. Heckel, Thirteenth Ward, and Charles A. Groschel, Twenty-fourth Ward.

The new committee will meet at 4 p. m. tomorrow to discuss preliminaries and fix dates for public hearings at which tenants and landlords will have an opportunity to be heard. President Aloe and City Counselor Daues or one of his assistants will aid in the preliminary arrangements and will be present at the public hearings. The advisability of employing special counsel to represent the city at the hearings will be considered at tomorrow's meeting.

Sales Tax Proposed Is Called Insidious Levy On Small Family Incomes

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The sales tax proposal, which is now up for consideration in Congress, was denounced in a statement issued here by William H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists and vice president of the People's Reconstruction League. He declares that such a tax would be "daily robbery on a cruel scale of those who have not sufficient income to maintain an American standard of living."

"Even during the war," says Johnston, "Congress exempted all incomes up to $2000 for families, with additional deductions for every dependent. The proposed sales tax, however, is in fact an insidious and indirect income tax which would create a furor if Congress attempted to secure a similar amount by a direct income tax on family incomes of less than $5000. Big financial and business interests want a sales and turnover tax which would yield about $2,000,000,000. We may concede that the wealthy might pay one-tenth of this, which would leave $1,800,000,000, to be paid by the people of moderate incomes or very small ones, an average of $17 per capita or $85 for a family of five.

"For a family with an income of $2000 the average tax payment under the sales tax would be 4.5 per cent of the total family income; for a family with an income of $1500 it would be 5.7 per cent, and for a family with an income of $1000, assuming approximately the same purchase of necessities, it would be 8.6 per cent. Because of the pyramiding of such a tax, however, since the payer adds a profit, the real cost of a sales tax to an average family with an income of about $2000 would be about 8.6 per cent of the family income; for a family with an income of $1500, 11.4 per cent; for a family with an income of $1000, over 17 per cent. These figures are approximate. One of the bankers advocating the sales tax before the House Committee on Ways and Means remarked that poor folks who could not pay the tax had the alternative 'of merely refraining from consuming.'"

"It will be noticed that the effect of taxation under such a sales tax will be more than twice as heavy as the 4 per cent rate of the present income tax law on a family income of $2000, and with no deductions, and the cost of the sales tax to families with an income of $1000 will be four times the rate of taxation on a net family income up to $5000 under the present law.

"Congressmen who realize that only the American people's strong patriotism made them willing to pay a 6 per cent income tax on incomes in excess of $2000 for a family during the war, in addition to indirect taxes, not yet repealed, will realize that an effort to collect such an income tax indirectly through a sales tax at a rate two or three times as high as the war income tax rate will be most unpopular because the most unjust taxation measure ever proposed in this country. Congressmen don't need to hear from back home against this tax, but they will hear most vigorously."

SAYS FRATERNITIES REDUCE CAPACITY OF SCHOOL PUPILS

J. R. Powell, Soldan High Principal, Tells of Records Made by Both Members and Nonmembers.

CALLS INFLUENCE OF SOCIETIES SUBTLE

Woman Teacher Says Sororities Make Girls Clannish and Lead to Envy Among Pupils.

John Rush Powell, principal of Soldan High School, testifying yesterday in the Circuit Court in the suit of Waldemar R. Wright of 5478 Clemens avenue to enjoin the Board of Education from enforcing a rule against fraternity and sorority members, said that fraternities and sororities in the high schools have an unwholesome influence, that the members become self-sufficient and organize themselves into select groups to which nonmembers are not welcome.

When the high school classes give a dance, which is supposed to be a public affair, he said, the society members monopolize the dances, fraternity boys dancing only with sorority girls. He also said that the society members monopolize certain tables in the high school lunchrooms and that nonmembers are made to feel they are not welcome if by chance they sit down at one of these tables.

The plaintiff's son, Roy Thomas Wright, is at Soldan High, and a member of Delta Sigma Fraternity.

Powell testified there are about 12 different Greek letter societies in the high schools here. He said that he investigated the effect such organizations have upon the members in respect to their class work and found that one out of every 10 boys who were members of fraternities obtained honor grades, whereas the prevailing average for nonmembers of fraternities was one out of four.

"Frat" Members' Poor Grades.

This investigation was for the six months' period ending in June, 1920. In the same period, the principal said, the fraternity boys, forming 12 per cent of the student body, contributed 20 per cent of the failures in studies, whereas only 17 per cent of the entire student body had failed. The record of the sorority girls was better in this respect than the fraternity boys, Powell said.

Similar testimony was given by R. F. Holden, assistant principal of Soldan, who said that records of disciplinary action taken against pupils in the autumn of 1920 showed that 46 per cent of all fraternity boys were involved as against only 11 per cent of nonfraternity members who were "on the carpet." It was the general opinion of teachers, the witness stated, that secret society organizations in High Schools have a subtle influence. He said that the late G. B. Morrison, principal of McKinley High, who opposed such organizations, once remarked he could "tell a fraternity member by his swagger."

Sororities Cause Envy.

Miss Edith C. Bristol, dean of girls at Soldan, testified that she observed a hostile attitude between sorority and nonsorority girls. Sorority girls are envied by girls who are not members, causing the latter to feel that they are left out of social functions, Miss Bristol said. This is particularly noticeable at dances, she said. She also said the nonmembers place a fictitious value on a membership in some sorority which they have not been able to attain. Miss Bristol said that in some instances she noticed "bootlicking" in order to attain membership, but admitted on cross-examination that very few of the so-called "bootlickers" attained their object.

Testimony in behalf of the societies was that they do not possess a bad influence. Denial was made that they make for snobbery or exclusiveness. Character is the only thing considered when voting upon a prospective member, it was stated. The organizations hold their meetings at the homes of parents of members. Testimony was given that the members, especially of sororities, do considerable charitable work.

The School Board's rule, made recently, excludes members of fraternities and sororities from participating in student functions, and from sitting on the platform at graduation, although diplomas will be given.

The taking of testimony is to be resumed this afternoon.

SALOON KEEPER TELLS HOW GEORGE E. GEISLER WAS KILLED

Says Policeman Was Shot While in Room With Robert and Thomas Creed.

Testimony began today in Judge Hall's court in the trial of Robert and Thomas Creed, brothers, on a charge of murdering Policeman George E. Geisler in a side room of the saloon of William English, 2100 Clark avenue, on Oct. 31, last.

English, who no longer owns the saloon, was the first witness. He testified that about 5 p. m. on the day of the shooting, the Creed brothers, accompanied by Edna Brooks, came into the saloon and stood at the bar drinking. Geisler entered, he testified, at 5:20 p. m., and, passing the group at the bar, said: "Good evening, gentlemen." No answer was given by the Creed brothers, he said. Geisler came back toward the group, English testified, and a conversation between him and Robert Creed was begun in low tones. He heard Creed refer to Geisler's brother as "a thief" and Geisler's reply: "You oughtn't to say that, Bob." Shortly afterward, English testified, he heard Creed call Geisler vile names.

The Creed brothers and Geisler then proceeded into a side room, he declared, with Geisler in the lead. Shortly afterward he heard a shot and ran from the saloon. Geisler soon came out and fell in the street car tracks. English returned to the saloon and saw nothing of the Creeds or of the woman who accompanied them, he said.

Dr. B. W. Klippel said three bullet wounds in Geisler's body all showed powder burns.

Survey to Begin in Lower California.

By the Associated Press.

CALEXICO, Cal., April 21.—Manuel Belarezo, formerly Governor of the Northern District of Lower California, with a force of civil engineers, topographers and hydrographers, will arrive at Mexicali, across the international line from Calexico, in a few days, from Mexico City, prepared to begin extensive work looking to the surveying and classifying of lands in the district, it was announced here yesterday.

JAZZ MUSIC FAILS OF SOOTHING EFFECT ON ANIMALS AT ZOO

Experiment at Central Park, New York, With Jazz Band, for Scientists.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Music may soothe a beast—but not jazz music. That was demonstrated in the case of lions, bears, leopards and wolves at Central Park Zoo yesterday, when scientists from Columbia University, the American Museum of Natural History and the New York Zoological Park in the Bronx witnessed, by invitation, the effect of jazz music well played by the Dixieland Jass Band.

Only interested officials, the scientists, newspaper men and women were admitted. But the lions fell into excitement as soon as a violin and saxophone duet, "Avalon," was played.

Ackbar, the big male lion, came to his feet with a leap, glaring around. Helen and Edmes, lionesses, and Baby Hippomenes faced the cage of Ackbar, every hair bristling, and awaited his opinion. It came with a roar that interrupted the music. Then jazz was played and the lions thrashed about their cages, enraged, but quieted somewhat when, at Commissioner Gallatin's suggestion, "Lead, Kindly Light" was played softly in front of the cage of the black leopard.

The black leopard has never been tamed, and the last time a man entered his cage the beast seized him by the throat. He had lain like a black coal in a dark corner, with two burning points where his eyes were and a red, hissing mouth, when jazz was played. But at "Lead, Kindly Light" he flew at bars, tearing toward freedom and the musicians, a picture of rage. Dr. W. Reid Blair of the Bronx Zoo said the passing of the leopard's keeper probably was the cause of his rage.

Jim, the polar bear, retreated into his cave trembling when the full band played jazz, but came out and shimmied when a clarinet and trombone played soothingly.

Hattie and Jewel, elephants, old circus performers, were not impressed—but bedlam broke loose in the monkey house when jazz was played. Ring-tailed and sloth monkeys shook their cage doors and screamed; big, blue-nosed apes did jungle war dances, and Joe, the chimpanzee, wept bitterly—but quiet fell when "The Suwanee River" was played.

Dr. Blair said the experiment was tried inauspiciously, the crowd exciting the animals.

Defendants Win in $750,000 Suit.

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., April 21.—Federal Judge Woodrough directed a verdict for the defendants yesterday in a $750,000 suit brought by Charles Binderup, formerly of Kearney, Neb., under the Sheriman Anti-trust law, against the Omaha Film Board of Trade and a number of film companies. Binderup charged the defendants "blacklisted" him, refusing to sell him pictures for his theaters.

was given, he added, was not made until after the bank closed.

William C. McNamee, a director, testified that at the meeting of the board Oct. 4, 1919, Eaton stated that $72,000 notes were missing. Lowe, the witness stated, said if they were not in the bank he did not know where they were.

Fred J. Hoffmeister, a director, said he knew the bank had a lot of notes, but did not know that so many were Logeman notes. He said the Logeman overdraft was discussed at the meeting and Lowe was asked if the directors knew anything about the overdraft and said they knew nothing.

Says Lowe Overdrew $24,000.

Mrs. Norma Carver, formerly Miss Norma Kloth, testified that she was bookkeeper and stenographer in charge of the current and savings ledgers, which were the loose-leaf kind. She knew that the Logemans had overdrawn $23,000 on Oct. 2 and that Lowe, as trustee, had overdrawn about $24,000. On that date, she said, she took the sheets containing the two accounts from the ledger, on Lowe's instructions, and placed them in the safe with the old accounts, leaving no evidence of their removal.

The Logeman ovedrafts, she said, dated back to August or September, 1917. There were times once or twice after that when there were no overdrafts. When the bank examiners came there was nothing in the ledgers to show the overdrafts. She found one of the sheets, Oct. 4, and Honeycamp, one of the tellers, found the other, among the old sheets.

Mrs. Carver indentified a deposit slip dated Oct. 1, 1919, as one which Lowe gave her. It was in his writing and was entered to his account. She did not know whether he made the deposit. The credit wiped out his overdraft.

An entry in the passbook of E. L. Schurman, showing a deposit of $76 as having been made Oct. 1, was identified as the writing of Lowe. He often went into the cage and received deposits, she said.

"This information about Haywood came to me yesterday and I immediately communicated it to Mr. Clyne," said Mr. Christensen.

"It was the first intimation I have that Haywood was not in the country and I do not believe that even his closest friends knew he planned to go to Russia. I am sure he went on a personal mission—provided he did go—and that this reported trip has nothing to do with the I. W. W. in this country.

"Haywood is not fleeing from his penitentiary sentence, for he has too much sense to do that. His position in the labor world over here is such that for him to flee would simply result in hari kari and do him and his cause more harm than good. He knows that.

Trying to Reach Haywood.

"I am making every effort to reach him, and as soon as I can get word to him that he is wanted here I am sure he will return. I don't know what attitude the Government will take about his bond, but I am sure 'Big Bill' will come back and serve his sentence."

Clyne said no action would be taken immediately in regard to Haywood's bond.

"Of course, if he doesn't show up pretty soon, it will be forfeited," he said, "but we can't act on that now."

HYDE URGED TO SANCTION MISSOURI STATE SONG MUSIC

The approaching centennial anniversary of Missouri's admission to the Union (Aug. 10, 1821), has served to call attention to the fact that for nearly a decade Missouri has possessed a State song without music.

During Gov. Hadley's administration, a prize of $500 was offered for the best poem for use as the text of an official State song. The prize was won by Mrs. Lizzie Chambers Hull of St. Louis.

At the time of the dedication of the Jefferson Memorial, the St. Louis Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution instituted a State-wide contest to obtain an appropriate musical setting for Mrs. Hull's poem. Out of several hundreds of settings submitted, a committee headed by Mrs. Theodore Shelton chose one composed by Mrs. Julie Stevens Bacon of St. Louis. This choice has never been ratified officially.

The State Society of the D. A. R. is now attempting to obtain official sanction for Mrs. Bacon's song from Gov. Hyde, and members all over Missouri have been asked to write to the Governor urging action in the matter.

In the meantime, Mrs. Bacon has rewritten the accompaniment, without altering the melody, and the new version is to be published soon. It was sung, played and explained at a recent luncheon of the Federated Clubs of the Eighth District.

JUDGE ORDERS VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY IN "TONY" FOLEY'S CASE

cutter of Maplewood, could not remember, in response to questions, that he had been there in 1918, 1919 or 1920, but said he was there seven years ago, but could not remember that he saw Foley there.

Robert B. Lewis, a coal and ice dealer of Richmond Heights, testified he delivered coal and ice to the place from 1911 to 1920, and said that his bills were paid sometimes by George Campbell, whose wife held the lease on the property, and sometimes by Foley. He said Campbell paid by check and Foley in cash. He said he never saw gambling there.

H. H. Laumeier of Sappington, a real estate dealer, testified he leased the property to Mrs. Campbell for 15 years, and saw Foley there, most of the time in company of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell. He said Mrs. Campbell always paid the rent.

Charles W. Delarge of the Real Estate Department of the Broadway Savings & Trust Co. testified that Folee and Joseph F. Judge came to his office in July, 1919, relative to the sale of the property, afterwards purchased by Judge.

Misdemeanor Charge Pending.

Prosecuting Attorney Mueller, when questioned by a Post-Dispatch reporter after the failure of the felony acse against Foley, said that it was a misdemeanor for an owner or lessee of a place to permit gambling on the premises. He added, however, that he believed it would be difficult to convict Foley on this charge, inasmuch as the State, in the trial of the felony case, had been unable to show Foley's interest as an owner or lessee of Campbell's Forest Home.

Witnesses today testified that the property was leased to Mrs. George Campbell, and in turn sold to Joseph F. Judge. Mueller was asked if he expected to proceed against Mrs. Campbell or Judge, and he remarked that George Campbell, husband of the lessee, was dead, and he would first await the outcome of the proceeding against Foley tomorrow before determining further action.

The place was destroyed by fire Dec. 3, 1919, but business was conducted in adjoining buildings within 48 hours of the destruction of the main building. May 5, last, it was announced by purchasers of the property that St. Mary's Infirmary proposed to build a large hospital on the grounds.

WHO ARE YOUR HEIRS?

Not long ago an eminent minister died, without a will; he had no children and his wife predeceased him; he had spent a long and useful life in church work and for the good of his community; his estate of Sixty Thousand Dollars went to two worthless relatives in the far West—relatives so distant that he had not known of their existence; they received the estate in cash, and the police promptly arrested them for drunkenness and placed them in jail for protection.

Wills are sometimes broken, but not often; the Courts are deciding more and more for the testator's desires and against technicalities; a frequent cause of weakness in Wills is that they are made too late in life; when one is in his prime his judgment is clear and his business sense sharpened by constant use; war and epidemics have taught us with terrible certainty in how many instances death comes before old age.

In the City of St. Louis, in every decade, enough money passes from those who die without Wills to distant and unknown relatives, to adequately endow every college and hospital within its limits.

The obligation and duty to make a Will is inescapable; perform this duty, and name this strong National Bank as your Executor.

LARGE PART PLAYED BY OIL IN RATIFICATION OF COLOMBIA TREATY

Removal of Colombians' Suspicions of Unfairness on Part of United States Necessary to Obtain Favorable Treatment for Our Nationals.

PARTIES JOIN TO PUT APPROVAL ON TREATY

Belief That Southern Republic Had Been Wronged Gave Sufficient Vote — Roosevelt Worshipers Overriden.

By DAVID LAWRENCE,
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1921.)

WASHINGTON, April 21.—What finally put the Colombian treaty through the Senate after 17 years of wrangling? Why did the Republican party split over the question, and why was it possible for a coalition of Republicans and practically the entire Democratic minority to ratify the pact?

Well might the outsider ask these questions and search the speeches in Congress for an answer. But the momentum behind ratification was not due to speech making or argument. It was due to a variety of causes, all of which combined to produce the result. Some of them have an intensely interesting relationship to the world's oil supply, some of them have to do with pan-American fellowship and some have to do with altruism, but it is safe to say that never was a treaty passed which had behind it as peculiar an array of influences as that which pushed the measure through the Senate by a vote of 69 to 19, only five more than the necessary two-thirds.

Question of Oil Supply.

First, with respect to the oil question. All week the air has been full of significant rumors emanating from official sources that the oil supply of Mexico would run dry in three or four years and that America's wells could not hope to keep pace with world demand for many years more, possibly 18, and that the next best oil field open to American development is in Colombia. When it is considered that the British and French have been engaged in a controversy over the Mesopotamian oil field and that the whole world has only lately recognized the vital importance of oil as fuel, the scramble for possession of a foothold in Colombia is only natural.

Of course, there have been cynical insinuations that the Colombian oil question had a lot to do with the determination of the Harding administration to ride roughshod over the worshipers of Theodore Roosevelt, and that oil interests alone would benefit from the ratification. There is, however, another side to that suggestion. It was a fact that, irrespective of the talk of preferential treatment to American interests, if they secured the ratification of the Colombian treaty, discrimination against American nationals was beginning to manifest itself. What America wanted was an even break at least with the nationals of other countries. There was no way of compelling Colombia to give American citizens a square deal except by righting the wrongs which Colombia felt had been done her by the separation of the Canal Zone from the territory of Colombia.

Even Break for Americans.

In so far as the treaty soothes the wounded feelings of Colombia, it places American capital on an equal footing with that of European and Asiatic countries. It was a case of reciprocity. Colombia said in effect: "Deal fairly with us and we will deal fairly with you."

There is good reason to believe, however, that the ratification of the treaty will do more than give Americans an even break. It will probably result in preferential treatment. Assurances have in the past been given that Colombia would spend a large part of the $25,000,000 in the United States, letting contracts for the building of domestic improvements in Colombia, public works, railroads and utilities.

Second Factor in Ratification.

The second great factor in the ratification controversy was the question of whether or not America committed a wrong when Panama seceded from Colombia. Mr. Roosevelt admitted in a public speech that he "took Panama," but insisted that Colombia was endeavoring to extort a huge sum from the canal rights and that, as soon as Panama rebelled against Colombia, he felt justified in recognizing the Panaman republic because otherwise the canal would not have been built.

The Democrats in the Senate took the position that a great moral wrong was done and should be rectified. President Wilson and Secretary Bryan were even willing to include an expression of regret in the treaty, but the Republicans wouldn't permit it, and the Wilson administration considered that the payment of $25,000,000 was in itself an apology or reparation.

The Roosevelt Republicans argued along the same lines, namely, that the $25,000,000 was an apology, and that America had committed no wrong.

Out of the Republican membership of 54, 14 deserted the party standard and voted against ratification. The 40 Republican votes remaining would have been useless except that out of the Democratic membership of 34, all but five lined up solidly with the Republicans. Thus a coalition of 40 Republicans and 29 Democrats ratified the first treaty that has gone through the Senate in many years.

Treaty Ratified With 11 More Than Necessary Two-Thirds Vote.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Expressions of gratification were general today in administration circles over what was regarded as a significant test of Senate support for administration foreign policies in that body's ratification of the long-pending Colombian treaty. At the close of a final session of heated debate, the treaty, which grew out of the partitioning of Panama and provides for payment by the United States of $25,000,000 to the South American republic, was ratified with a margin of 11 votes over the necessary two-thirds majority, 15 Republicans and four Democrats opposing ratification. The vote was 69 to 19.

In rejecting all amendments to the pact, the Senate turned down proposals of Senator Poindexter, Republican, Washington, and Wadsworth, Republican, New York, to restrict the rights of Colombia under the treaty as to use of the Panama Canal, and another amendment offered by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, to insert a clause declaring the treaty was not to be construed as implying the United States had aided in the Panaman revolt. Other amendments defeated included that of Senator Ransdell, Democrat, Louisiana, proposing an alliance with Colombia and the cession by that country to the United States of several islands.

Immigration Before House.

With the Senate in a lull today after clearing its program of the first major business of the extra session, the House was prepared to resume debate on the immigration restriction bill with probability of reaching final vote before adjournment. Although a safe majority was predicted for the measure, proponents believed it would not be as large as that given in the last Congress.

Bond Issue for Street Improvement Proposed

Citizens to Be Asked to Approve $10,000,000 Issue, Which Would Also Cover Sewer and Lights Work.

A unanimous agreement to ask citizens to authorize the issuance of $10,000,000 in bonds for street and sewer improvements and continuation of the plan for installation of electric lights on streets now illuminated by gas, was reached by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment yesterday afternoon.

The proposal was made by Mayor Kiel and acceded to by Comptroller Nolte and President Aloe of the Board of Aldermen during a discussion resulting from an inquiry by Aloe as to how it was figured the Street Department was to save $138,000, which was subtracted from the department's estimate of its need for the present fiscal year in compiling the budget.

"Is it to be saved in salaries, work on streets or what?" Aloe asked.

Assistant Comptroller Gunn replied: "Mostly from salaries."

Wants Streets Maintained.

"I don't care who is fired," Aloe said, "but I want the streets maintained in good condition. I am not in favor of a cut if the work can't be kept up."

"The money will be put in the holes in the streets," the Mayor interjected.

Comptroller Nolte said that recently he had observed on King's highway a foreman at $140 a month supervising two men who were patching a hole.

"The $140 should have gone into the hole," the Mayor said.

Mayor's View of Matter.

The Mayor then said that the matter of street improvement should be taken care of with a bond issue of about $5,000,000. "That's the way to handle the question of more good streets," he said.

"Make it $10,000,000," Aloe said, and offered a motion for such a proposal to citizens.

The Mayor said, in that event, that the issue should be made to provide for additional electric lights on the streets. He said that he had been informed by the Director of Public Utilities that electric lights in parks and isolated streets was saving the city $800 a day in its illumination bill. Further discussion resulted in the inclusion of sewer work.

Comptroller Gives Assent.

Nolte signified his approval of the proposal and in response to a question as to the present bonded debt, stated that it was $20,000,000 with $7,000,000 applicable to its retirement in the sinking fund, making the net bonded debt $13,000,000.

"It ought to be $50,000,000," the Mayor said.

"Yes, $100,000,000," Aloe added.

VERTCHAMP AND HIS VIOLIN PLEASE K. OF C. AUDIENCE

Choral Club Well Received in Spring Concert at the Odeon.

The spring concert of the Knights of Columbus Choral Club, at the Odeon last night, demonstrated that an instrumentalist can furnish the most acceptable solo work in the interludes of a choral program. Albert Vertchamp, violinist, was the soloist. The Paganini concerto was the first of his numbers, and was rendered with sprightliness and sureness of touch. Among his seven other selections were Valdez's Gipsy Serenade, the Kreisler Recitative and Scherzo, and the deeply devotional "Ave Maria" of Schubert. Esmeralda Berry Mayes was accompanist.

The choral club, as in past concerts, was under the direction of William T. Diebolt. The program began with Dudley Buck's familiar "On the Sea," which was sung with fine effect. The longest of the numbers was J. H. Brewer's "The Birth of Love," in which a solo passage was sung by George Muskens, tenor. Schumann's "Traumerei" proved to be beyond the tenor equipment of the chorus, as it would with most male choruses, but "Come Back to Erin," which followed, was rendered with an ampleness of interpretation which brought an encore.

NEGROES TO HOLD CONCLAVE

Twenty-five Nations to Be Represented in Brussels.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Negro citizens from 25 nations have been invited to attend the second Pan-African Congress next fall, it was announced yesterday by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, here. The congress will hold three successive conferences in Brussels, London and Paris to establish contact between leaders of the negro race from all parts of the world.

FUR DEALER WITH $100,000 OF OPIUM, HELD IN NEW YORK

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 21.—M. H. Gordon, who said he was a fur and feather dealer of St. Louis, was arrested here yesterday, charged with having narcotics in his possession, after the police had seized a trunkful of gum opium, valued at $100,000, at the Grand Central Station. Police said Gordon is also known as M. H. Miller.

WASHING WON'T RID HEAD OF DANDRUFF

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

"JACK" CUDAHY, PACKER'S SON, ENDS LIFE WITH SHOTGUN

Wife Says He Had Just Been Refused $10.000 Loan by Chicago Bank, Which Demanded Indorsement.

PHYSICIAN TELLS OF NERVOUS AILMENT

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 21.—John P. (Jack) Cudahy, son of the late Michael Cudahy, meat packer of Kansas City, found dead yesterday in his bedroom with his head shattered by a shotgun wound, committed suicide after failing to negotiate a $10,000 loan with a Chicago bank, Detective Sergeant McMahan said last night.

McMahan said Mrs. Cudahy, the widow, told him her husband received a letter Tuesday from an officer of the bank informing him the loan could not be carried unless "vouched for" by another member of the Cudahy family. Yesterday, according to McMahan, Cudahy received a telegram from the relative in question declining to vouch for the loan.

Mrs. Cudahy also said, according to McMahan, that her husband had been despondent for some time. She was the first to reach the room in which the tragedy occurred, after the shot was heard.

Body Found by Wife.

The body was found in a bedroom to which Cudahy had retired shortly after lunch. The position in which the body was found indicated, investigators said, that Cudahy lay on the bed, placed the muzzle of the gun in his mouth and pulled the trigger with his right foot, from which the shoe had been removed.

Mrs. Cudahy and her four children were in another part of the house at the time.

The body was moved to a Hollywood undertaking establishment, where it was said funeral arrangements probably would be announced today.

Dr. L. J. Huff, Los Angeles physician, said last night he had been attending Cudahy for about a month for nervous disorders, accompanied by insomnia. Prior to that time, the doctor said, Cudahy was in a sanitarium near Pasadena for several weeks.

Doctor Tells of Nervousness.

Ten days ago, the doctor said, he was called to a Los Angeles hotel where he found Cudahy in a highly nervous condition and had taken, accidentally, the doctor said, an overdose of poison. Cudahy went from the hotel to his home, the doctor said.

Reports of domestic troubles were denied by persons closely connected with the Cudahy family. It was said Cudahy's absence from home was due entirely to his physical condition.

Cudahy and Wife Remarried After Divorce in Kansas City in 1910.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 21.—The marital difficulties of "Jack" Cudahy, who killed himself in Los Angeles yesterday, and his wife, who was Miss Edna Cowin, daughter of Gen. J. C. Cowin of Omaha, Neb., and widely known in social circles, occupied considerable interest during the 14 years the family lived in Kansas City. The Cudahys left here in 1914 to make their home in California.

Cudahy was general manager of his father's packing plant here during the family's Kansas City residence. He and his wife were married in Omaha, Dec. 28, 1899. On March 6, 1910, Cudahy accused Jere Lillis, a local banker, of "wrecking his home."

Cudahy discovered Lillis in his home and his attack upon the alleged home-wrecker was one of the most sensational affairs of the period. Lillis was found lying on the floor of the house later, bound with ropes and severely slashed with a knife. He recovered.

Several days later relatives announced a separation had taken place between the Cudahys. On Aug. 23, 1910, Mrs. Cudahy was granted a divorce, after she had appeared upon the witness stand and told of alleged indignities suffered at the hands of her husband.

Mrs. Jack Cudahy left Kansas City several days later, accompanied by the children. In Chicago she announced that the children had disappeared. Several months afterward they were found in a Los Angeles convent.

They were remarried at Excelsior Springs, Mo., June 20, 1912. A court decree shortly afterward set aside the original divorce order and restored the custody of the children to the parents.

On the death of Michael Cudahy in November, 1910, announcement was made that there was no provision in the will for Jack Cudahy. Later it was stated that he was to receive $1,200,000 from the estate.

SHERIFF FORGETS TO HANG NEGRO; PENALTY COMMUTED

Official, Busy With Other Duties, Had Overlooked Time Set for Execution.

By the Associated Press.

SHREVEPORT, La., April 21.—Lonnie Eaton, an Ouchita Parish negro convicted of murder in the first degree, will serve a life imprisonment sentence instead of hanging as the first verdict in his case provided, according to advices from the Board of Pardons meeting in Baton Rouge. Eaton was to have been hanged last month, but the Ouchita Parish Sheriff forgot the date of the execution and the Board of Pardons, contending that Eaton's life had been placed in jeopardy once, decided to commute the sentence to life imprisonment.

Eaton was convicted of murder several months ago, and was brought from Ouachita Parish to the Caddo Parish jail for safekeeping. Gov. Parker set the date for the hanging, but the Sheriff forgot all about it until the legal date had passed. As he afterward wrote to Gov. Parker, he was so busy with other affairs in his office that he forgot the day that he was to hang Eaton.

CHARGES AGAINST CEMENT MEN IN RECENT INDICTMENT

A copy has been received of the recent indictment in the Federal Court for the Southern District of New York on charges of violating the Sherman anti-trust law of 74 cement manufacturers in 31 states, including six Missouri companies, two of which are St. Louis concerns.

The St. Louis companies named in the indictment are the Continental Portland Cement Co. and the Missouri Portland Cement Co., whose president, H. L. Block, also is named.

The indictment charges conspiracy to maintain selling prices of cement throughout the United States, to divide the country into territorial subdivisions and eliminate competition within each, to withhold cement from the market and thus restrict the freedom of sales and to curtail and restrict production.

It is alleged that a uniform selling price has been maintained by the adoption of uniform prices for all points of delivery within certain of the territorial subdivisions and a practice of adopting arbitrary freight basing points to insure the establishment and maintenance of uniform quotations to purchasers at any given point in the country, irrespective of the location of the mills manufacturing the cement and irrespective of the actual difference in freight from various mills to the point of delivery.

Further allegations of price fixing are that the manufacturers have adopted the uniform practice of refusing to quote prices on cement except f. o. b. the point of delivery for consumption and commonly refuse to sell contractors and consumers except at a higher price than charged to dealers.

Another charge of price maintenance is uniformity of allowance for empty bags returned and uniformity of rates of discount for cash payment.

Concerning the charge of subdivision of the country into sales zones, the indictment alleges that mills within each zone have been forbidden to sell out of their zone and that freight basing points are fixed within each zone from which freight rates are uniformly added, regardless of the actual freight charged or paid, resulting not only in a uniform price within the zone but in excluding manufacturers without the zone from the market therein. The indictment further alleges that the manufacturers sought to assist this plan by advocating a readjustment of certain freight rates before the Interstate Commerce Commission. It again is alleged that the manufacturers conspired to procure the adoption in large cities a zone system making uniform drayage charges of all manufacturers selling within such cities.

The indictment declares that cement was withheld from the market by restriction of deliveries to within 15 days after the receipt of an order and limitation of amounts or orders to the actual quantity needed for the project for which it was ordered. Further restriction in this regard was the alleged practice of refusing to sell to dealers who were not "recognized," dealers so qualifying to be made known by publication of a list of their names.

Curtailment of production was brought about, the indictment alleges, by closing down mills and advice to competitors of such action to procure similar restriction of production by them, and by preventing the organization of new cement concerns. The manner of preventing new concerns entering the field is declared to have been circulation of false rumors and establishing cut-throat competition for new mills, thus driving them out, and by buying up and dismantling certain mills.

$12,000 FOUND HIDDEN IN CABIN WHERE RECLUSE DIED

Money Is Secreted Behind Picture Frames, in Crevices and Pigeonholes.

By the Associated Press.

RED CLIFF, Colo., April 21.—Nearly $12,000 in cash hidden in a cabin owned by Charles Miller, aged recluse, who died recently, was discovered yesterday by Eagle County officials. The money was secreted behind picture frames, utensils, crevices and pigeonholes.

The money consisted of $2500 in war saving stamps, $100 in Liberty bonds, $3000 in postal savings and the balance in currency.

WOMAN TELLS OF LOSING HAIR AFTER USING DYE

Testifies in Suit Against Chemical Company for $10,000 Damage to Scalp.

Mrs. Kate Toomey of 1604 Carroll street told a jury in the Circuit Court today how her hair fell out after she used two bottles of black hair dye manufactured by the Pfieffer Chemical Co., which she purchased from O. F. Heitmeyer, a druggist at 1800 South Broadway. She testified that it poisoned her scalp and caused her to become bald for a time. The hair has since grown again. She asks for $10,000 damages.

The defense is that the dye did not destroy the roots, as Mrs. Toomey alleges, or her hair would not have grown again.

DIRECTORS HELD FOR LORIMER BANK LOSS

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 21.—The Supreme Court today took steps for the recovery of a million and a quarter dollars, the capital and surplus of the defunct La Salle Trust and Savings Bank in a decision ordering the former board of directors, including "nonactive," to stand responsible directors.

Charles B. Munday, who is now serving a term in the penitentiary for his part in the bank's failure, heads the active directors. The others are William Lorimer, Thomas McDonald, Charles E. Ward and Charles G. Fox. "Nonactive" directors were named as James E. Bennett, George O. Gunderson, Thomas J. Magner, Joseph Hock, William A. Gardner, Elbridge and Patrick M. Hanney and Harry W. Pattig.

The suit decided today was an appeal by the Chicago Title and Trust Co. The decision reverses the lower court and remands the case.

Directors of the La Salle Street Bank were alos held liable for $700,000 of other charges. The Supreme Court's opinion in the case was, in part, as follows:

"The charges contained in the amended bill were that these defendants (nonactive directors) gave no supervision and made no inquiry whatever, notwithstanding they were directors of the bank and had knowledge of the incompetence and dishonesty of Lorimer and Mundy and their fraudulent misuse of the funds of the bank. To say that such a charge in a bill is not sufficient to hold directors liable, if so proven, would be to render indeed hazardous the deposit of money in banks.

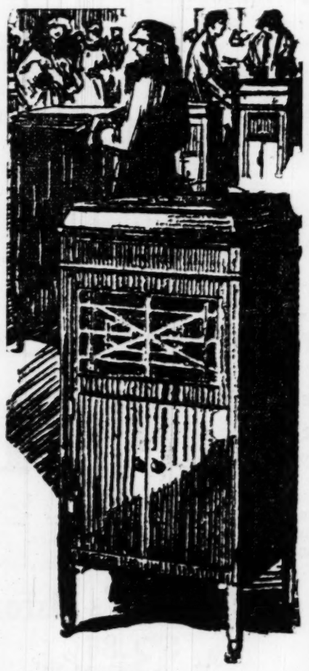

"Were we to hold that directors of a bank are required only to exercise slight care or that when elected as directors they may become what is characterized by the Appellate Court as 'inactive' members of the board, who may give no attention whatever to the business of the bank, but may be mere figureheads,' few persons would be willing to deposit roney with or take stock in such corporations."

LABOR BOARD DECLARES A WAGE CUT ILLEGAL

Says Southern Road Receivers Violated Transportation Act in Complying With Federal Court's Order.

CHICAGO, April 21.—The Railroad Labor Board in a decision today ruled that the receivers of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad in reducing wages of its employes in compliance with a decision by Federal Judge S. H. Sibley, had acted in violation of the spirit and letter of the transportation act.

The board declared that it was powerless to take action in the case at present and suggested that the employes, most of whom now are on strike, again hold conferences with the owners and, if an agreement is not reached, bring the case back to the Labor Board.

"The duty to obey a decision of this board is not any less an obligation on the receivers of a road than on the owners of a road," the decision said.

The Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic case brought the first clash between the Labor Board and a Federal Court, and was the first tangle which the board was called upon to unravel.

Setting a whirlwind pace, more than 30 railroads laid their pleas for wage reductions before the board yesterday in the final day's presentation of the carriers' evidence. The board then adjourned for one week, until April 28, to allow the employes time in which to file their answer.

"How Do We Know," Some Buyers Ask, "That Union Electric's 7% Preferred Stock Dividend Rate Won't Be Cut to 5 or 6 Per Cent?"

The only way the Company can cut the yearly cost of that part of its capital represented by preferred stock is to buy this stock back from shareholders, retire it, and sell a new security paying a lower interest or dividend rate.

If the Company does this it must pay its preferred shareholders $105 for each $100 share of their stock. This is a part of the contract between Company and shareholders that appears on every preferred stock certificate.

Buyers of this stock can bank on getting $7 a year of cash dividends from each share, payable $1.75 every three months. They can bank on getting $105 a share for it if the price of money falls enough to make it worth while to buy the stock back and retire it. Meanwhile, if they need to sell it our Securities Department will sell it for them without charging a penny for the service. We do not GUARANTEE to sell it for them at par, $100 a share; but we have sold over 7,600 shares for our shareholders at $100 a share since December, 1919. And we see no reason to doubt our ability to continue doing it. When the first pinch of hard times came a good many small shareholders had to sell their stock to pay living expenses. A good many others were talked into selling these shares in order to buy other investments. But for every shareholder that wanted to sell there were more than two new investors eager to buy. During recent months comparatively few shares have been brought in for resale. Our folks realize that a safe and sure 7% dividend payer, exempt from all taxes except the U. S. income sur-taxes (those above 8%) is a mighty good security to put away in safe deposit as a permanent income producer.

PRICE: $100 a share.

MAN FINED $300 FOR SELLING AGENT LIQUOR

Cumberland Cafe Bartender Pleaded Guilty, but Contended Whisky Was From Own Bottle.

Leo Nosick, bartender for Jacob Cohen at the Cumberland Cafe, Seventh and Market streets, was fined $300 today on his plea of guilty of selling liquor to a prohibition enforcement officer after he had told Federal Judge Dyer that the sale was made from his own bottle, which a friend had given him.

There are several cases pending against Cohen's two places, the Cumberland and the Falstaff, on Sixth street, which Special Assistant Attorney-General Higgs attempted to close as public nuisances. When Nosick pleaded guilty Cohen pleaded not guilty in the same case. After Nosick had said that he sold his own liquor District Attorney Carroll told the Judge that Cohen was within three feet of Nosick when the sale was made, and saw Nosick put the money in the cash register and ring it up. The enforcement agent said the same thing. Nosick said he merely made change out of the cash register and put the price of the drink in his pocket.

Attempt to Shield Boss Charged.

"You are trying," said Judge Dyer, "to shield a man who is guilty of violating the law. You will get nothing by that in this court. I fine you $300, and it will give me pleasure to try your boss."

Cohen's case is set for May 3.

Eugene Hayes, 1712 South Tenth street, was fined $250 on his plea of guilty of taking a quantity of whisky to a picnic at Mineral Point, Mo., on Oct. 2, and selling it. "It is a plain case," the Judge said, "of trying to make a profit out of the illegitimate sale of liquor, and I have no sympathy with it." Andrew Sponek, 1814 South Eighth street, jointly charged with him, pleaded not guilty. He says he merely accompanied Hayes to the picnic and knew nothing about the selling of liquor. His case is set for Monday.

Louis Soanka, proprietor of the Wainwright Building bar, was fined $150 on his plea of guilty to selling liquor at 115 North Seventh street. He was previously fined $500 by Judge Faris for selling liquor at the Wainwright bar.

George Kloth, 4403 North Twentieth street, was fined $100, and Everett Joyce, 715 Mound street, was fined $25 for transporting Oct. 2 several barrels of beer from Mascoutah, Ill.

Fined for Transporting Liquor.

Richard Gunther, 1438 South Second street, was fined $125, and Martin Miller, 916 Hickory street, was fined $50 for transporting whisky in Gunther's automobile.

George Maher, 4493 Florissant avenue, was fined $100 for selling. John Sunder, Grand avenue and Dodier street, was fined $100 for selling liquor. Two other cases are pending against him. Vincent Puglici was fined $130 for having liquor in his possession at 5023 Wilson avenue. William Crosby, 6102 Easton avenue, was fined $100 for selling liquor. Nim O'Brien was fined $100 for having liquor in his possession at 4400 Easton avenue. Peter Miller, 1800 Menard street, was fined $100 for selling liquor. Three other cases are pending.

Henry Grupe was fined $100 for possession of liquor at 5300 Easton avenue. John W. Steele was fined $100 for having liquor in his possession at 6118 Easton avenue. Nicola Janna, 811 Franklin avenue, was fined $150 for having a still in his possession. Mike Tanasyevich, 3516 North Broadway, was fined $100 for selling liquor.

TO STOP FALLING HAIR

Parisian Sage Keeps Scalp Healthy and Prevents Dandruff.

If your hair is falling out, or is faded, dry, streaked and scraggly and new hair does not grow, the roots must be immediately vitalized and nourished.

To do this quickly, safely and most effectively, get a bottle of Parisian Sage from your druggist, and follow the simple directions for home use.

Parisian Sage is guaranteed to quickly banish all dandruff, stop itching scalp and falling hair and stimulate a new growth, or money refunded. It's in great demand by discriminating women because it makes the hair so soft, lustrous and easy to manage, and appear much heavier than it really is.

If you want a clean, healthy scalp, and plenty of thick, good-looking hair, start using Parisian Sage now—tonight. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co. will supply you and guarantee money refunded if not satisfactory.

CONTRACT FOR STREET WORK BELOW ESTIMATE

Improvement Projects Figured at $230,000 Let to Three Companies for $194,525.

Contracts for the improvement of 12 portions of streets and alleys let by the Board of Public Service yesterday call for prices 15.4 per cent lower, on the average, than the board had estimated the work would cost. The contracts, which went to three companies, call for $194,525.84, while the board's estimate of the cost was $230,000.

These are the first contracts let for municipal improvements for more than a year. The "union labor" ordinance, which was passed early in 1920 and repealed recently, caused contractors to quit bidding. They said banks refused to lend them money on the special tax bills on the theory that the ordinance was not valid. The ordinance required the payment of the "prevailing wage scale" on improvement work and preference in employment to citizens. Soon after the ordinance was repealed the Board of Public Service advertised for bids on a considerable amount of improvement work.

President Kinsey said yesterday that the contracts awarded may be considered as tests of the labor and material market, and show that, generally, these markets have declined.

Contract 50 Per Cent Below Estimate.

A contract awarded for grading one street shows the greatest reduction in cost, as compared with the city's estimate. The contract is less than 50 per cent of the estimate. Labor is the chief element in grading work. Contracts for brick and wood block streets and brick and concrete alleys all show lower prices, but in one case, that of a street to be paved with granite, the contract is somewhat higher than the estimate.

The following four contracts were awarded to the Eyermann Construction Co.: Lafayette, from Kosciusko to Broadway, granite, $50,285.10, estimate $48,300. Washington, Twelfth to Eighteenth, wood block for the additional three feet on each side to be taken from the sidewalks, $25,825, estimate $28,050. Washington, from Eighteenth to Twenty-third, same, five feet from each side, $26,334.75, estimate $30,250. Seventeenth, from Washington to Lucas, wood block, $2889, estimate $3600.

Seven Contracts to One Company.

To the Skrainka Construction Co. was awarded the following seven contracts: Natural Bridge, Union to Clara, brick, $47,621.20, estimate $62,200. Five concrete alleys in South St. Louis, as follows, respectively: $4521.65, estimate $6000; $6145.20, estimate $7800; $4019.20, estimate $5300; $5706.60, estimate $7500; $5052.84, estimate $6800. A brick alley in North St. Louis, $10,582.75, estimate $13,000.

The Natural Bridge avenue improvement will replace an unpaved road, above grade, which is now paralleled by a brick street on property belonging to the General Motors Corporation, which the public has been allowed to use.

The Manegold Contracting Co. received the contract to grade Devonshire avenue from Macklind avenue to Hampton avenue, for $5522.55. The estimated cost was $11,200.

Magazines for Former Soldiers.

Subscriptions for the renewal of magazines for former soldiers at the United States Public Health Service Hospital at 5800 Arsenal street have been made by the women's auxiliaries of the following American Legion posts: Quentin Roosevelt, Joseph Fournier, St. Louis, Raymond Konge, Richard Anderson, Atwell Lincoln, Goldman-Grodsky and the 138th Infantry.

ARCHBISHOP GLENNON ISSUES APPEAL FOR AID FOR CHINA

Prelate Says Social, Religious and Political Reasons Constrain Us to Help Our Friends.

Archbishop Glennon today issued an appeal in behalf of the starving children of the famine area of Northern China. In a statement issued through the St. Louis Committee of the China Famine Fund, Archbishop Glennon said:

"I hope every one in St. Louis on April 27 will give a little to save the little children of China. They, with their parents, are starving in the north country, where alternate flood and drouth, accompanied by disease, have swept the entire land. Many of the children of that country are dead. Many more are dying, and their dying parents appeal to us to save them.

"The time may not be so far distant when the friendship of China so evident in the past may be most helpful again. Autocracy in the East is not dead; and autocracy, whether in the East or West, is hostile to and would gladly destroy the spirit of democracy.

"We want the Chinese republic to be strong. We want her people to be free. We want the potent friendship of the nation. So every reason, social, religious and political, constrains us now to help our friends in need."

Mayor Kiel has issued a proclamation officially proclaiming April 27 as "Life Saving day," and requesting the people to aid in raising funds to relieve the famine sufferers.

This Leaves the Arms Free From Hairy Growths

(Toilet Talks)

A simple method for completely removing every trace of hair or fuzz is here given. This is painless and usually a single treatment will banish even stubborn growths. To remove hairs, make a thick paste with some powdered delatone and water, spread on hairy surface and after about two minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This method will not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be certain you get delatone.

Coal Buying Logic

IT is a physical impossibility for the coal mines of Illinois, which supply the needs of St. Louis, to mine the requirements of an entire Winter during the first few weeks of Fall. It is equally impossible for the railroads to bring into St. Louis, within a few weeks, an entire Winter's supply of coal.

The consumers of St. Louis, by buying coal now, can keep the mines at work during weeks which otherwise would be marked by idleness. The price of such idleness in past years invariably has been a coal shortage and higher prices in the Winter.

Buy your next Winter's coal now.

It is the purpose of the Coal Service Bureau of St. Louis, by taking the public into its confidence, to establish that measure of co-operation which will insure mutual benefit and good will.

WORK PROGRESSING ON ZOO BEAR DENS

Board of Control Meets in Forest Park and Discusses Future Plans.

The Zoo in Forest Park is steadily approaching the goal set for it by its directors—that of being the greatest zoological park in the world. Members of the Zoological Board of Control, which held its monthly meeting at the Zoo grounds yesterday, said that in five or seven years the Zoo will be the best in the United States. The board plans to remove all the apparent barriers between the animals' quarters and the public promenades, except in the case of monkeys and birds, as is now being done for the bears.

Work on the new bear dens is progressing, and the first of three units now going up will be ready about June 1. The other two units will be ready by autumn and possibly next year five remaining units, which are planned will be built. The dens are on a hillside and will present the appearance of natural rock, overgrown with mountainous foliage. An unseen moat will separate the bears from the spectators, and concealed shelters, with a keepers' gallery, are being built in the rear.

Dens Appear Natural.

The "rocks" were formed from molds patterned after limestone in the Mississippi River bluffs. Concrete shot from a "gun" gives them unusual strength and exposure to the weather will turn their first whiteness into a more natural color. Portions have been artificially colored. There are fissures and other faults in the "mountains" which, altogether, will give the dens an entirely natural appearance. Landscape artists have supervised the planting of evergreens and bushes in crannies of the "rocks," and the preparation for a grassy plain in front of the dens.

The Zoo now has 17 bears. Among these is a pair of grizzlies that escaped last August when someone broke a lock on the old-fashioned cage and created considerable excitement in the West End district through which they lumbered. Then there is the pair of brown, Kadiak cubs brought back from Alaska last year by Edwin H. Steedman and Edward Mallinckrodt Jr., and given to the zoo. Two cubs from the collection of eight black bears are kept in an outdoor inclosure, and their antics as they mocked, first, a Dempsey-Carpentier fight, and then two "trouble shooters" climbing a telegraph pole amused the members of the zoo board.

Eventually, every possible specimen in the zoo will be kept in half-outdoor, half-indoor confines with artfully camouflaged barriers, if the plans of the board members are realized. Wires will always be needed to confine the monkeys and birds because of their climbing and flying proclivities. The tigers will not be placed in artificial jungles, but some arrangement will be made for them. An outdoor paddock for elephants and hippopotami has already been built.

Houses for Foxes and Wolves.

In another month the new concrete houses for foxes, wolves and coyotes will be completed, and these animals will join the ranks of May movers. The board decided yesterday to utilize one end of the eagle-owl aviary for monkeys, to give them greater freedom and provide a bigger space for the crowds of laughing children which naturally gravitate towards the primates.

The board's architect is preparing plans for a new aviary for the delicate birds which must stay indoors in this climate, and about Aug. 1 paddocks east of the open bird cage will be removed and ground broken for the aviary. The central feature will be a large cage in a sunken garden, under a skylight. There will be 150 small cages.

The purchase of two more sea lions has been authorized. In their outdoor pool, the present collection is a source of much interest. The zoo hospital, a project of Superintendent Angermeyer, is being developed. It now contains an operating cage, invented by Angermeyer, a dipping tank and maternity cages for small animals.

The office of the zoo board will be removed from the Municipal Courts Building to the "Cement House" at the zoo next month and the board will save $1800 a year rental which it pays the city and the city will gain needed room for its offices.

Annual Report Made.

Secretary Vierheller presented the annual report of the Zoo to the board yesterday. It must be remembered that while the Zoological Board of Control is a semiofficial institution and must have as its president the Park Commissioner, it is not a city department and its finances are fixed by law. Its income is derived from taxation, the Zoo tax being 2 mills on the $100 assessed valuation of all property in St. Louis, and on the merchants' and manufacturers' tax.

Vierheller's report shows that the income last year was $202,889, and that the cost for maintenance was $71,968. The balance went towards improvements, including $78,000 already spent on the bear dens. He anticipates an income of about $223,000 for the present fiscal year. Maintenance costs have decreased and will amount to about $66,000. Improvements amounting to about $68,000 are definitely started, including $40,000 for finishing the three units of the bear dens. The estimate leaves a balance of $90,000, and this will be devoted to the new aviary, which will cost about $140,000 when completed.

The present "population" of the zoo is 854. There are 211 mammals, 502 birds and 141 reptiles and amphibians. Thirty animals were born during the year, 12 were sold and 86 specimens died. An attendance record is not kept but it is believed that the attendance increases annually. The zoo is on a 72-acre tract in Forest Park, a few hundred yards north of the Tamm avenue stop of the Market cars.

Three Condemned Men Reprieved.
By the Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 21.—Preparations for a triple hanging that was scheduled for tomorrow were halted at the county jail late yesterday when word was received that the condemned men had been reprieved by Gov. Small until June 24. The three men are Oscar McGavick and Grover Redding, negro leaders of a "Back to Abyssinia" movement, which, several months ago, resulted in a riot in which two white men were killed, and Harry Ward, a white robber, known as "The Wolf."

1500 Women Given Nursing Course.

More than 1500 St. Louis women received instruction from Red Cross nurses last year in the fundamentals of home nursing. Classes in home hygiene and care of the sick were held in 22 different health centers. Sixty-four classes were formed. The courses are free, with the exception of a 60-cent charge for a textbook. Registration has begun for fall classes and those interested are asked to communicate with the Nursing Department of the Red Cross, 802 Equitable Building.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS SPEAKS HERE FOR EDUCATION FUND

Former Secretary of Navy Is on Tour of This Section in Interest of Southern Methodist Church Campaign.

Josephus Daniels of Raleigh, N. C., who was Secretary of the Navy through the two Wilson administrations, is in St. Louis today in the interest of the Christian education movement of the Methodist Church, South. His program included an address at a noon luncheon for ministers and laymen at Hotel Statler, and a talk at a meeting at 4 p. m. in St. John's Methodist Church, King's highway and Washington avenue. The afternoon meeting is especially for women, though men are also invited.

Colombian Treaty Discussed.

"When the Wilson administration proposed to make a settlement that would do justice to Colombia," he said, "the proposal was met with cries of 'Outrage!' and 'Blackmail!' Now, when President Harding proposes the same thing, it is approved as the proper thing to do. The unfortunate thing is that, by the delay, we have for several years put off the restoration of the confidence and good will of the Latin-American peoples.

"In the same way it may be noted that when Secretary of State Colby set forth the American claims as to Yap, it was declared that he was merely 'yapping.' Now the Harding administration makes the same contentions its own.

"These are good things to do, whoever does them. If the Harding administration will only adopt the foreign policy of the Wilson administration throughout, it will save us billions in the matter of military preparation."

Will Leave Tonight.

Former Secretary Daniels was accompanied here from Memphis by the Rev. Dr. J. H. Reynolds of Nashville, Tenn., director-general of the Christian Education movement of the Southern Methodist Church, and Henry H. Ahrens of New Orleans, in charge of the secular press division of the movement. The three will leave tonight for Little Rock.

In the Missouri branch of the movement, Missouri has been asked to raise $1,830,000 of the total of $33,000,000 which is being sought. Five institutions in this State are to benefit from the campaign, these being Central College, Fayette; Howard-Payne College, Fayette; Central College for Women, Lexington; Marvin College, Fredericktown, and Scarrit Bible Training School, Kansas City. Louis Boeger, president of the North St. Louis Savings Trust Co., is campaign director for the St. Louis district, and has a committee of ministers and laymen to help him.

Daniels' Luncheon Speech.

Daniels' luncheon address was a plea for liberal giving to the cause of education. He related the story of Benjamin Franklin's experience in listening to the preaching of Whitefield, when Franklin, who had at first been resolved to give nothing, took out first his coppers, then his silver coins, then his gold, and at the end of Whitefield's discourse emptied his pockets into the collector's dish.

"The man who gives more than he intended for the care of orphans or the education of the youth is the only wise man, for his investment will be returning vitalized dividends long after he has retired or has passed away," Daniels continued.

"Explain it as you will, the generous giver, wise in his business and wise in his liberality, finds that increase comes with generosity, that it does not impair his ability to extend his business.

"The world today needs a double portion of the spirit of Wesley.

"John Wesley was quick to found institutions—orphanages, dispensaries and schools. His church was an institutional church from the beginning. The inspiration of Methodist thrift and Methodist liberality today comes from his admonitions."

Long Distance Telephone Calls

TOLL Calls vary greatly in character and in the cost to the telephone company of furnishing service. The present toll schedule classifies toll calls and charges to meet the requirements of users at a cost commensurate with the service rendered. The classifications are:

Station to Station Calls

Where the calling party, when placing his call, specifies a called telephone only or anyone at a place of business or residence. Rates for this service are classified into Day, Evening and Night rates. The evening rate is effective from 8:30 P. M. to 12:00 midnight. The night rate is effective from 12:00 midnight to 4:30 A. M. Because the telephone company is not required to locate a particular person the use of its facilities is reduced to a minimum; hence, the service is quicker and can be given at a lower rate.

Person to Person Calls

Where the calling party in placing his call specifies a particular person at a specified telephone, place of business or residence.

Appointment Calls

When the calling party in placing his call specifies a particular person at a telephone, place of business or residence and further specifies that he will talk at a stated time only.

Messenger Calls

Where the calling party in placing his call specifies a particular person to come to a telephone and it is necessary in order to complete the call, for the telephone company to arrange for and send a messenger to notify the called party to come to a telephone.

In subsequent announcements, we will explain how you may save money on toll calls by selecting the service most adaptable to your needs.

"Certainly Did Wonders For Me"

Mrs. A. E. Hager, 909 London Road, Duluth, Minn., writes: "I have been taking your Cadomene tablets for the past month. They certainly did wonders for me, as I was so nervous I wasn't able to do my own housework; so sick and miserable. Now I can do all my own work and feel good all the time. My daughter and her husband have also been taking them, and they helped wonderfully."

Cadomene should be taken by any one who has symptoms of impoverished blood and weak nerves, like the following: Nervousness, sleeplessness, irritability, weakness, nervous indigestion, headache, backache, trembling at slightest mental excitement or physical exertion, cold extremities, uncalled-for worry or fear, lack of energy and "high spirits."

Cadomene supplies iron and phosphorous with other tonics that build up blood and Nerve Force. Take them and see how quickly they bring astonishing benefit to your poor "frazzled" nervous system. All good druggists sell them.

Epsom Salts like Lemonade

Ask for "Epsonade Salts" hereafter

A few cents buys a handy package of "Epsonade Salts" which looks and acts exactly like epsom salts because it is real epsom salts combined with fruit derivative salts, giving it the taste of sparkling lemonade.

A tablespoonful in a glass of cold water whenever you feel bilious, headachy or constipated, will give you a splendid epsom salts physic without the awful taste and nausea. "Epsonade Salts," is the much talked of discovery of the American Epsom Association.

ANOTHER CONTEST IN CLYMER WILL CASE EXPECTED

Attorneys Say There Will Be Further Litigation in Spite of Verdict Setting Aside Bequest to Nephew.

Notwithstanding the verdict returned yesterday by a jury at Clayton, setting aside the last will of Mrs. Eliza A. W. Clymer, in which the bulk of her $400,000 estate was bequeathed to her 20-year-old nephew, Dana von Schrader, statements made today by attorneys on both sides indicated that there will be further litigation, possibly including another contest suit, before the issue is finally settled. The last will was dated Dec. 2, 1916.

Mrs. Clymer made a previous will in 1913, in which the greater part of the estate was left to Dana and his father, George von Schrader, and Frank H. Sullivan, of defense's counsel, said today that, if yesterday's verdict stands, the 1913 document undoubtedly will be probated. Thomas Bond, of plaintiff's counsel, said that, if it was, another contest suit would be filed immediately.

Equal Division Demanded.

"We want Mrs. Clymer declared intestate, and an equal division made of her estate among her natural heirs, said Bond. "Nothing less will satisfy us." This would mean that the estate would be divided into five equal parts, one each to her brothers, George and Otto C. von Schrader; to her sisters, Miss Eloise von Schrader and Mrs. Julia Hodgson, and to the children of her dead brother, Frederick. Dana would receive nothing.

The 1913 will provided for bequests of $5000 each to Otto, Eloise, Frederick and Mrs. Hodgson; directed that the property at Eighth and St. Charles streets, be held in trust for Dana, and left the residue to George. While this is more than was bequeathed to the brothers and sisters in the last will, Bond said it would not satisfy them.

Jury Returned Verdict in Hour.

The jury went out at 3:20 p. m. and returned their verdict precisely an hour later. Edwin Rathert, the foreman, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that only one ballot was taken.

"We talked it over before balloting, and were unanimous in our opinion that Mrs. Clymer was not mentally capable at the time she made the will," Rathert said. "We did not believe that she was insane, however, but simply that she had grown so feeble through illness and age that she did not fully realize what she was doing."

The jury also was of the opinion, he said, that undue influence was used on her, and said this was indicated by the fact that Mrs. Clymer gave something to all her brothers and sisters in her first will, that she revoked all these money bequests in 1916 except $5000 to Eloise, and that she finally revoked it also, in a codicil written in 1917. This chain of circumstances indicated to the jury, he said, that she was being influenced against her relatives.

Women Disappointed at Verdict.

Many women who had been fellow residents of Mrs. Clymer at the Buckingham Hotel, and some of whom testified for the defense, were present in the courtroom when the verdict was returned, and a pronounced murmur of disappointment came from them when the verdict was read.

During the arguments counsel for the plaintiffs had referred to them as "the Buckingham Hotel Sewing Circle," and characterized their sympathy for the defense as "born of a desire to see a new and eligible young millionaire introduced to their set."

"Character is not built by giving a young man a flood of gold at the first of every month," said Bond. "It may make him a social lion for the Buckingham sewing circle, but it will never make a man of him."

The jury, he said, was asked by the defense "to make a wealthy idler and a social favorite out of an able-bodied young man, while a broken and disabled soldier is left out West without anything." He was referring to Alleyne von Schrader, son of the late Frederick von Schrader, and a nephew of Mrs. Clymer, just as Dana is. There was some reference during the trial to the fact that Alleyne was disabled during the war.

"The sewing circle," said former State Senator A. E. L. Gardner of plaintiffs' counsel, "would like to have you members of the jury to believe that Mrs. Clymer was a fluent conversationalist, but their testimony shows that about all she said to them was 'yes' and 'no.' They bring in a blind man to tell what he saw of Mrs. Clymer and a deaf man to tell what she said.

"Best Witnesses Not Called."

"These are the sort of witnesses brought forward to prove that Mrs. Clymer's mind was sound, while here in this room, throughout this trial, sat the two persons best qualified to testify as to her sanity—and neither of them called to the stand. I refer to her brother, George von Schrader, and to her nephew, Dana. They know the condition of her mind but they did not take the stand. Why not?"

"Mothered by Millionaires."

"Dana," said Gardner, "has been mothered by all the witnesses in this case who are millionaires. They are interested in seeing him made a millionaire, too. They all testified to his virtues; why didn't he take the stand and demonstrate his virtues?"

PESKY BEDBUGS

Bedbugs lay an average of seven eggs per day. Under favorable conditions they hatch in five days, of which two-thirds are females. They mature to adult size and are capable of laying in two weeks. How many bedbugs would you have in a year if you left one female or egg unmolested for one year? Now the pesky bedbug, you can readily see how necessary it is to use a preparation that will kill the eggs as well as the ones. P. D. Q. has been demonstrated by the leading Hospitals, Hotels and Railroad Companies that the safest and most economical way to stop future infestations of bedbugs, roaches, fleas and ants is to use the new discovery, "Devils Quietus, P. D. Q."

A 35c package of P. D. Q. makes a quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas and cooties and at the same time destroy their eggs.

Impossible for them to exist when P. D. Q. is properly used. Free, patent spout in every package to get the pesky devils in the hard-to-get-at places and save the juice.

Special Hospital and Hotel size, $2.50—makes five gallons of P. D. Q. Your druggist has it or can get it for you, or sent prepaid upon receipt of price by the Owl Chemical Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Success of P. D. Q. has caused imitators; genuine P. D. Q. is never peddled.

MEN IN STOLEN AUTO ROB KROGER STORE

Force Manager Behind Counter, Take $40 From Cash Drawer and Flee.

Two armed men at 5:45 p. m. yesterday robbed a Kroger grocery at 4281 Kennerly avenue and escaped in a stolen automobile. E. C. Latowsky, the manager, was alone in the store when the men entered. One forced him to go behind a counter in the rear of the store and the other took $40 from the cash register.

Persons who saw the men escape took the number of the automobile license, through which the machine was identified as one owned by Mrs. Johanna Bassist of 6246 Enright avenue. It was stolen from Fourteenth street and Washington avenue at 4 p. m.

Negroes Hold Up Two Men and Take Raincoat.

Three armed negroes held up and robbed Lucius White, 2820 Dayton street, and John Gollub, 2727 Sheridan avenue, at 8:25 p. m., on Garrison avenue, near Bell avenue, taking $12, a watch and a raincoat from White and $11, a watch and a raincoat from Gollub. When White asked that his raincoat be returned one of the negroes knocked him down. Ten minutes later three negroes answering the same description held up George Vossick of 1024 North Leonard avenue and took $4 and his watch, on Bell avenue, near Leonard avenue.

W. A. Pouncey, an officer of the North Side Y. M. C. A. at Grand and Sullivan avenues yesterday reported to the police that someone is using a checkbook which was stolen from his room April 1 last. Since then, he said, there had been two other robberies there. He reported to the police when he learned that a young man had ordered $5 worth of flowers from a florist and had given a $10 check signed with Pouncey's name, receiving $5 in change. The check was found to be a forgery.

Thieves Open Gas Jet.

Miss Grace Followell of 3634 Washington boulevard reported to the police that at 4 a. m. yesterday she awoke with a choking sensation and found a gas jet turned on but not lighted in her room. Later in the morning she found her room had been ransacked and $15 in cash and two rings had been stolen.

A plate-glass window at the Alaska Fur Co. store, 819 Washington avenue, was broken by a thief last night and three fur pieces valued at $380 were stolen.

Burglaries in which clothing, jewelry and cash were taken were committed yesterday and last night at the homes of George Luther, 4439 Clarence avenue; William A. Breaker, 4916 Argyle place; John Heinke, 1442 North Market street, and Frederick Ebersman, 1308 Warren street.

Mrs. Rose Schachner, of 5025 Maple avenue, yesterday reported the loss of a velvet handbag containing $102 in cash and jewelry valued at $50. She said she was injured in an automobile collision at Newstead avenue and Washington boulevard April 4 and that the handbag disappeared at that time.

Drake-Washington U. Debate.
The question of immediate independence for the Philippines will be debated this evening by teams representing Washington and Drake Universities, both here and at Des Moines, Ia., this being the annual meeting of debaters from these institutions. Here the local team will take the affirmative, while at Des Moines the Washington men will maintain the negative. The debate will be in Graham Memorial Chapel, university campus, at 8 p. m., and will be open to the public.

POLICE SEIZE SMALL BREWERY

Anonymous Information Leads to Discovery at 2021 Franklin.

A small brewery was discovered by the police last night when, acting on anonymous information, they searched a small building in the rear of 2021 Franklin avenue.

They report finding two barrels of mash for making beer; two half-barrels of the finished product; two gas and two coal stoves; a boiler, tub, some jugs, 10 cans of malt extract; eight packages of hops, four packages of gelatin, 10 pounds of sugar and some funnels, spoons and stirring sticks. The outfit was taken to the Carr Street Station. The police failed to locate anyone in the neighborhood who could tell who owned or operated the "brewery."

City News in Brief

POLICE ITEMS

PATROLMAN KUEKNEL BELIEVES HE wounded one of five men riding in a green automobile which failed to halt at his command when he saw it racing along Missouri avenue, near Osage street, at 1:10 a. m. today. He fired one shot in the air and two shots at the car. After the third shot one of the men in the machine cried out as if in pain, the auto swerved, ran upon the sidewalk, dodged a lamppost, turned back into the street and ran to Keokuk street, where it turned west and disappeared.

MISCELLANEOUS

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Why Don't People Build?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The answer is not entirely the high cost of material and labor, but the uncertainty in the minds of many regarding the near future.

They reason thus: If I build now at the present price of material and labor, and in a couple of years the prices come down to pre-war prices, I will have a losing investment.

So it would seem that if the public had some assurance of what the price of material and labor will be for the next 10 years there would be some basis for a start.

So I would like to state a few reasons why prices will not go back to pre-war prices in the near future:

Let us start with wages. As we all know to our cost almost all taxes are shoved along to the ultimate consumer. Therefore, to allow the consumer, who is in eight cases out of 10 the wage earner, to pay this vast debt, he must have a great deal more than pre-war pay.

After admitting this fact, it becomes merely a matter of relative values being adjusted to secure prosperity.

The Popular Magazine, under the heading, "Industrial Team Play," said: "In 1919 my hat cost me four bushels of corn. Today I would have to pay 24 bushels of corn for the same hat."

Now this is manifestly unfair to the farmer, yet the farmer at the present time is getting almost twice as much for his wheat as before the war.

So, if the contemplative builder will allow the same proportionate increase for material and labor as wheat, he will be able to tell in what lines there seems to be profiteering.

A short time ago there was an illustrated article in the Post-Dispatch regarding the rise and fall in the prices of building material. In studying it I concluded that in most lines the price is about right proportionate to the price of wheat—and in some cases even a little lower than they will be later on, but in sand, gravel, cement, lime and stone there should be some way to find out how it is that their prices got to a peak and stay there independent of supply and demand and plenty of cars.

ALBERT C. MUELLER.

An Objectionable Practice.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I would like to call attention to a practice of many of the United Railways men. Quite often it happens that when one car meets another on a cross line and people go to change cars, the conductor or motorman will wait until they get to the door and then close it and start away, making the people wait for the next one, which is sometimes 15 or 20 minutes, or if it happens to be an owl car, then it is 45 minutes or an hour before the next one comes. It makes no difference to them whether the temperature is freezing or if it is raining, they go on just the same. Isn't there some way to put a stop to this? J. M. B.

Foolish Reasons.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have been reading with much interest the various opinions of people on the "daylight saving plan," and I am forced to agree with "Foolish Reason" in that I have read no argument against the idea that was not foolish, nay, ridiculous, illogical and incredulous.

Many speak as though an hour is to be taken from their time of leisure or added to their working day, as evidenced by the letter signed "Worker." Nobody is asking him to start work at 6 a. m. He is to start at 7, quit at 5:30, or whatever time it may be, and retire at 8, just as he has always done. Many ask, "What did we do before this idea was originated?" or some such nonsense. What did we do before the telephone, wireless, automobile, telegraph, airplane, electricity and a thousand other present-day necessities were invented? Many say, "We want no new-fangled ideas." Why try to progress then? If everyone were opposed to "new-fangled ideas," civilization would soon become degraded beyond recovery. Many say, "Now that the war is over, let us forget everything connected with it." But did we not learn much from the war that we were ignorant of before? Why, then, forget these important lessons, for which we paid so dearly, because they were associated with the war?

There is only one man who has a good, logical reason against the plan. He is the motion-picture theater owner. But why consider him, when the saloon, distillery and brewery owners were disregarded by prohibition?

LOUIS D. LOCATELL.

Government Work.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Why is it that most of the Government work is done when times are good? When factories close and men are thrown out of work in all lines of business, public work generally ceases. With so many able men at the head of our Government, why are not roads improved, docks and dams built and public work throughout the country done in dull times? Then it is the workingman needs work.

On an average of every five or six years our country borders on a panic. Why are funds not laid aside for such times, so the great masses of unemployed can live by honest toil and laugh at the I. W. W.'s, Bolsheviki, red flags and the like?

AMI WRIGHT.

SETTLING WITH COLOMBIA.

After nearly 18 years of strained relations between the United States and Colombia, growing out of the secession of Panama, under President Roosevelt's encouragement and aid, our differences have been settled through a treaty which the United States has ratified.

The treaty provides for a payment of $25,000,000 to Colombia in five equal annual installments, not as compensation for any admitted wrong done to Colombia under the policy of the Big Stick, as was proposed in the earlier drafts submitted to the Senate, but in settlement of recognized claims growing out of the Panama railroad and other concessions in which Colombia had a contingent interest. As an instance of Colombia's interest, the Panama railroad, valued as physical property at $16,000,000, would have reverted to her in 1967, the termination of the 99-year lease. It now comes to us in perpetuity. Other claims to annuities growing out of the railroad and canal concessions bring their total up to $50,000,000. And in addition Colombia assents to the abrogation of the embarrassing Grenadine treaty of 1846, by which we guaranteed the independence and territorial integrity of Colombia, then New Granada.

Colombia has indicated her readiness, upon the conclusion of this treaty to grant to the United States the use of certain islands in the vicinity of the termini of the canal, to enter into an agreement to observe "benevolent neutrality" with respect to the use of her territorial waters in the event of the United States being engaged in war, and to recognize the independence of Panama. As though this was not enough, there are other assurances that American capital will receive preferential treatment in the exploitation of vast undeveloped oil fields in Colombia.

It is not to be wondered at that the Republicans have undergone a complete change of heart with reference to this admitted wrong, though quite naturally the apology made in the first article of the old draft treaty of 1914 was too bitter a pill to be swallowed.

Although the refusal of the Senate to ratify the treaty while President Wilson was in power, reflects upon the sincerity of some Republican leaders; yet the ratification is creditable to the Harding administration. It is a good step towards a sound foreign policy. Incidentally it justifies Mr. Wilson's stand for justice to Colombia.

STOP THIS EXTRAVAGANCE.

Again the Railroad Labor Board hearing at Chicago rises above the scope of a mere wage dispute with the presentation of evidence by the employes that inefficient management is costing the country a bill of waste estimated at $1,000,000,000 a year.

More than half this bill of waste is given in itemized form. Furthermore, the source of the data from which the estimates are derived is presented. Consulting engineers, mechanical engineers and other technicians have been enlisted in the work of securing data. The citation of sources is such as to carry conviction that the charges are authentically founded.

The United States Senate has just ordered a general investigation of the railroad situation covering maintenance costs, efficiency of operation, traffic statistics and means whereby to effect a reduction in freight and passenger rates. The action of the Senate is timely. But, without regard to senatorial action, responsibility immediately devolves upon the Interstate Commerce Commission to demand an accounting from the railroads.

As the report of the employes so ably states, "the guarantee to the railway companies by the United States Government is not to be construed as an unconditional privilege granted to the railway operators to levy fixed charges upon shippers, consumers, employes and public in general without any accountability on the part of the railway administration itself." If the railroads are pouring $1,000,000,000 a year into the ground the shippers are paying for it, and it is the Interstate Commerce Commission through which, by its power to fix rates, the extravagance is authorized.

It is clearly up to the commission to account for the charges of the employes and, so far as they may be substantiated by an official survey, to translate them into reduced rates.

EDUCATING THE EDUCATORS.

Parents and movies as educational factors have been rebuffed by the voters of Belleville. The Board of Education will continue to run the schools without the help of the pupils' parents and the pupils will continue to learn the three R's without the help of the movies. Until the next election anyway.

The issue was raised and the battle lines drawn when the parent-teacher association of one of the schools presented that school with a motion picture outfit for use, supplemental to the curriculum, in visual instruction. That was an innovation and the Board of Education, as constituted, was not cordial to innovations. The parents stood by their movie guns and the Superintendent stood by the parents. There was quite a merry little row and the Superintendent resigned.

Election time came along and the proponents of parents and movies got out a ticket. The campaign raged. The local papers were filled with fulminations. Belleville was in the condition sometimes described as het up. The leaders of the parent-movie ticket were young and progressive and full of fight and Belleville conservatism was jolted to its foundations, but when the smoke of battle cleared it was found that the defenders of things as they used to be were still sitting tight, with the advance of the parent-movies checked.

The story the ballots tell is that not only the old School Board, now re-elected, repudiates parents and movies, but a majority of the voters as well. But the progressives are not discouraged. They say it is remarkable what modern methods of education will do, and they plan to try some of them on the voters between now and the next election.

In the meantime relations are strained between the parents and the School Board, which is an unhappy condition, but it is through such travail that new ideas in education are born.

A BARE-FISTED FIGHT.

Attorney-General Barrett is correct in declaring that the first thing to do with respect to the housing shortage and the alleged conditions obstructing the building industry is to determine the facts. While in St. Louis Wednesday Mr. Barrett pointed out that many complaints had been made and filed an open request for information in this connection, asking persons to communicate with his office.

Obviously, this is a preliminary step. Its efficacy, too, is problematical. If the conspiracies to hold up prices and restrict distribution exist as charged, the information will not be procured through voluntary and informal depositions. Suspicious circumstances, to be sure, may be related and may serve as leads, but the facts indispensable to anything like the prosecution of law violators and a correction of conditions will have to be dragged out by authorized procedure.

In the celebrated New York investigation it took the genius of an Untermyer, backed up by the force of a State writ, to dig into the penetralia of a vast secret order of corruption. In this statement there is no implication that a similar camarilla is at work in St. Louis or other cities of Missouri. But the New York experience, and Chicago's also, makes it clear that the task to which the Attorney-General is addressing himself may not easily be performed.

Discard the gloves, Mr. Barrett.

The Supreme Court holds that if law can regulate the height of buildings it can regulate the height of rents.

CRIME AND PUNISHMENT.

It is significant that a tightening up by our Police Court Judges in the matter of freeing culprits on promises of good behavior was accompanied by a corresponding decrease in the number of cases which came before them, as shown by the annual report to the Mayor. The result of the new policy in materially increasing the city's revenue is merely a satisfactory incident.

After all, when the hopeful humanitarians have had their say, experience shows that stern dealing by the courts remains the most effective preventive of crime yet devised. Nobody doubts that the circumstances in many cases recommend leniency, but there is evidence that this leniency has been greatly overworked in the past—a conclusion which nothing attests so well as the figures compiled by the courts themselves. Worse than deliberate leniency in sentence are evasions through delays and pulls.

In simple justice it ought to be said that Mr. Lansing hung onto his job with a tenacity exceeded only by Jake Babler.

THE U. R.'S ADVERTISING CONTRACT.

The United Railways has contracted to dispose of its advertising space for the next 10 years at $191,000 a year, which is more than twice as much as the company got for this concession in its pre-receivership days. It is explained, however, that the company has more space now—more cars and so designed as to accommodate the maximum number of placards. Further, the fenders and dashboards, formerly exempt, are included in the present contract. Even so, it does look as if the receivership, in producing two publicity dollars to one of the old regime, has proved itself a better trader.

It is a question, though, if the receivership has utilized all the possibilities of revenue from this source. There are the straps, for example. If tripled in width they could serve the double function of steadying the mass formations and carrying cheering announcements of an uplifting character, with a commercial flavor, to be sure. Then, too, there are the window shades, drab and blank and wasteful, which, with a little ingenuity, could be converted into entertaining plaques, inscribed with punchy stuff.

And why could not the passengers be enlisted in turning the water of the U. R. into the wine of earnings? Advertisements adjustable to hats of every complexion and contour could readily be devised, and thus bedecked the trolley car would be a moving bazar, symbolically speaking, and a greatly enhanced producer.

The present management seems to have made a profitable deal in this instance, and the suggestions here offered are submitted, not in a captious, but a helpful, spirit. Resourcefulness is the mother of dividends.

JUST A MINUTE . . .

JUST A MINUTE IN MEXICO.

MEXICO CITY—When we elect a President of the United States we do not have to have our action ratified by anybody, and the incident is closed for four years. Not so in Mexico. When a President of Mexico is elected, he must be ratified in so many quarters that he doesn't know for a long time whether he is President or not. This is the case with Gen. Obregon. He is President by the choice of his own people, but the election has never been ratified by any of the interests which share with the people the responsibility of naming the chief executive of the republic. Von Humboldt called Mexico the treasure house of the world, and where there is treasure there are always a lot of interested people. The people of Mexico are anxiously awaiting now the returns from Washington. They would like to know whether Obregon is to be elected there, too. If he is, he ought to be elected all along the line. We have said emphatically, since Carranza turned out to be such an embarrassment that we are never again going to ratify the election of anyone without being sure what he is like, and the way Obregon runs in Washington will therefore pretty reliably forecast the outcome of his long race for the place.

You are getting an insight into Mexican politics now, but that is as far as I am going to take you for the time being. I only want to prepare you for what I am going to tell you next. One night I was sitting in the hotel reading the Latin in a Spanish newspaper when a very pleasant gentleman sat down beside me and engaged me in conversation. He was an American. He knew all about Mexico, and he would be very glad to help me get information about the situation. I made him out pretty quickly to be a propagandist. It was his business to know I was in Mexico City and to see that I did not go ignorant of the true situation. This was an interesting experience, as you may believe. I wanted to know all about the way in which the varying points of view in Mexico City project their information. So I beat this gentleman to it by asking him to go to dinner with me. He went. Nothing could have been more unobtrusive than the way in which he got to me what he had to say. I don't know what the people who employ him are paying him, but whatever it is he is earning more. What a field for sophistry have we opened here more than 3000 years after Zeno and his pupils, who might have occurred in our time and had expense accounts and fine salaries!

One of the oddities of Mexico City is the Thieves' Market, which for more than a hundred years has done a flourishing business through both the front and back doors. If something is stolen from you here, you do not ask to have all the pawnshops and secondhand stores searched, as we do in St. Louis. You go to the Thieves' Market and buy your property back. This is not expensive. Thieves, who are thus put upon the same footing with all other business men, are reasonable. It is withholding this recognition that makes them unreasonable at home. They feel that while other people are just as bad as they are we are attempting to establish the contrary. This infuriates thieves, and whatever they make off with is irrevocably lost. The Mexicans do this much better. They provide a market to which the thief may go without fear of molestation. If you go early after your house is robbed you can sometimes wait in front until your stuff comes in at the back. The burglar is at that time in sanctuary. If you can get him while he is going through your house you are welcome to him, but you cannot take him at the Thieves' Market. The effect of this is to make thieving in Mexico City more playful than vengeful. When a thief is hungry he takes enough to buy food. He does not come with a truck, as thieves do in Brentmoor, and take everything. Thieves treat you as you treat them. They do everywhere a large and lucrative business. The Mexicans recognize it as such. They make no distinction between thieving and any other business. Thieves, therefore, are kind to Mexico City. They like to be respected, and pay something for respectability.

UNADULTERATED MODESTY.

I know women. Feminine psychology is the joy of life to me. Frequent association, through the printed page, with Helen Rowland, French authors and F. Scott Fitzgerald has augmented an innate store of knowledge of the seldom solvable sex to prodigious proportions. Modesty forbids mentioning certain incidents to prove my profound understanding of daughter's, mamma's and grandmother's minds; but I admit I can look at a woman and say "A flower born to blush unseen" or tell if she believes no woman is old until men stop looking at her when she boards a street car or thinks "the world has changed since mother was a girl." And heaven forbid that I should tell anyone she has "a certain undefinable charm" without adding, naively, "I have told others that." And I know the superior way to start an informal conversation is to say "Girlie, you're nose is shiny." That shows one is a slicker, and you can imagine the interest the lady is sure to take in the informer. "I beg your pardon, but haven't we met before?" is very trite and faux pas. Always original, you know. I never could understand how anyone could not understand the eternal feminine, the mannish type, the clinging vine, and other types. I am beginning to now, though. After all, some of their representatives are inexplicable to me, for at last one has me guessing. I cannot analyze her. Black eyes that have few equals, says .....I know not what..... a developed intellect that goes off at tangents, and no man can follow. Reserved frankness and frank reserveness. She has me cornered, and I shall surrender. She is SEVENTEEN years old. AL.

THE HIGHBROW.

A HIGHBROW I, but often with the crowd
My elbows sore, with theirs am forced to rub;
But when some little leisure I'm allowed,
I hie me to the Mathematics Club.

Here space is banished, curve on curve I see,
Hyperbolas, ellipses, any root;
The vector and the circle's involute.

Or if to realms of physics I depart,
The luminiferous ether I explore;
Where shuttle-like electrons swiftly dart,
Relentlessly bombard the primal shore.

Or if with chemists I by chance am thrown,
Ionic forms and toxins we discuss,
The newest test for glue or acetone,
Or drugs of mutual interest to us.

From doctors, too, some pleasure I obtain,
In pathologic discourse quite abstruse;
Of enzyms catalytic or ptomaine,
Or actions of the pancreatic juice.

But when the corner pharmacy I see,
The spiritus frumenti I inspect,
A dry oesophagus to disinfect.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

OUR DISABLED SOLDIERS.

From the New York World.

THE committee with Charles G. Dawes of Chicago at its head appointed by President Harding to consider the problem of providing proper care for wounded and disabled ex-service men will have power only to make recommendations, but in submitting a practical and coherent plan it will take a long step toward correcting the present lamentable conditions. Ultimately adequate measures of relief can be adopted only through action by Congress. Too little attention has been paid to the needs of the men physically impaired or incapacitated. The situation is rendered the more urgent because of unpreparedness to afford treatment for veterans of the war on the scale required. As it is, even Government hospital accommodations are lacking. Warning has been given by medical authorities that by 1924-25 an immense increase in the number of cases, especially of tuberculosis, among ex-service men is to be expected, and provision must be made for them beforehand. It is to the men wounded, crippled and weakened by disease that the country owes first thought, and for their welfare and comfort that it should generously prepare. The scheme to give bonuses to millions of sound, healthy young fellows, to which the House slavishly assented, were better postponed indefinitely. It is a matter of very minor importance in any event compared with the pressing necessity of caring as their condition may require for the thousands of men rendered helpless or incapable after service in the army and navy.

LABOR AND WAGES.

From Leslie's.

UNSETTLEMENT and turmoil or calmness and sound conditions await us, according to the will and action of labor. Labor can determine whether we shall have progress out of our economic depression, or a halting of industrial and commercial activities, or a possible retrogression to a worse state than we have yet experienced. A widespread conflict over wages would throw the country into confusion and paralyze trade and industry. The adverse effect of that on the working people would be severer than on any other section of the population. Those who toil with their hands cannot afford to listen to agitators or leaders who counsel an uncompromising stand in this matter. The interests of labor are not the only interests in this great land to be considered. The interests of employers and the interests of the public are no less vital and righteous than those of labor.

CANCELING OUR WAR LOANS.

HERBERT ADAMS GIBBONS in Century Magazine.

THE amazing disregard the European Powers have for the interests of their American associate goes to the extent of proposing that we cancel the loans we made them without any quid pro quo. Mr. Lloyd George ignored two facts: that our loans to the allies and Great Britain are more than twice as much as hers to the allies, and that the war gave Great Britain tangible assets in the removal of a formidable rival's naval and mercantile fleet and competition in world markets, and in a remarkable increase in her colonial holdings, while it gave us nothing at all. We were not asked to share in the German indemnity, German colonies, German cables, German ships. Since the day we entered the war no European statesman has talked to us the way he has talked to his European associates. It is expected among the other nations that the booty—or, if you want to call it by a milder word, the advantages of victory—be shared. The Premiers of the Big Three have never held a single meeting in which profit-sharing has not been discussed. The proposal that we forgive them their debts has not been coupled with an offer to grant us free trade with their colonies and protectorates, to give our trade a fair deal in the mandated territories, to consider out of their embarrassment of colonial riches the cession of any lands to Uncle Sam.

MISSOURIANS TOUR WISCONSIN SYSTEM OF GRAVEL ROADS

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

MILWAUKEE, April 21.—The Ralph delegation of Missouri legislators today is investigating the Wisconsin gravel road system, which has been held up as a model by the opponents of permanent hard surfaced roads in Missouri. The schedule today calls for a drive from Milwaukee to Madison, a distance of 80 miles, most of the route being over gravel roads.

Senator Ralph saved the gravel road investigation to the last of a road tour of nearly three weeks. Up to this time the delegation has been viewing concrete, asphalt, warrenite and other types of so-called permanent roads.

The greater part of yesterday was devoted to an inspection of the concrete roads of Cook County, Ill., just outside Chicago, in company with George A. Quinlan, superintendent of highways of Cook County.

Virtually all the improved roads of Cook Couny are of concrete; the situation there is much the same as in St. Louis County, all of the important roads being the Chicago terminals of state roads, and virtually all of them being subjected to heavy travel by automobiles from the adjoining cities. Just as St. Louis County roads are terminals of roads from out in Missouri, and are subjected to heavy travel by automobiles from St. Louis.

Quinlan said that only concrete was now considered by his department for Cook County roads, and that it was his judgment as an engineer that no other type of road would stand the severe traffic strain to which roads outside a large city are subjected.

The concrete roads over which he took the delegation varied in cost from $11,000 per mile for a road constructed in 1914, to $53,000 per mile for a road constructed in 1920.

"The cost of construction of concrete roads is less than other so-called permanent types if proper foundations are laid," Quinlan said, "and the maintenance costs are much less, virtually the only maintenance cost on a properly constructed concrete road is the filling of natural cracks which develop in them. In the earlier concrete roads the tendency was to make them light—that is, the concrete was not heavy enough. While many of these roads have withstood the heaviest sort of traffic, others have cracked. We have profited by experience and while we have by no means stopped the cracking we are bothered much less than formerly. In fact, we now have very few cracks across our roads and we are overcoming to longitudinal cracking to a large extent by putting in expansion joints lengthwise of the roads. We do not believe in paying royalties on the patented roads and are not using patented materials in building our roads."

Some of the Cook County concrete roads which the delegation saw were built in 1914. They were roads leading directly into Chicago and carry very heavy traffic. To the delegation they appeared as good as new roads. Cracks in them filled with asphalt and did not seem to have damaged the roads.

CONCRETE ROADS IN ILLINOIS INSPECTED

Legislators, Nearing Completion of Tour, Have Examined All Types of Permanent Roads.

In fact, we now have very few cracks across our roads and we are overcoming to longitudinal cracking to a large extent by putting in expansion joints lengthwise of the roads. We do not believe in paying royalties on the patented roads and are not using patented materials in building our roads."

Some of the Cook County concrete roads which the delegation saw were built in 1914. They were roads leading directly into Chicago and carry very heavy traffic. To the delegation they appeared as good as new roads. Cracks in them filled with asphalt and did not seem to have damaged the roads.

DANCE CRAZE HITS JAPAN

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, March 9.—Western dancing is being actively taken up by the younger Japanese generation and is developing into a national craze. The fox trot, the waltz, the bunny hug and all fanciful steps are being learned to the tune of jazz music. And with the coming of the dancing fad, the conversation turns to jazz and to steps and to music. To the Japanese girls, the kimono and zori seem as comfortable as they glide around the dance floor as the costume of the American girl.

A Japanese newspaper says: "A dancing teacher is now as much a necessity to the Japanese student as a person well acquainted with the grammar of a foreign language—dancing seems to be included in the curriculum of most well-educated Japanese.

Former Secretary of State Tells of Further Differences With President Wilson on the Plan for the Establishment of a League of Nations in Peace Treaty.

CHAPTER VII.

Some Further Differences With President Wilson.

BY the time the President returned from his triumphal journey to Rome I had completed the articles upon which I had been working; at least they were in form for discussion. At a conference at the Hotel Crillon between President Wilson and the American commissioners on Jan. 7, I handed to him the draft articles, saying that they were supplemental to my letter of Dec. 23. He took them without comment and without making any reference to my unanswered letter.

The first two articles of the "International Agreement," as I termed the document, were identical in language with the memoranda dealing with a mutual covenant and with an international council which I had enclosed in my letter of Dec. 23. It is needless, therefore, to repeat them here.

Article III of the so-called "Agreement" was entitled "Peaceful Settlements of International Disputes," and read as follows:

CLAUSE 1.

In the event that there is a controversy between two or more members of the League of Nations which fails of settlement through diplomatic channels, one of the following means of settlement shall be employed:

1. The parties to the controversy shall constitute a joint commission to investigate and report jointly or severally to their Governments the facts and make recommendations as to settlement. After such report a further effort shall be made to reach a diplomatic settlement of the controversy.

2. The parties shall by agreement arrange for the submission of the controversy to arbitration mutually agreed upon, or to the Arbitral Tribunal hereinafter referred to.

"3. Any party may, unless the second means of settlement is mutually adopted, submit the controversy to the Supervisory Committee of the International Council; and the committee shall forthwith (a) name and direct a special commission to investigate and report upon the subject; (b) name and direct a commission to mediate between the parties to the controversy; or (c) direct the parties to submit the controversy to the Arbitral Tribunal for judicial settlement, it being understood that the direction to arbitrate may be made at any time in the event that investigation and mediation fail to result in a settlement of the controversy.

"CLAUSE 2.

"No party to a controversy shall assume any authority or perform any acts based upon disputed rights without authorization of the Supervisory Committee, such authorization being limited in all cases to the pendency of the controversy and its final settlement and being in no way prejudicial to the rights of the parties. An authorization thus granted by the Supervisory Committee may be modified or superseded by mutual agreement of the parties, by order of an arbitrator or arbitrators selected by the parties, or by order of the Arbitral Tribunal if the controversy is submitted to it.

"The foregoing clause shall not apply to cases in which the constituted authorities of a Power are unable or fail to give protection to the lives and property of nationals of another Power. In the event that it becomes necessary for a Power to use its military or naval forces to safeguard the lives or property of its nationals within the territorial jurisdiction of another Power, the facts and reasons for such action shall be forthwith reported to the Supervisory Committee, which shall determine the course of action to be adopted in order to protect the rights of all parties, and shall notify the same to the Governments involved which shall comply with such notification. In the event that a Government fails to comply therewith it shall be deemed to have violated the covenant and guaranty hereinbefore set forth."

The other articles follow:

"ARTICLE IV.

"REVISION OF ARBITRAL TRIBUNAL AND CODIFICATION OF INTERNATIONAL LAW.

"CLAUSE 1.

"The International Council, within one year after its organization, shall notify to the Powers signatory and adherent to this convention and shall invite all other Powers to send delegates to an international conference at such place and time as the Council may determine and not later than six months after issuance of such notification and invitation.

"CLAUSE 2.

"The International Conference shall consider the revision of the constitution and procedure of the Arbitral Tribunal and provisions for the amicable settlement of international disputes established by the I Treaty signed at The Hague in 1907, and shall formulate codes embodying the principles of international law applicable in time of peace and the rules of warfare on land and sea and in the air. The revision and codification when completed shall be embodied in a treaty or treaties.

"CLAUSE 3.

"The International Council shall prepare and submit with the notification and invitation above provided a preliminary program of the International Conference, which shall be subject to modification or amendment by the Conference.

"CLAUSE 4.

"Until the treaty of revision of the constitution and procedure of Arbitral Tribunal becomes operative the provisions of the I Treaty signed at The Hague in 1907 shall continue in force, and all references herein to the 'Arbitral Tribunal' shall be understood to be the Tribunal constituted under the I Treaty, but upon the treaty of revision coming into force the references shall be construed as applying to the Arbitral Tribunal therein constituted.

"ARTICLE V.

"PUBLICATION OF TREATIES AND AGREEMENTS.

"CLAUSE 1.

"Each Power, signatory or adherent to this convention, severally agrees with all other parties hereto that it will not exchange the ratification of any treaty or convention hereinafter entered into by it with any other Power until 30 days after the full text of such treaty or convention has been published in the public press of the parties thereto and a copy has been filed with the Secretariat of the League of Nations.

"CLAUSE 2.

"No international agreement, to which a Power signatory or adherent to this convention is a party, shall become operative or be put in force until published and filed as aforesaid.

"CLAUSE 3.

"All treaties, conventions and agreements, to which a Power, signatory or adherent to this convention, is a party, and which are in force or to come into force and which have not been heretofore published, shall within six months after the signature of this convention be published and filed as aforesaid or abrogated or denounced.

"ARTICLE VI.

"EQUALITY OF COMMERICAL PRIVILEGES.

"The Powers, signatory and adherent to this convention agree jointly and severally not to discriminate against or in favor of any Power in the matter of commerce or trade or of industrial privileges; and they further agree that all treaties, conventions and agreements now in force or to come into force or hereinafter negotiated shall be considered as subject to the 'most favored nation' doctrine, whether they contain or do not contain a clause to that effect. It is specifically declared that it is the purpose of this article not to limit any Power in imposing upon commerce and trade such restrictions and burdens as it may deem proper but to make such impositions apply equally and impartially to all other Powers, their nationals and ships.

"This article shall not apply, however, to any case, in which a Power has committed an unfriendly act against the members of the League of Nations as defined in Article I and in which commercial and trade relations are denied or restricted by agreements between the members as a measure of restoration or protection of the rights of a Power injured by such unfriendly act."

Guaranty the Cause of Split.

These proposed articles, which were intended for discussion before drafting the provisions constituting a League of Nations and which did not purport to be a completed document, are given in full because there seems no simpler method of showing the differences between the President and me as to the form, functions and authority of an international organization. They should be compared with the draft of the "covenant" which the President had when these proposed articles were handed to him; the text of the President's draft appears in the appendix (Page 283). Comparison will disclose the irreconcilable differences between the two projects.

Of these differences the most vital was in the character of the international guaranty of territorial and political sovereignty. That difference has already been discussed. The second in importance was the practical repudiation by the President of the doctrine of the equality of nations, which, as has been shown, was an unavoidable consequence of an affirmative guaranty which he had declared to be absolutely essential to an effective world union. The repudiation, though by indirection, was none the less evident in the recognition in the President's plan of the primacy of the great Powers through giving them a permanent majority on the "Executive Council" which body substantially controlled the activities of the league. A third marked difference was in Mr. Wilson's exaltation of the executive power of the league and the subordination of the administration of legal justice to that power, and in my advocacy of an independent international judiciary, whose decisions would be final and whose place in the organization of the nations would be superior, since I considered a judicial tribunal the most practical agency for removing causes of war.

The difference as to international courts and the importance of applied legal justice requires further consideration in order to understand the divergence of views which existed as to the fundamental idea of organization of the league.

President Wilson in his covenant, as at first submitted to the American Commissioners, made no provision for the establishment of a world court of justice, and no reference of any sort was made to The Hague Tribunal of Arbitration. It is not, in my opinion, a misstatement to say that the President intentionally omitted judicial means of composing international disputes, preferring to leave settlements of that sort to arrangement between the parties or else to the body of delegates or the Executive Council, both of which bodies being essentially diplomatic or political in their composition would lack the judicial point of view, since their members would presumably be influenced by their respective national interests and by political considerations rather than by a desire and purpose to do impartial justice by applying legal principles.

His Fears of Arbitration.

It is true that in Article V of the first draft of the covenant (appendix, page 287) there is an agreement to submit to arbitration certain classes of controversies and a method of selecting arbitrators is provided—a method, by the way, which the actual experience of a century has shown to be the least satisfactory in administering legal justice, since it almost inevitably leads to a compromise which impairs the just rights of one of the parties. But, to my mind, a provision far more objectionable than the antiquated and unsatisfactory method of arbitration provided, was that which made an arbitral award reviewable on appeal to the body of delegates of the league, which could set aside the award even if the arbitrators had rendered a unanimous decision and compel a rehearing before other arbitrators. International arbitration as a method of applying the principles of justice to disputes between nations would, in the first insance at least, have become a farce if this provision had been adopted. As an award based on compromise is seldom, if ever, satisfactory to both parties, the right of appeal would in substantially every case have been invoked and the award would have been reviewed by the body of delegates, who would practically render a final decision, since the new arbitrators would presumably adopt it. The effect of this provision as to appeals was, therefore, to supplant judicial settlements by political compromises and diplomatic adjustments, in which the national interests of the judges, many of whom would be untrained in judicial procedure, would be decided, if not deciding, factors. Manifestly the expediency of the moment would be far more potent in the decisions reached than the principles and precepts of international law.

I shall not express here my opinion as to the reasons which I believe impelled the President to insert in the covenant these extraordinary provisions which deprived arbitral courts of that independence of the executive authority which has been in modern times considered essential to the impartial administration of justice. But, when one considers how jealously and effectively the Constitution of the United States and the constitutions of the various states of the Union guard the judiciary from executive and legislative interference, the proposal in the President's plan for a League of Nations to abandon that great principle in

4 APPROPRIATION BILLS, CARRYING 11 MILLION, SIGNED

Hyde Vetoes Measure Extending Recognition to Chiropractors and Bill to Reduce Franchise Tax.

CRITICISES BILL TO PAY COUNTRY PRESS

Says Former Secretary of State Paid Six Times More Than Amendment Printing Was Worth.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 21.—Gov. Hyde last night signed four appropriation bills carrying a total of $11,222,816.63, of which $8,053,416.33 will come from the general revenue and the remainder from special funds and fees of departments, vetoed the corporation franchise tax reduction bill, a bill extending recognition to chiropractors, and the Aloe bill which would have permitted the St. Louis Board of Estimates and Apportionments to have had an equal voice with the Police Board in determining the budget for the St. Louis Police Department.

Hyde allowed to die without action, bills abolishing the $1000 fine which may be imposed on city officials of St. Louis for failure to make appropriations for the Police department and one providing that the State pay half the expenses of conducting the office of License Collector in St. Louis.

The 30 days after adjournment of the Legislature, within which a Governor may act upon bills passed by the General Assembly, expired at midnight last night, and during the four hours preceding that time, Hyde passed upon 22 measures, of which he signed five, vetoed six and allowed 12 to die without action.

Among other things the corporation franchise tax measure provided for reducing the tax from one-tenth of one per cent to three-fo tieths of one per cent. Hyde received numerous briefs from attorneys who desired that the bill be signed and held a hearing on it. In explaining his veto, Hyde, in part, wrote:

"This bill as originally introduced reduced the rate of the corporation franchise tax from one-tenth to one-twentieth of one per cent. If the bill were in that form now it would be signed readily but during the time the bill was on passage it was amended to define 'surplus' as used in the original act to be 'the difference between capital stock and assets less liabilities.'

"The Attorney-General advises me that the validity of the corporation franchise tax law is before the United States Supreme Court upon careful prepared briefs and that a decision is daily expected.

Bill Would Change Law.

The Attorney-General further states that if this bill defining 'surplus' is signed, it will make a material change in the law. That the Supreme Court of Missouri by construction places the tax upon the corporate right to transact business, measured by the amount of its assets and that the Supreme Court of Missouri in so establishing the measure of the tax by implication held that a construction of the law in accordance with the definition of 'surplus' written into this bill, would make the original corporation franchise tax act void because unconstitutional as double taxation.

"With the view of having a law written which will answer the objections made in the courts to this law and which, at the same time, will be constitutional and valid, imposing a rate which will not be objectionable, I am withholding approval from this bill.

"Before the special session is called we shall, no doubt, have the opinion of the United States Supreme Court and can write such new law in the light of that opinion."

Senate Bill No. 171, which would have provided for a Board of Examiners to license chiropractors to practice in Missouri, was vetoed. The bill was the subject of vigorous debates in the committees, and on the floors of both houses, as it had been during several preceding sessions. It was fought by most of the medical societies of the State.

In explaining his veto of the chiropractors' bill, Hyde, in part, said:

"I veto, object to, and return such act without my signature for the reason that there is no school of medicine or of healing in the State which is permitted to license its practitioners with less than a four-year course of study. This bill provides for a three-year course only.

Thinks Four-Year Study Proper.

"It is only fair that all schools be on an equality in the matter of the length of time required in study. To permit one school to graduate its practitioners in a shorter time than others, would not be just to existing schools."

The two bills, drawn at the instance of President Aloe of the Board of Aldermen, which sought in a measure to give St. Louis home rule of its Police Department, were submitted to Hyde, along with another drawn at Aloe's instructions, before their introduction in the House by Representative Davidson. The third bill authorized the Mayor of St. Louis to take charge of the Police Department in an emergency. It was passed and signed by the Governor some time ago.

Hyde, in explaining his veto of the one bill, said:

"This bill provides that the President of the Police Board shall have no vote. I think this provision was left in the act entirely by inadvertence, but it would be unthinkable to pass such an act leaving one of the parties most deeply interested entirely without a voice in the conference between the Police Board and Board of Estimate."

The act provided that members of the two boards should vote with equal voice, except the President of the Police Board, who was to preside, and prescribed that in event of a tie the Governor should cast the deciding vote.

The bill by Senator Ralph, forbidding the establishment of cemeteries except upon written petition signed by three-fourts of the assessed taxpaying citizens owning property within one mile of the specified location, and said to be aimed at the negro cemeteries being established in St. Louis County, also was vetoed by Hyde, who gave his reasons as follows:

"I am advised that restrictions upon burial grounds are very necessary in St. Louis County and in other thickly populated sections of the State, in order to stop the depredation of speculating upon realty values in residence districts but I cannot overlook the fact that in practically every small city and town in the State the cemetery is located near the city limits and that it would be impossible to open any new or additional cemeteries without obtaining a petition signed by three-fourths of the taxpayers within a radius of a mile of the cemetery.

"This would make it practically impossible in such towns and cities to establish new cemetery facilities. The general purpose of this law is good and I have no doubt that a proper law can and will be speedily enacted in order to protect the home in suburban districts."

Small Allowances Vetoed.

In signing the general deficiency bill, embodying items totaling $1,574,666.67 from the State institutions and departments, Hyde vetoed a number of small allowances, among them being that for $7833.33 to compensate E. S. Lewis of St. Louis for

Harding's Task Greatest Since Problems of Lincoln, Apponyi Writes

American President's Work Is Economic Reconstruction of World on Basis of Society of Nations, Hungarian Statesman Says.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 21.—President Harding has before him the greatest task of any President since Lincoln, and that task is the economic reconstruction of the world on the basis of a society of nations, says Count Albert Apponyi, veteran Hungarian statesman, for 50 years a member of the Hungarian Parliament, writing from Budapest to the American Magyar Nepscava.

Saying that Europe can only hope for better things from two "unknowns," the revival of Russia and a departure in American politics, Count Apponyi says:

"America has to face three problems of foreign policy:

"The problem of peace.

"The problem of the Society of Nations.

"The economic problem.

"As to the first one it appears from former declarations that the new administration will hardly feel inclined to accept any responsibility for the peace treaties as concluded between the European belligerents. The United States Government will find some form of putting formally an end to the state of war without assuming such responsibility. If that provision proves true, if there is a great power in a commanding position which stands outside the tangle of the aforementioned peace treaties, a basis is found for the work of revision, which, sooner or later, has to set in.

Objections to League.

"The objectionable features of the solution of the Society of Nations problem as embodied in the peace treaties are mainly two:

"The lack of universality and the assumption of too extended responsibilities. On grounds of former opposition many nations remain excluded and can expect admission only through a humiliating procedure. This must be done away with if the Society of Nations is to be what her name indicates and not merely a new form of old alliances.

"We find in Article 10 and several others a general obligation to take part in acts of coercion against nations not complying with the society's dictates, which no nation can in good faith accept by forehand, as in many cases such action might be contrary to its own vital interest. This, too, must be amended."

Speaking of the charitable work of the United States in the afflicted countries of Europe, Count Apponyi adds:

"But this does not exhaust her mission in the world economics. She alone can start efficient action for universal recovery; she will have to do it in her own interest, because her situation as a producer anxious for markets, as a capitalist anxious for investments, is almost the same as the situation of the victorious nations in Europe.

Economic Problems.

"Nations unwilling to join hands in political reconciliation are lashed by their daily wants into compliance with the great law of economic interdependence. Their minds are fully prepared for this, but, to overcome still lurking reluctances, some powerful voice from the outside must proclaim what everybody feels, but is loath openly to own to and to act upon. That voice can be Aemrica's only.

"But all this points toward a wholesale revision of the work of peace, clumsily done by those who undertook to construct a new Europe, without regard to the organic forces which supported the old framework and without any capacity to create new ones.

"Economic reconstruction is urgent, but it cannot be obtained on the basis of political constructions which are set up in defiance of economic laws. Gigantic work has to be done, if our civilization is to be saved.

"Never, since Abraham Lincoln's time, had an American President such a glorious task outlined for him as Mr. Harding has; never were the destinies of the great American Commonwealth so full of universal meaning; never was leadership in the struggle for salvation so clearly within its grasp as at the present fateful hour."

CHANGES IN ADMINISTERING CANAL ZONE CONTEMPLATED

Secretary Weeks to Visit Panama to Gather Data on Which to Base the Reorganization.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Widespread changes in the methods of administering the Panama Canal Zone by the War Department, particularly as regards the pay, privileges and allowances of the civil establishment, are expected to follow a visit to the zone to be made soon by Secretary Weeks. The War Secretary announced yesterday that as soon as he could spare the time he would go there with the view of gathering data on which to base a reorganization of the entire method of administration, which, he declared, is now conducted extravagantly.

Employes of the Canal Zone receive much higher pay than Government employes in the United States proper, Weeks said, and in addition are allowed 60 days' leave a year, free quarters, reduced transportation to and from the United States, the privilege of buying all commodities at cost from the Government commissaries and other requisites.

These inducements were originally offered when the United States went into Panama to build the canal, Secretary Weeks declared, because of the unhealthful climate.

The present cost of administration of the Canal Zone, exclusive of the military forces, is about $800,000 a month.

A. E. Forces at Coblenz Maintained American Soldier's Reputation as Eater of Sweets.

By the Associated Press.

COBLENZ, April 21.—American soldiers, whose predilection for sweets has often caused Frenchmen to gasp with amazement are still world champions in this respect, it is shown by figures compiled at the Cafeteria, the largest restaurant in Coblenz, under the management of the Y. M. C. A.

During the past year, American doughboys ate at that restaurant alone 232,138 puddings, 475,843 tarts and cakes, 310,874 cookies, and doughnuts, 63,151 cream puffs and eclairs, 624,906 dishes of ice cream, 366,351 chocolate sundaes, 61,378 pies, 223,787 apples and other fruit, 282,741 glasses of lemonade and 43,792 oranges. Eggs were also "played across the board," the total number consumed being 211,195.

CITY BUDGET OF $15,128,316 FOR THE COMING YEAR

Estimate Board Trims Requests of Departments in Effort to Make Up $1,000,000 Deficit.

NEW DEFICIT OF $500,000 PROBABLE

City Firemen, to Get an 8-Hour Day, Must Submit to Wage Reduction or Evolve Some Other Plan.

The budget for city department expenditures during the current fiscal year was compiled at $15,128,316.70 yesterday by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, which is composed of the Mayor, Comptroller and President of the Board of Aldermen. The board's action is a recommendation to the Board of Aldermen which officially fixes the sum, usually following closely the recommendations made.

The budget total is $4,889,373.73 less than the total of the estimates of amounts needed prepared by the various city departments. The board figured that the present deficit of approximately $1,000,000 will be absorbed in the budget, but that a new deficit of approximately $500,000 will be established at the end of the year, despite the fact that about $1,000,000 additional taxes will be collected.

There remains to be added to the budget provision for the city sinking and interest fund for bonds and expenditures by the Water Department, which will bring the total budget figure to approximately $21,000,000. However, this figure does not take into account the receipts from water service.

The appropriation in the budget for the Fire Department was increased only $15,000, to $1,484,000, which is $960,000 less than the sum necessary to establish the three-platoon system recently voted in the city election.

Attitude as to Firemen.

Associate City Counselor Hamilton warned the board that the establishment of the three-platoon system was mandatory. Comptroller Nolte said to Director of Public Safety McKelvey and Fire Chief Panzer: "It's up to you gentlemen to work out some plan under the ordinance. That's all the money there is for you. It looks as if pay will have to be reduced. We have to obey the law and we have to do it with the money that is available."

Director McKelvey and Chief Panzer said that some small sum might be saved by removing district chiefs, captains and lieutenants from the classified list and hence from the eight-hour provision, and that they would start work on some plan immediately.

The budget includes $50,000 for the establishment of a girl's industrial farm, similar to Bellefontaine Farm for Boys.

There is no added sum provided for the Health Department for close inspection of milk. President Aloe of the Board of Aldermen stated that he wanted it understood that he and the Board of Aldermen were under pledge to provide better milk inspection at such time as the Federal Government concluded its present survey of milk conditions here and make recommendations for betterment. "That's a health measure, I'm for it." Comptroller Nolte remarked. Mayor Kiel also gave assent. "That will have to be cared for by special appropriation," Aloe declared. "The board intends to make good on its pledge."

Items Reduced in Budget.

Examples of the items in which the estimates of city departments were cut in the budget follow:

Efficiency Board—Asked $32,201, granted $27,000; Assessor's office, asked $154,283, granted $139,540; License Collector, asked $71,103, granted $67,200; street openings, asked $36,000, granted $26,000; elections and registrations, asked $230,000, granted $209,000; Recorder of Deeds, asked $149,252, granted $134,580; City Marshal, asked $60,221, granted $57,400; Board of Public Service, asked $461,644, granted $303,050; Department of Public Utilities, asked $64,380, granted $59,380; power plants, asked $365,132, granted $273,000; light division, asked $1,282,079, granted $1,150,000; Department of Streets and Sewers, asked $2,995,326, granted $2,555000; garbage reduction, asked $100,000, granted $75,000; Park Department, asked $926,854, granted $746,000.

services rendered as Excise Commissioner of St. Louis after prohibition went into effect. Hyde said he realized that Lewis is entitled to remuneration for his work for the city of St. Louis and the State, but held that the amount asked is out of proportion to the services rendered, stating that Lewis in the period involved collected only $8000 for the State. A section allowing John E. Mooney and S. Mark Dodd $916 each for services as Excise Commissioners of St. Louis County, and P. C. Bruno $452 as clerk to those commissioners, was untouched.

Hyde took occasion in passing to censure John L. Sullivan, former Secretary of State, for spending $145,241.55 for publication of the constitutional amendments in one paper each in the 114 counties of the State, previous to the November election. The Governor said:

"In House bill 746, Section 29, is an appropriation for $145,241.55 for publishing constitutional amendments. The appropriation is made to pay certain newspapers in the State which published such amendments.

Boiler Plate Amendments.

"I do not veto this item, but I cannot pass the same without recording a strong protest against it. This item means that one newspaper in each county in Missouri receives about $1270 for the publication of the constitutional amendments at the last election. Those constitutional amendments covered 31-6 pages. There was no typesetting to be done by the individual papers, as the whole matter was set up in what is known as boiler plate, and shipped to the several papers.

"I am satisfied that there are few country newspapers in the State who would charge a private concern more than $30 a page for their space, especially when there was no typesetting to do. The actual service rendered to the State therefor, would be not to exceed $160 per newspaper, upon the basis of their private business. For this service they have been allowed by Mr. Sullivan, former Secretary of State, the sum of $1270 each.

"I do not veto the item because certificates have passed to and behas been pledged, certificates issued and signed by Mr. Sullivan, which certificaytes have passed to and become the property of banks in the State in regular course of business and innocent parties ought not to be made to suffer.

"I, therefore, feel that, in justice to the innocent purchasers of these certificates, I can only protest against it, but I cannot pass the matter without calling the attention of the people of the State to such a gross abuse of powers lodged by law in a public official."

Appropriations totaling $440,016.37 in the general contingent bill were vetoed by Hyde, leaving in the measure a total of $4,847,622.63. Among the deletions was one item for $50,000 to have been apportioned among district and county fairs for premiums and one for $200,000 for Confederate pensions. A provision for $275,000 for back pensions to the Confederate veterans was allowed to stand, as was the appropriation to the Confederate Home. A large part of the other eliminations covered items on bills which had failed to pass.

Salary Bills Approved.

The civil salaries bill, appropriating $1,622,760 to pay salaries of officers of the State Departments, and another appropriating $8,169,400 from fees and funds available to certain of the State departments, were signed. The latter bill also carried an item of $16,000,000 "or such portion as may be required," to the fund for the improvement of post roads, which, in fact, is a "paper" appropriation, designed to include money which becomes available for road improvement, to enable its use in matching with Federal money apportioned to Missouri for road building.

Before signing these and other appropriation bills, which apportion $19,969,553.30 from the general revenue, Hyde obtained waivers from the heads of all of the departments effected by the administration job bills, should those consolidation measures become effective. These waivers provide that the departments involved will not expend more than one-fourth of the funds appropriated to them which would carry all to June 19, when the job bills would go into effect, barring suspension by referendum procedure.

Hyde also had written into all of the appropriation bills, except three, a provision that none of the money apportioned by them shall be expended until he has filed with the Auditor a specific release for the sum involved.

Among the bills allowed by Hyde to die without action, were the following:

To establish branch laboratories of the State Board of Health in county; making 21 years the age of majority for girls; enabling cities of the fourth class to become cities of the third class.

GIRL, 8, SHOOTS SELF IN HEAD

Suffers Scalp Wound When Playing With Revolver.

Alma Holstein, 8 years old, of 4217A Olive street, was accidentally shot in the side of the head last night while toying with a revolver she had taken from a drawer in a furniture store conducted by her father, Walter, at 4216 Olive street. Doctors said the bullet had gone only through the scalp.

Police reported the child had found the weapon while playing and was examining it when a clerk, George Counts, 18 years old, saw her and started to grab the weapon away. The action startled the child and in her hurry to lay it down she accidentally pulled the trigger.

A Brain Can't Work Right on Thin, Watery Blood

It takes iron to make strong, magnetic, forceful men with the power and energy to win.

Many a capable intelligent man falls just short of success — nearly "gets there" but not quite—simply because he lacks sufficient iron in his blood to give him the physical strength and power to furnish the proper FORCE TO HIS BRAIN and the "STAY THERE" STRENGTH TO HIS "WILL."

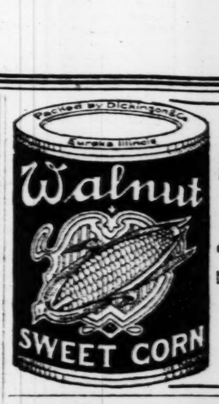

THERE ARE 30,000,000,000,000 RED BLOOD CORPUSCLES IN YOUR BLOOD and each one must have iron as iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living cells and tissues and to carry oxygen from your lungs to your brain. Without this your brain cannot do its work right—THINK THE THOUGHTS THAT WIN—any more than a locomotive can pull a big train of cars with a weak, smoldering fire under its boiler.

WHEN YOUR BLOOD IS STARVING FOR IRON no mere tonics nor stimulants can put you right. You must have iron. To get iron you must eat the husks of grains and the peels and skins of fruits and vegetables as our forefathers did or take a little organic iron from time to time and eat more such iron-containing foods as spinach and apples. But be sure that the iron you take is organic iron, and not metallic or mineral iron which people usually take. Metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron, and is therefore an entirely different thing from organic iron. Organic iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. It may be had from you druggist under the name of Nuxated Iron. Nuxated iron represents organic iron in such highly condensed form that one dose of it is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in organic iron content) to eating one-half quart of spinach, one quart of green vegetables or half a dozen apples. It's like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat.

Over 4,000,000 people annually are using Nuxated Iron. It will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. A few doses will often commence to enrich your blood, give you new strength and energy and help revitalize your wornout, exhausted nerves, and thereby greatly strengthen your will power and aid in restoring your failing memory. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results.

Beware of substitutes. Always insist on having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters N. I. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists in tablet form only.

INCOME TAX RETURNS INCREASE THIS YEAR

Gov. Hyde May Ask Legislature in Special Session to Reduce Levy.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 21.—Reports from 31 of the 114 counties in the State indicate that the State revenues from income taxes this year will exceed the collections last year by a large percentage. Only one county with a big return is included in the list received by the State Auditor, however, and it is possible that the returns from St. Louis city, where corporation incomes are expected to show a decrease, will pull down the grand total.

Last year St. Louis paid nearly one-half of the State income tax total of a little more than $3,000,000. Kansas City paid approximately one-fourth of the total, and the remainder of the State paid the remaining one-fourth. The assessor of Jackson County, in which Kansas City is located, has informed the State Auditor informally that the returns from Kansas City and Jackson County this year will exceed those of last year.

Jasper County, in which is located Joplin, Carthage and Webb City, is the only county with a large return to make a report so far. The figures from there show a decrease from $64,903.47 in 1920 to $52,752.76 for 1921.

The total taxes assessed in the 31 counties that have reported are $179,438.43, as compared with $126,670.77 for the same counties in 1920, an increase of $52,767.66. In arriving at the total reported last year, 40 per cent of the amount assessed was deducted because of a refund of that amount allowed. Following is a table showing the counties that have reported this year and the amounts reported from each county last year. The 1920 totals set opposite each county for 1920 include the 40 per cent which was not deducted on the assessment sheets:

COUNTY.	1921	1920
Adair	$ 12,242.84	$ 9,878.81
Andrew	4,106.90	5,325.23
Audrain	13,242.12	11,900.57
Benton	2,072.50	2,564.39
Bollinger	660.80	694.21
Callaway	6,167.95	7,888.99
Crawford	773.55	699.49
Dade	435.86	2,494.96
DeKalb	3,006.56	4,825.25
Dent	1,814.28	748.02
Douglas	247.77	464.40
Franklin	6,504.39	7,537.94
Grundy	6,066.83	7,063.41
Howell	3,040.17	3,043.95
Jasper	52,752.76	64,903.47
Jefferson	8,107.68	11,619.84
Madison	1,264.36
Lincoln	3,200.56	6,484.41
McDonald	1,000.40	1,320.33
Montgomery	3,236.20	4,523.30
Nodaway	11,284.55	13,845.63
Osage	1,212.18	2,199.16
Ozark	1,750.92	3,450.51
Ray	12,013.87	12,157.81
Schuyler	2,351.75	3,758.67
Scott	8,961.94	11,006.02
Shelby	4,852.53	5,663.71
Sullivan	3,138.92	5,421.63
Wayne	2,445.37	2,148.92
Worth	1,011.18	2,093.15
Totals	$179,438.43	$211,117.95

Deducting 40 per cent from the 1921 total for these counties leaves a total of $126,670.77 and deducting this total from the total reported for 1921 gives an increase of $52,767.66 for these counties. The rate of taxation is 1½ per cent on all incomes in excess of the exemptions which are the same as those allowed by the federal government.

Gov. Hyde has indicated that he may include in his call for a special session of the Legislature a request that the income tax rate be reduced. He recently vetoed such a bill passed by the regular session last winter, giving as his reason the fact that the law was retroactive and that its approval would endanger the State treasury because of the loss of too great an amount of needed revenues.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

As remarkable for the family washing as Lux is for silks, woolens and all fine laundering

The big, heavy things—soaked clean with this new product

IF your whole week's washing consisted of handkerchiefs and tea napkins, Monday would never have become the day of drudgery that it is. It's the big, bulky, hard-to-handle things that have made washing such a dreaded task.

There are the sheets. The bedspreads that never show how gray and dingy they are till you actually get them in the tubs. And the bath towels and bath mats soiled from lying on the bathroom floor. These are the things that make you hate washday.

The new way of washing makes these heavy things almost as easy to launder as the handkerchiefs.

Rinso is made of finer quality ingredients than ever were used before in a soap for the family washing. In these pure, mild suds your clothes soak as safely as in water alone. For Rinso is so harmless it does not even redden your hands.

Soak your clothes overnight in a tub of Rinso suds. In the morning a thorough rinsing carries off all the dirt, leaving the clothes spotlessly clean.

Rinso softens hard water. Where hard water is used make an increased amount of the "soap liquid" according to directions on the package, and continue adding it to your tub of cold water until you have a good rich suds.

Start using Rinso next Monday. Use it for all your clothes except the dainty things you always wash with Lux. Get a package from your grocer or any department store. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

TRIAL OF P. J. KIEFFER CONTINUED UNTIL SEPTEMBER

St. Louis West Point Graduate Accused of Perjury in Arkansas Divorce Suit.

By the Associated Press.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., April 21.—Cases of P. J. Kieffer of St. Louis, West Point graduate and former Major at Camp Pike, Ark., and George E. Jones, Little Rock, attorney, charged with forgery and perjury, set for Tuesday in Circuit Court here, were continued for the term yesterday and will come up at the September term.

The charges grew out of the securing of a divorce by Kieffer from Beatrice Brett Kieffer of New York, by alleged fraudulent means, on March 27, 1920. The same day Kieffer married Ruth Albright, a vaudeville actress, at Benton. His divorce was set aside on May 15, 1920, after his first wife had filed suit alleging that a power of attorney bearing her signature, was a forgery.

500 NEW LEGION MEMBERS

Memberships Will Be Solicited at Picture Shows Tonight.

Incomplete reports show that more than 500 new members have been obtained so far in the American Legion's membership campaign, in progress this week. Solicitation for members will begin tonight at neighborhood picture theaters, and an effort will be made to have the campaign mentioned in all churches Sunday.

Meetings are held daily at noon at Twelfth and Olive and Tenth and Olive streets.

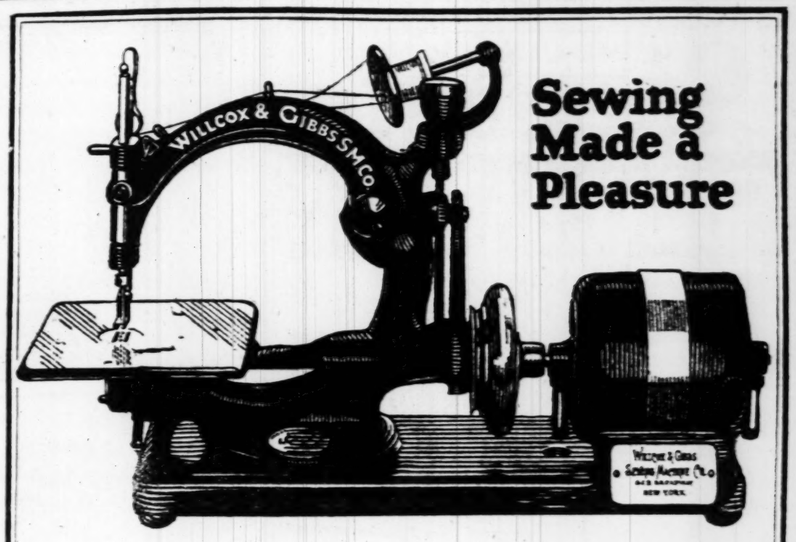

LANSING TELLS OF FURTHER DIFFERENCES WITH HIS CHIEF

the settlement of international disputes of a justiciable nature causes speculation as to Mr. Wilson's real opinion of the American political system which emphasizes the separation and independence of the three co-ordinate branches of government.

That a provision found its way into the draft of the covenant, which the President, on Feb. 3, 1919, laid before the Commission on the League of Nations, declaring for the creation by the league of a permanent court of international justice, was not due, I feel sure, to any spontaneous thought on the part of President Wilson.

Mr. Lansing, in his tomorrow's installment, will tell in the Post-Dispatch how Mr. Wilson's guaranty policy tended to perpetuate the much-denounced "balance of power."

$1,571,641,000, TOTAL OF ST. LOUIS BUSINESS IN YEAR

Sales by St. Louis merchants and manufacturers increased $354,105,000, or 29 per cent, during the fiscal year ending May 31, 1920, over the preceding year, according to the annual report of License Collector Chapman, issued today. The volume of sales for the last year was $1,571,641,000, compared with $1,217,536,000 for the previous year.

Subdivided, the figures for last year are $707,250,000 for merchants, compared with $544,811,000 for the prior year, and $864,391,000 for manufacturers, compared with $672,725 for the prior year.

Chapman regards the increase due to both increased business and high prices. He expects a decline in the next report. The tax yield at $1 for each $1000 of sales and $1.24 per $100 of stock valuation for merchants and manufacturers was $1,878,599, compared with $1,476,884 for the prior year, or an increase of $401,515.

Stock carried by merchants was valued for purposes of taxation at $64,247,400 for merchants and $89,231,600 for manufacturers, or a total of $153,479,000.

The total collection of Chapman was $4,424,712, compared with $3,323,042 for the prior year, or $1,101,670 increase.

The various funds were credited as follows from the receipts:

	Last Year.	Prior Year.
State revenue	$ 274,303	$213,854
State interest	15,370	12,993
Capitol building	30,740	25,987
Art Museum	30,740	25,987
Zoo	30,740	25,987
School bond interest	46,110	39,980
Library	61,480	51,974
School tax	1,152,203	779,617

The automobile licenses yielded $207,878, compared with $174,670 the prior year. The ½-cent-a-gallon tax on gasoline sales yielded $134,618. This was a new tax last year. The expenses of Chapman's office for the collection were $59,340.

Interurban Bus Line Proposed.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 21.—A petition has been filed with the Public Utilities Commission by the Red Line Motor Co. asking for permission to operate bus lines between Collinsville and East St. Louis, Troy, Edwardsville and Granite City. The East St. Louis Suburban Railway Co. filed an intervening petition.

ARE YOU CONGENIAL?

Thin-Blooded, Sick-Looking Men and Women Lack Enthusiasm

THEY NEED PEPTO-MANGAN

Red-Blooded, Healthy-Looking Folks Get Along Well Because They Feel Good.

There is a thrill in glowing good health. You see it in the enthusiasm and good cheer of congenial people. Fatigue, bad color, dull eyes and listless feelings do not attract other people. You are not congenial when you are run down.

Nearly everybody gets out of sorts occasionally. They are positively unhappy for weeks and constantly tired and gloomy. Perhaps you are that way and can see no reason why. But there is a reason. More than likely it is because of bad blood. Temporarily your blood needs help. Pepto-Mangan is a well-known and very successful remedy for poor blood. It supplies what your blood needs. You pick up and become your old self again; your blood works as it should, keeping you fresh and alert, congenial and happy and strong.

Pepto-Mangan is sold in both liquid and tablet form. Both contain the same medicinal ingredients. One is as effective as the other.

Buy Pepto-Mangan at your druggist's. Be sure the name "Gude's" is on the package. Without the name "Gude's" it is not Pepto-Mangan.

INGROWN TOE NAILS

Nail Turns Out Itself if you Toughen Skin Underneath

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

HUGHES DENIES TAKING STAND ON IMMIGRATION

State Department Says Recommendations Attributed to Secretary Were Part of Consular Reports.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—A formal statement issued yesterday by the State Department said that Secretary Hughes "did not make and did not intend to make any recommendations whatever regarding immigration," in transmitting to Congress reports from American Government agents abroad dealing with the movement of emigrants to the United States.

It was stated in an Associated Press dispatch last night that Hughes had made such a recommendation, and he also was quoted as saying that "Our restriction on immigration should be so rigid that it would be impossible for most of these people to enter the United States," reference being made "especially to Armenians, Jews, Persians and Russians."

Quotation in Report.

As a matter of fact that quotation appeared in a paraphrase of a report from the American Consul at Tiflis relating to peoples in that district which was among a number of similar reports transmitted to the House and Senate Immigration Committees by Hughes after Chairman Johnson, of the House committee, had asked for information on the subject.

Publications of extracts from the Government reports was the subject of discussion today in the House. Representative Chandler, Republican, New York, who formerly was Consul in the United States for Letvia and Lithuania, took exception to an official Government report which said that Letts and Lithuanians seeking to leave for the United States were largely people from the slums, the vast majority of them "Jews of the undesirable type." He declared that whoever made that report "communicated to this Government that which is absolutely false."

"I do not believe that Mr. Hughes authorized this or any similar report," said Chandler. "It came from abroad. Mr. Hughes is too big and noble brained to consent to anything of that kind."

Says Hughes Read Reports.

Chairman Johnson said he thought Mr. Hughes had read all of the reports before sending them to Congress and that he knew that he had signed the letter of transmittal.

Representative Siegel, Republican, New York, interrupted to say that Hughes signed the letter in the usual course.

Johnson said if there was to be a dispute about the matter he would send to the State Department for all of the reports but that he thought it would be bad judgment to do so.

Chandler agreed with him and the discussion was closed.

GARAGE MAN ACQUITTED IN DRY LAW CASE

Jury Frees Edward Martin, in Whose Place Policemen Said They Found Three Stills.

Edward Martin, proprietor of a garage at 5841 Delmar boulevard, was acquitted by a jury in the Court of Criminal Correction yesterday at his trial on a charge of manufacturing intoxicating liquor in the garage. He was arrested there March 23 last, a few hours after he had returned to St. Louis with a bride.

Special Policemen Linder and Reinwald testified that they raided the garage on the day of the arrest and found three stills operating in a room which had been constructed in a corner of the garage. They also confiscated 28 barrels of corn mash, 65 gallons of corn whisky and some coloring matter.

Denied Knowledge of Stills.

As the case was about to go to trial yesterday it was learned that the three stills seized in the garage were among those which were sold and destroyed last Tuesday by order of the Board of Police Commissioners. Prosecuting Attorney Oakley was indignant and said the police had destroyed some of the best evidence in the case. At the trial the defense admitted that the stills were found in the garage, and after the verdict was returned the Prosecuting Attorney said that in view of this admission the destruction of the stills did not seriously hamper the State in the presentation of its case.

Martin's defense was that he did not know the stills were in his garage. He testified that he built the extra room for storage of automobile parts, but that business became slack and he had no use for it. He said he rented the room March 10 to a man whose name he could not recall. He was married March 17 and went to Buffalo, N. Y.

Testimony for Defendant.

Several of Martin's employes testified that the room was not used by Martin, but was rented to a man who said he was "doing some experimenting."

The whisky seized at the garage was offered in evidence along with an analytical report by the City Chemist that it contained 78 per cent alcohol. The jury was out less than 10 minutes.

Scales Placed in Schools.

The Junior Red Cross in St. Louis is placing in schools that are auxiliary members of that organization scales to enable school authorities to keep themselves informed on undernourishment and the number of pupils under weight.

BAGBY YIELDS 5 HITS AND DEFEATS BROWNIES, 4 TO 3

CLEVELAND, O., April 21.—The best ball club in the world returned to its own back yard today to battle the Browns of St. Louis in Cleveland's inaugural series. The clubs were not favored with the best baseball weather in the world. Sullen, frowning clouds completely obscured the sun. A ceaseless threat of rain was in the air. It began to drizzle slightly an hour before game time, but the fans' optimism was not to be shaken by mere raindrops.

The stands were garbed in holiday attire. The well-known national colors fluttered from the upper boxes. Red, white and blue panel effects festooned the steel girders supporting the stands. Resplendent streamers distinguished the dugouts of the rival combatants.

FIRST INNING.

BROWNS—Tobin rolled to Johnston. Gardner grabbed Gerber's hot shot and threw him out. Sisler took two balls and then sent a long fly to Jamieson. NO RUNS.

CLEVELAND—Jamieson hit a high fly to Sisler. Johnston singled to right center. On Speaker's bounder, Gerber threw high to second, both runners being safe. Jacobson made a nice running catch of Smith's long drive close to the wall. Gardner fouled to Severeid. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING.

BROWNS—Jacobson's hot liner rolled up Sewell's arm, but he recovered it in time to throw him out. Williams lined to Sewell. Stephenson tossed out Gleason. NO RUNS.

CLEVELAND—Sewell singled to center. Stephenson sacrificed, Shocker to Sisler. O'Neill called out on strikes. Bagby lined to Williams. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING.

BROWNS—Lamb flied to Jamieson. Gardner ran in front of Sewell for Severeid's bounder and got his man. Shocker was the first Brownie to reach first, drawing a pass. Tobin also walked. With the count two and two, Gerber tripled to center, scoring Shocker and Tobin. Sisler flied to Jamieson. TWO RUNS.

CLEVELAND—Gleason tossed out Jamieson. Johnston went out the same way. Speaker lined one between Lamb and the bag for a double. Smith cracked a double off the screen in right, Speaker scoring. Gardner lined to Jacobson. ONE RUN.

FOURTH INNING.

BROWNS—Jacobson tripled to the bleachers in left. Williams fanned. Gardner grabbed Gleason's bounder and touched Jacobson as he tried to slide back to third. Jamieson made a nice running catch of Lamb's foul. NO RUNS.

CLEVELAND—Sewell flied to Jacobson. Gleason threw out Stephenson. O'Neill missed a third strike. NO RUNS.

FIFTH INNING.

BROWNS—Severeid flied to Speaker. Stephenson smothered Shocker's grounder and threw him out. Tobin flied to Jamieson. NO RUNS.

CLEVELAND—Bagby lined a two-base hit into the crowd in right. On Jamieson's attempted sacrifice, Bagby was out at third, Shocker to Lamb. Johnston flied to Tobin. On the hit and run, Speaker singled to left, Jamieson stopping at second. Smith fouled to Severeid. NO RUNS.

SIXTH INNING.

CLEVELAND—Gardner walked. Sewell fouled to Sisler. Stephenson doubled to right-center. O'Neill hit the first ball for a double over Jacobson's head, scoring Gardner and Stephenson. Bagby flied to Williams. Jamieson walked. Shocker tossed out Johnston. TWO RUNS.

SEVENTH INNING.

CLEVELAND—Speaker flied deep to Jacobson. Smith out, Sisler to Shocker. Gleason juggled Gardner's bounder, but threw him out. NO RUNS.

EIGHTH INNING.

BROWNS—Severeid lined to Speaker. Shocker fanned. Tobin beat out a bunt along the third base line. On the hit and run, Gardner grabbed Gerber's bounder and cut loose with a low throw, which Johnston scopped out of the dirt. NO RUNS.

NINTH INNING.

BROWNS—Sisler doubled to center. Jacobson flied to Stephenson. Gardner threw out Williams. Earl Smith batted for Gleason and bounced a single off Stephenson's chest, Sisler scoring. Wetzel batted for Lamb and out, Gardner to Johnston. ONE RUN.

Walter Mails, the southpaw of the Cleveland Indians, yesterday was charged with the first defeat he has suffered since he entered the American League last September. In the A. L. campaign last season he won six in a row and tacked on another victory in the world's series. In his first 1921 appearance he was driven off the hill, but the Indians won out. Yesterday, the Tigers punished him for nine hits and six runs in 2 2-3 innings. The Jungaleers won, 9—6.

Cards to Open First Home Series Against the Cubs; May Only Winning Pitcher

Absence of Doak and Schupp From Hurling Duty Contributes to Poor Road Record of One Victory in Five Games—Johnny Evers' Team Has Suffered Accidents That Weaken It.

Following a disastrous opening road trip, on which only one of the five games played was won, the Cardinals are scheduled to open the 1921 pennant campaign at Sportsman's Park, tomorrow afternoon, with the Chicago Cubs as opponents. Today's game was postponed. There will be several inaugural frills.

Mayor Henry Kiel will throw the first ball, with Louis Aloe, President of the Board of Aldermen, acting as catcher. A band and cabaret singers also will be on duty. Manager Rickey will be presented with flowers before the clash. One of the bouquets will be from the Knot Hole Gang and the other from the Cardinal players.

Tomorrow's contest will serve to introduce to St. Louis fans Rickey's new battle front, as well as Johnny Evers as manager of a major league aggregation. Despite the absence of several stars, Evers' club at present is above the .500 mark, having won three of the five contests played.

While Rickey's men at present are in last place, the club should get out of the cellar while battling on the home lot. On the road, the batters were not hitting, while the pitchers were not hurling up to their standard. Jakie May, the southpaw, is credited with the lone victory, he stopping the Reds with one tally.

Hornsby in New Role Here.

Unless the Cardinal manager makes an eleventh-hour change in his batting order, Rogers Hornsby will be introduced as an outfielder. It is not the first time, however, that Hornsby has played in the meadows, as several years ago he appeared in the outer garden for the Knot Holers in a few clashes. He has been stationed in left field by Rickey since the opening of the regular N. L. season.

Hornsby was shifted to the meadows by Rickey, when Milton Stock, the holdout third-sacker, came into the fold the day before the season opened. Stock was immediately shoved into the game at the far corner, while George Toporcer, the bespectacled youth from Newark, has been allowed to tarry at second. Toporcer, in the early games, has been fielding sensationally and has been hitting well.

While the Cardinals have won only one of five clashes, it must be said for them that they have gone along without the services of two of the team's pitching aces—Bill Doak and Ferd Schupp. Doak remained in St. Louis trying to get his salary whip into shape. Schupp went along on the trip, but the weather was so bad that he was not called upon to act.

Trojan Jawn Evers will introduce two new players to the local fans tomorrow. They are Grimes, who is covering first base, and George Maisel, who is laboring in center field. Grimes is a real newcomer, but Maisel is no "spring chicken." He had a brief tryout with the Browns some years ago and was obtained by the Bruins from the Coast League.

Evers is worrying along at present without the services of the Cubs' regular catcher—Bill Killifer, who is nursing a bad hand. Grover Alexander twisted his wrist in the first clash of the season and has not worked since. Jim Vaughn also is out with a sore arm.

JACK SMITH WORKS OUT WITH CARDINALS

Jack Smith, the last remaining holdout, returned to the fold today. He was in uniform, but the Cardinal management announced that he would not be permitted to sign a contract or draw salary until he had put himself in condition for play. His reporting however, prevents his coming under the recent ruling of Judge Landis as to holdouts.

Cardinals Game Off

The Cordinals' opening game of the season at home was called off at 2:45 o'clock because of rain. About 2000 had come out and voiced thei rdisapproval. The season's opening with the Cubs will be ployed tomorrow.

Camp Says U. S. 'Pro' Golf Team Is Representative

Men Chosen Appear Most Dependable That Could Be Named for British Invasion.

By Walter Camp.

(Copyright, 1921.)

NEW YORK, April 21.—Those who have been worrying over the composition of the quartet of American professionals selected to represent the United States in match play against Great Britain at the British open championship on the St. Andrews links June 20 may dismiss their fears that our strongest four may not be pitted against the golfers of Albion. For it was made clear today that if any one of the four—French, Hagen, Barnes and Hutchison—is off his game, some other member of the invading team whose play is at its peak will be substituted.

At least the idea prevails among those familiar with the British open that entries may be changed after the original entries are submitted.

Invading Team Strong.

As to our invading team in its entirety, the selection may be regarded as fairly representative; it should be noted, too, that the players are of the most varied character, so that if the conditions are against one it will not prove necessarily that they are against all. The team consists of French, Hagen, Hutchison, Barnes, Hampton, Hackney, McLeod, Loos, Hoffler, McClean, Kerrigan and Melhorn. Barnes has made the best showing of any of our men over there, doing very well last year at the time when Hagen fell down. Hutchison is one of these brilliant players likely to play a remarkable game at any time. Hackney is big and powerful and has been playing for years in the winds of Atlantic City, which will certainly prepare him for what may come in the way of gentle zephyrs over there.

College Crews Experiment.

Between experimenting with English boats at Yale, experimenting with oars at Princeton and working out with different style of shell at Harvard it looks as if we should have an opportunity at the expense of some of the college exchequers to gather further information as to the value of different models of material in the boating line. Nowadays no expense is too great to learn how a few seconds can be saved in the mile in an eight-oared shell.

UNIVERSITY CITY NINE HAS COMFORTABLE LEAD IN COUNTY TITLE RACE

With the county high baseball season well under way, the University City team has a lead that does not seem likely to be overcome. Coach Roberts has the best pair of pitchers in the county in Kortkamp and Weber, and the team's offensive play is strong.

The Webster team is sadly in need of a few utility players. Its two defeats were due to poor fielding on the part of substitutes.

In the Clayton-Webster game Tuesday, Webster enjoyed a 7—4 lead when Stork, third baseman, became ill and was forced to leave the game. Clayton then took advantage of the weak spot at third.

Alexa Stirling Ties for Third in Tourney Abroad

(Copyright, 1921.)

LONDON, April 21.—Miss Alexa Stirling, woman golf champion of the United States, did not do herself full justice, despite five threes in the second round of the international tournament for women at Ranelagh, yesterday. She went out in 37 and home in 36 for a 73, which gave her an aggregate score of 145 for the two days' play. With this score she tied for third place, and deserved much credit, in view of the fact that she was new to a somewhat tricky course.

Miss Joan Stocker led the field yesterday with a brilliant 69, while Miss Leitch turned in a card of 70 and so won the aggregate prize with a score of 142, three strokes better than Miss Stirling.

Miss Stocker, however, carried off the coveted Ranelagh gold medal with her card of 69, a medal which has been won four years in succession by Miss Leitch.

The tie at 72 for the first day's play between Miss Leitch, Miss Suttie and Miss Stirling was decided on the first nine holes today, and Miss Leitch won the scratch prize.

American Girl Feels Tension.

Miss Stirling struck me yesterday as somewhat overstrained. She was slow and deliberate much of the time and was almost overcareful, failing to allow sufficiently in the morning for the changed conditions following rain and an overnight frost.

Then, too, she appeared to be perturbed slightly by the close pressing of a big gallery which was not kept well in hand. Once, when loud talking was going on, as she was about to make a putt, she glanced around as though imploring silence.

She was uniformly good-natured, however, and although obviously disappointed when unlucky putts just failed to drop or an approach ran short she was always quick to praise the clever shots of her partner, Miss Chambers.

The latter was playing brilliant golf and made a 35 on the last nine holes, one stroke better than Miss Stirling. This was further proof of the strength of our woman's golf and what your champion is up against.

Miss Leitch Outdrives American.

Miss Leitch played a much stronger game than Miss Stirling, several times carrying the green with her drives on short holes which your champion never did.

Miss Stirling was not at her best in the early part of the match, and really played her best golf over the last five holes with three 3's and two 4's. At the sixteenth green she holed out with a mashie from a little off the green. It was a great shot, wonderfully judged for strength and direction. An eight-yard putt at the fifth hole also aroused much applause.

She missed a number of short putts, however, due partly perhaps to the ever-pressing gallery.

Miss Stirling will play in a foursomes at Burhill tomorrow and will then go to Scotland for a short rest and some practice over the championship course.

SPEAKING OF RECORDS.

Deffaa Pitches 4-Hit Game and Defeats Central

Cleveland Hurler's Work Gives His Team Second Victory of the Season.

Cleveland High School's baseball team scored a second victory yesterday afternoon by defeating Central High School 10 to 3 in the second game of the postponed Saturday double-header, played at High School Field, Grand and Laclede avenues, at 4 o'clock.

Cleveland made its first tally in the fourth inning when three runners crossed the plate. Central retaliated with three hits and three runs, their only scores. But in the next inning, Cleveland, with Scannell's double for a starter, batted around and made five runs, and in the eighth inning added two more to the score, on a single and a sacrifice.

SPORTS through Edgren's EYES

By Robert Edgren.

(Copyright, 1921.)

Babe Ruth has reformed. A month ago Babe announced that he wasn't going to try to knock out a home run every time he came to bat this year. Instead, he said, he was going to go out after a record batting average. Of course, if Babe happens to clout one over the fence now and then, he won't feel worried. Babe started the season with five hits in five times up, and it looks as if he'll go right along putting them where he wants to.

Incidentally, it is said, Babe has improved his golf drive to such an extent that he uses only one fairway at a time. "Accuracy, terseness, more accuracy," as a famous newspaper editor once outlined his working motto.

Why Penalize Skill?

When the Chamber of Commerce of Jersey City invited Tex Rickard to hold the big international battle in their fair town they gave boxing the best boost it has had in many years.

It always has seemed funny to me that some people think small bouts between small men are all right, and have conscientious objections to allowing champions to compete.

A champion is a man who has developed skill and ability to such an extent that he is superior to all others in his class. Anyone who enjoys a boxing bout can get much greater enjoyment out of seeing superlatively skillful performers in the ring.

Our army experiences during the late war taught us that boxing is one of the most useful sports in the world. Boxing should be encouraged. And the way to encourage boxing is to encourage the best boxing—the quality of boxing we see when champions meet.

Dempsey's Style His Own.

There's no questioning the fact that Dempsey is one of the most skillful boxers in America, and Carpentier classes far ahead of all other European boxers. I've heard people who were not well versed in boxing say that Dempsey is only an awkward, powerful man, who wins by use of "brute strength."

This isn't true. There are hundreds of men in this country who could tie Dempsey into a knot as far as strength goes. There isn't one who can beat him with the boxing gloves.

Dempsey's boxing style is simply original, unlike the old standards of the ring, developed by Dempsey himself as a result of years of close study. And it is so effective that thousands of other boxers in this country are trying to use Dempsey's shifting, sawing combination of defense and attack.

Dempsey developed that in a peculiar way. When he began boxing he was inclined to rely entirely upon hitting with the right hand. To break him of this habit his manager, Kearns, had Jack tie his right hand down to his right leg. He had to use the left for all his hitting. He had no right to guard with.

So he swayed and ducked under blows and stepped swiftly inside of such punches as came his way. He developed a wonderful left hand, and a knack of avoiding punishment while standing in at close quarters. These features of his boxing style won him the world's championship.

Carpentier is also a self-taught boxer, with an original style. Georges is remarkably fast of foot and fast of hand. He fights in various styles, calculated to offset the strong points of the different men he meets. For instance, he fought Gunboat Smith in a low, crouching position that made it impossible for the Gunner to land his heavy swings, and he fought clever Bombardier Wells straight up, beating Wells to every punch. He will have something new to show when he meets Dempsey.

What that will be only Carpentier and Descamps know.

SOLDAN TRACK TEAMS WIN DOUBLE VICTORY OVER WEBSTER STARS

Senior and junior track teams of Soldan High School both defeated rival athletic squads representing Webster High Schools, in games concluded last night at Washington University "gym," with the completion of the senior contests.

The older athletic squad from St. Louis defeated the county athletes, 72⅚ to 40½, while the junior meet, held the night before, was won by the local squad, 46 to 31.

ADAMARS ROLL INTO FIRST PLACE IN CITY HANDICAP TOURNEY

The Adamars of the Mound City League rolled into first place in the five-man event of the city handicap bowling tournament last night with a total of 2905 pins. Their score includes games of 981, 858 and 966, with a handicap of 87 pins a game. Lou Hamon's 532 total was high for the new leaders.

The Union Sodas with 2771, including 66 pins a game handicap, took second place, and Witter's Orange team secured third place, scoring 2757. Their handicap was 39 pins a game.

A. Weigel of the Recruit five did the best work in the individual competition, dropping 209, 191 and 175 pins for a 575 total. G. Yoxall, Heiberts, was second best with 569.

Five leagues will bowl tonight as the first squad at 6:45, while the Wellston League entrants will take the alleys at 9 p. m.

Other scores of five-man teams follow: Recruits, (195) 2,732; Witter's Lemon, (81) 2718; Jack Heiberts, (75) 2680; Green Tree Dairy, (165) 2655; Rose Hill, (171) 2627; Witter's 1113, (scratch) 2625; Red Goose, (249) 2612; Continental Sales, (387) 2561; Wenige, (300) 2540; Johnson Specials, (237) 2537; Le Gears, (102) 2536; Pauley Bhothers, (300) 2438.

Jacksonville, Fla.—The Florida State League opens its 1921 playing season today with a schedule calling for 120 games. Daytona plays at Jacksonville; Orlando at Lakeland and St. Petersburg at Tampa. Jacksonville's entrance into the league marks its first professional ball in several years.

CAPABLANCA FAVORED TO WIN CHESS TOURNEY

HAVANA, April 12.—Experts attending the world championship chess tournament at Marianao Casino between Jose R. Capablanca of this city and Dr. Emanuel Lasker of Berlin expressed the opinion that, unless there is a sudden and decisive change in the course of the next few days, Capablanca will win the tournament. Play in the fourteenth game of the series was adjourned here this morning after the thirty-first move, and the indications were that the contest would be a draw.

It is pointed out by chess authorities here that Capablanca will play the white pieces in five of the remaining eleven games. This will give him the choice of openings, and his work so far in the tournament would seem to indicate that it would be next to impossible for Dr. Lasker to obtain more than a draw in these contests.

MIKE GIBBONS TO BOX CHUCK WIGGINS TONIGHT

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 21.—Mike Gibbons of St. Paul and Chuck Wiggins of Indianapolis will meet in a 10-round bout here tonight. Both men have trained hard and are confident. Yesterday afternoon Wiggins weighed 163 pounds and Gibbons 159.

This will mark Gibbons' first fight since he encountered Mike O'Dowd in November, 1919, in an effort to wrest the middleweight championship from his fellow townsman.

New Canadian Swim Record.

MONTREAL, April 21.—A Canadian record of 56 seconds for the 100-yard indoor swim was set last night by Clayton Bourne. His time was two-fifths of a second better than the previous record. Bourne, who is 17 years old, also set a junior record for the 220 yards of 2m. 34s. The former best time was 2:51⅘, made by George Vernot in 1916, who also held the 100-yard record.

BAN JOHNSON PROCLAIMS MAY 12 HOSPITAL DAY

CHICAGO, April 21.—Ban Johnson, president of the American League, today sent a letter to all club presidents asking co-operation in observing National Hospital day, May 12.

"The purpose of this event is to better inform the public of the real scope of hospital service with the thought of better equipment and united effort for the care of the men who made such great sacrifices on the battlefields of Europe," the letter said.

It was suggested that all soldiers and sailors from the national hospitals be admitted free to games.

STEEL SHARES UNDER PRESSURE ON THE EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, April 21.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Trading on the Stock Exchange was more active, but with extreme irregularity with regard to price changes. Steel stocks were under pressure all day, weakness in Crucible being especially marked. Motors on the other hand, were strong, Studebaker making an advance of about 6 points and certain low priced oils were also well taken. Rails were neglected. Toward the close, the list shows changes varying all the way from gains of 5 points to losses of 3 points and no general trend was discernible. Call money on the Stock Exchange ruled at 6½ per cent all day with loans again reported in the outside market at 5 per cent.

"The short term note market continued irregular. Allied packers 6s were again heavy, declining to 44 under small sales and a slight loss was sustained in Goodrich Tire 7s. Other issues were generally unchanged or at slightly higher levels.

Exchange Market Irregular.

"Irregularity characterized the European exchange market, with sterling firm and francs and lire, which rallied yesterday, reacting. A fair business was done in remittances on London at prices fluctuating narrowly between last night's closing of $3.92½ and $3.92¾. Francs, meanwhile, showed a loss of 6 points at 7.28 cents, while lire declined the same number of points to 4.78 cents. London cables stress the serious economic implications of the coal strike and attribute part of the recent rally in francs to the bunkering of British ships at French ports. With an economic and social situation which produces such anomolies as the foregoing, it is easy to comprehend the sharp and apparently unreasonable fluctuations to which the exchanges are now subject. Heavy selling developed in German marks, with the price declining another 3 points to 1.44 cents. The weakness probably results from ideas as to the Allies' actions with regard to reparations as to those touching on the controversy regarding the Reichsbank's gold.

Wheat Rallies Well.

"After early weakness reflecting lack of export demand, wheat rallied well as a result of short covering based on reports of colder weather and predictions of frost in Kansas. As a result the May delivery gained 1¾ cents on the day and closed at $1.27¾ while the July future picked up 1¾ cents at $1.06½. Cotton acted in a manner opposite to that displayed by wheat, opening firm and then reacting on fresh Southern selling and liquidation. In selling at 11.80 cents the May delivery showed a loss of 12 points which wiped out a large part of yesterday's gain.

Improvement in Reserve.

"Despite the fact that the Government resorted to fresh borrowing from the Bank of England this week, the latter's tsatement shows another improvement in reserve position. Circulation is again lower, showing a decrease of 260,000 pounds and with a corresponding addition to the reserve account and a decrease of 4,800,000 pounds in deposit liabilities, the reserve ratio stands at 14.5 per cent as compared with 13.8 the week before and 12.1 two weeks ago when the low figure corresponding to the end of the Government's fiscal year was reached. Twelve months ago the ratio was reclining after having registered a brief recovery but stood at 17.3 per cent, while at this time in 1913, the figure was 49.6. With the coal strike still an unsettling factor, the Governors quite naturally have decided to maintain the discount rate unchanged for another week.

"Further contraction is shown also by the Bank of France statement. Circulation is less by 246,000,000 francs, deposits are 82,000,000 francs smaller and the decline in discounts amounts to 140,000,000 francs. In addition the Government has been able to pay off 50,000,000 francs on its borrowings at the bank. This follows a repayment of 150,000,000 francs last week, and brings the total for advances to the State down to 26.2 billion francs. In both countries, accordingly, the tendency is toward deflation.

Wall Street News and Comment
—SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Wall Street came down to business this morning with two bits of really unfavorable news and another supposedly unfavorable one. Passing altogether of the dividend on Goodrich Rubber was not a surprise, although there had been some thought that the turn in the tire industry might have come in time to encourage a less drastic policy.

Republic Steel's earnings for the quarter were in line with anticipations. They showed a bage $134,600 after bond interest as against $1,777,000 during the same three months last year. But the point was that even if expected, these two developments were distinctly bad and as such a trial for the immediate position of the stock market. The third feature in the morning's news—the statement attributed to the president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey that wages and dividends must come down—was denied by him, but not before it had some temporary effect upon Standard Oil shares.

The market under this test demonstrated again, as it has so often during the last few weeks, that the worst possible news in the shape of earnings statements and dividend action has been well discounted at the present level of prices. Republic Steel opened down a point, unsettling the rest of the steel group. Goodrich shares also dropped off a point. But in neither case was there any real weakness. Standard Oil, after losing 4 points, rallied promptly. Thus even in the quarters where a decline was most to be expected, the loss was inconsiderable. The general market planly showed the encouragement derived from the successful resistance in these directions.

Cosden Oil, following its excellent report for 1920, had the sharpest move of any, but it was closely followed by Union Oil, Sinclair and several other similar issues. The great strength of Studebaker, which pushed through its previous high, fitted in with the intimations which have been made for some time that two large capitalists have recently bought heavily into the company and are soon to be elected to the board.

There were, however, a certain number of weak spots remaining to be exposed. U. S. Food Products broke badly, reviving the discussion of four months ago regarding the floating obligations of the company and the need of putting through some new financing in order to provide fresh working capital to take the place of that put into the unprofitable investments in steamships and sugar properties. The weakness in this stock influenced some sympathetic selling of Industrial Alcohol, despite the statement of the president of that company at the annual meeting today that business during the first quarter, while not up to last year, was still very satisfactory under the circumstances. Crucible Steel, which has been an object of suspicion right along in face of reassuring statements put out from the inside, was persistently pressed for sale and this had a depressing effect upon the other steels and upon some of the equipments.

The Bond Market.

The bond market today was a very mixed affair. The Liberty group went higher with the best demand witnessed in the fourth 4¼s. The foreign Governments were, for the most part, dull with little feature. Despite the persistent reports, that the Mexican Government is getting ready to resume interest payments on its external debt, the Mexican 5s were weaker. They sold down to 46¾, at which figure they were off 3 points from the recent high. French 8s at 98¾ were unchanged. Chinese Railway bonds were steady at 47. City of Paris 6s were the same at 97¾.

The upward tendency in industrial bonds was not as a rule sustained. United States Rubber 7½s, which closed last night at 101⅝, suddenly came down to par for no reason apparent except profit-taking by some of the recent buyers. Consolidated Gas 7s were off nearly a point to 100⅝. Cuban-American 8s lost three-quarters at 100¾. Sinclair 7½s, despite the strength in the oil shares, reacted to 91½, although later rallying to 92. Against these declines there was an active demand for American Telephone and Telegraph Co. 4s, which carried them up a half point to 80, the highest of the year. Burlington general and joint 4s were dealt at their high of 99¼, later receding to 99. D. & R. G. refunding 5s gained a half point to 44½. Manhattan Elevated 4s were a half point lower at 55. It was felt that the president of the Manhattan Elevated had made out a decidedly strong case in refutation of yesterday's story that the new Transit Commission would abrogate the Interborough agreement. His statement had its effect upon Interborough Rapid Transit 5s, which were heavily sold at a loss of nearly a point.

American Ice.

American Ice common today went through its high for both this year and last which was quite an achievement in such a market. There has been quite a good deal of switching into Ice preferred by people who had losses in other investments and felt they had a better chance of making these losses up in Ice preferred than in the stocks they were carrying. However, all through the unsettlement and depression of the last two months very little Ice preferred has been offered for sale and the common likewise has been hard to buy. There is no change in the business outlook of the company which as already pointed out is exceptionally favorable to the unusually mild winter and shortage which this meant in the natural ice crop. The season is now approaching where the big earnings begin, and this is showing in the market movement of the stocks.

OIL SHARES LEAD IN ACTIVE CURB TRADING

NEW YORK, April 21.—There was considerable activity on the Curb Market today, with the oil shares the leaders. Price changes generally were irregular, some of the so-called Standard Oil issues showing losses in the early dealings. Traders were the principal sellers, but after this supply had been exhausted, sharp rallies took place.

Commission houses had moderate orders on both sides of the market. Standard Oil of New York was more active than usual, moving over a large range of several points and showing a decline from the previous closing prices. The Indiana shares also were comparatively active and recorded a small decline. Ohio Oil, on the other hand, was traded in at an upturn of several points. Quotations for other Standard Oil shares were somewhat lower. Elk Basin was the feature of the independent group, being unusually active and selling at a new high point for the present movement on buying credited to insiders. Carib Syndicate also was strong and high, but Columbia Emerald eased fractionally. Merritt Oil moved upward. High early quotations for Maracaibo brought out realizing sales and caused a reaction. Simms and International Petroleum were somewhat lower.

In the miscellaneous list United Retail Candy continued quite active, but the demand was not equal to a larger supply and a slight decline resulted. Sweets Co. was firm, and a small fractional decline was shown in Southern Coal and Iron, with dealings smaller than in some time.

National Tin was an active feature in the mining group, touching its recent high on good buying. Eureka Croesus, however, was under pressure and dropped sharply, with a complete recovery later on short covering.

There was moderate activity in bonds, and the tone was steady, with price changes narrow.

HOGS SELL AT LOWEST PRICE SINCE FEBRUARY, 1916

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., April 21.—Today's estimated receipts: Cattle and calves, 2500; hogs, 12,000; sheep, 1500; horses and mules, 100.

CATTLE—A comparatively light run of 2500 head today found active sale at steady and in a few instances slightly stronger rates. Improvement, where shown, was mostly on lightweight steers. Heavier beeves and virtually all grades of butcher stock remained steady. Veal calves ruled steady at Wednesday's decline, the top scoring at $8.50, and bulk of lights selling from $8@8.25.

Quote: Beef steers, bulk, $7@8; top, $8.15; stocker and feeder steers, bulk, $5.75@6.75; butcher yearlings, bulk, $6.75@8; top, yearling steers, $8.50; butcher cows, bulk, $5@6.50; canner and cutter cows, range, $2.25@4; meef and bologna bulls, bulk, $4.75@6.

HOGS—Hog market opened 25c lower today, with the top at $8.50, this representing the lowest point reached locally since February, 1916. Later in the day, however, the top dropped to $8.25 and market closed a flat 50c lower. Bulk of sales ranged from $8.10@8.40. Strong weight and heavy hogs showed less decline than lights, and a further narrowing of the spread was noted. Best rough sows brought $6@6.25 and stags, $5@5.25.

SHEEP—An estimated run of 1200 sheep and lambs included only one load for the market. Remainder were billed direct. Market steady, with no important sales made. Quote best clipped lambs, $9@9.50; wool, $9.50@10; wool sheep, $6@6.75 and clipped, $5.75@6.

HORSES AND MULES—The markets in this department reflected no material change from selling the previous day. For the week trade has averaged steady to strong on all the better classes of stock, though slow and weak on thin, blemished or otherwise outclassed material. Receipts of horses on commission have totaled 300 head, while the mule offering was less than 200.

COTTON MARKET RULES QUIET AND PRICE RANGE IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, April 21.—Business in the cotton market continued quiet, but the tone was steady at the start today and after opening unchanged to 3 points higher, active months sold some four to seven points above yesterday's closing. This was in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables and scattered covering, while local brokers reported some fresh commission house buying of new crop months on the unfavorable weekly weather report of yesterday. There was some Southern selling and spot houses sold May, but May contracts were purchased against sales of July at a difference of 60 to 64 points. May fluctuating between 11.92c and 11.96c and July 12.55c to 12.60c during the early session.

The Eastern belt forecast for showers was considered unfavorable, as warm, dry weather is believed to be needed, and probably contributed to the steady undertone of the market. Otherwise, there was no special news or trading feature and business was very quiet later, with July ruling around 12.50c at midday, or about 4 points net lower and 10 points off from the best under realizing.

The market was easier during the early afternoon under Wall street and local selling, with July easing off to 12.43, or about 9 points net lower.

The market was easier during the early afternoon under Wall Street and local selling, with July easing off to 12.43c, or about 9 points net lower.

Cotton futures closed very steady. May, 11.88c bid; July, 12.47c; October, 13.04c; December, 13.52c; January, 13.70c.

GRAIN VALUES EASE AFTER EARLY UPTURN

Wheat closed higher on the Merchants' Exchange today, but corn and oats were lower. Higher cash markets, excess of primary shipments over receipts, substantial sale of flour for export and continued good clearances continued to aid futures in the late trading after an irregular start. There was also talk of farther export inquiry for wheat at seaboard.

The early market moved irregularly after opening with May wheat at $1.24½, July wheat $1.03¾, May corn 58¼@58⅜c, July wheat 61⅜c, September wheat 63½c and May oats 39c.

There were those who acted on fear of crop damage while others were skeptical of any real harm having been done. The early trade was moderate selling was encountered on the upturn. A bearish view on the industrial situation also countered. The Indian and Russian grain situations also were considered.

Broomhall in a report said that Argentine exportable surplus of wheat was 96,000,000 bushels and corn 188,000,000 bushels including old and new.

Grain Statistics.

St. Louis grain receipts today were: Wheat, 31 cars local and 31 through; corn, 14 cars local and 3 through; oats, 10 cars local and 3 through; hay, 123 tons local and 33 through.

Slab zinc was quoted at $4.85 per 100 lbs.

IRREGULAR PRICE RANGE TO GRAIN ON CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, April 21.—Breaks and bulges followed each other rapidly in the wheat market today without lasting advantage on either side. Sellers based their operations on skepticism as to any real damage to domestic crops, and on bearish views of the industrial situation. Bulls contended that prices were already so low as to be attractive to importing countries and to investors. Opening prices were unchanged to ¼c higher, with May $1.25 to $1.26 and July $1.05¼ to $1.05¾, and with ensuing changes covering a range of about 2¾c.

Toward the last, the market advanced, owing more or less to signs of export business. The close was firm, ¾c to 2c net higher, with May $1.27¼ to $1.27½ and July $1.06¼ to $1.06½.

Corn was easier in the absence of any fresh export call. After opening ⅛c to 1c lower, including July at 61⅝c to 61¾c, the market receded a little more and then showed something of a rally.

It was said offerings had slightly increased from Indiana and Illinois. The close was unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ½c lower, with July 61⅞c.

Oats paralleled the action of corn, starting unchanged to ¼c lower, July 38¾c to 39¼c and then undergoing a moderate general sag before beginning to react.

Provisions went lower with hogs.

New York Metals.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Copper steady; electrolytic, spot and nearby, 12¾c; May and June, 13c. Tin firmer; spot and nearby, $30.75@31; futures, $30.75. Iron nominally unchanged. Lead steady; spot, $4.25. Zinc firm; East St. Louis, spot, $4.85@5. Antimony, spot, $5.12@5.25.

Bar Silver.

LONDON, April 21.—Bar silver, 34½d per ounce; money, 6 per cent; discount rates: Short bills, 6 per cent; 3 months' bills, 6¼@6¼ per cent.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

As we have no information bureau, it is impossible to answer queries by mail or telephone. Query for Sunday must be mailed a week beforehand.

C. W. K.—We do not know the producer whom you name.

RE:NICK D.—Take the silverware to some jeweler for replating.

J. W. M.—No rain fell from midnight Saturday to midnight Sunday, April 10.

H. R. C.—We do not identify the coin from your description. Consult a coin dealer.

ETHEL.—The last "i" in "Missouri" is pronounced as a short "i," not as an "a."

A. A. A.—The highest steam pressure that an automobile steamer carries is 1000 pounds.

FIREMAN.—The East St. Louis firemen get $125 per month, working 24 hours on and 24 hours off.

POOR ALICE.—You can secure a copy of tennis rules and instructions from any of the sporting goods houses.

WILLETTA.—The canvas which has been soaked in linseed oil can be painted. We do not know the singers you mention.

MOTHER.—Have your son attend the art classes at the public night schools, or at the Washington University School of Fine Arts.

M. O.—Find someone who can translate German into English and have them read the letters to you. Would it not be better to discuss the whole matter with your husband and settle it definitely?

A P.-D. READER.—The privileges of the public writing room in the library are free to everyone, such as the stationery, pen, ink, etc., but of course the public stenographer charges for her services. Inquire of the Board of Education concerning your attending high school.

ANXIOUS.—The proper way to cleanse linoleum is to first sweep off the dust and then wipe with a damp cloth. The surface should be well rubbed with floor wax several times a year. A weak solution of bees wax in spirits of turpentine is recommended for brightening the appearance of linoleum. The following may prove helpful: 5 ounces yellow wax; 11 ounces turpentine; 5 ounces amber varnish. Melt the wax, add the oil and then the varnish, apply with a rag. Rust spots and other stains can be removed by rubbing the linoleum with steep chips. Inlaid linoleum can be varnished.

W. E. & P. CO.—The American speed record for a six-passenger airplane is claimed by Leo Mons, who piloted a Larsen all-metal monoplane 120 miles in 59 minutes 31 seconds, on May 31, 1920. The American aviation speed record was made by Capt. C. C. Mosley, U. S. A., flying a Verville plane, Packard 600 motor, who averaged 178 miles per hour, in the Pulitzer trophy race, held at Mitchell Field, Mineola, L. I., Nov. 25, 1920. Sadi Lecointe, a Frenchman, broke the world's airplane speed record for four kilometers, Dec. 12, 1920, in France, flying the distance in 46 seconds, a rate of 194.5 miles an hour.

LEGAL INFORMATION.

PADDY.—Cousins cannot marry in Illinois or Missouri.

HILDERBRAND.—You are entitled to a month's notice to vacate, since you are renting by the month.

MRS. MILLER.—You can be compelled to pay the grocery bill even though the company is now bankrupt.

H. E. W.—If you sell your own manufactured articles exclusively you will not require a peddler's license.

E. SMITH.—All blind citizens of Missouri will be entitled to a pension when the new law goes into effect.

MRS. BURNS.—If you have a lease you can stay until it expires and the landlord cannot make you move or raise your rent.

EX-SERVICE MAN.—Write to the Soldier Settlement Board, State House, Jefferson City, Mo., regarding the million-dollar revolving fund.

MRS. MC.—If the jeweler mixed the clocks and gave you the wrong one, and now cannot trace your own, you can sue him for the value of your clock.

TINSLEY.—Your creditors cannot claim any of the homestead if you and your wife own it as joint tenants, until your wife dies, when they could claim some part of it.

3925.—The correspondence company could give you a lot of trouble for discontinuing your payments, but if they have not sent the lessons and you have paid $10, the chances are they will not bother you.

A. N. W.—The wife of a disabled ex-service man can get part of his compensation after they are separated, unless she is to blame for the separation. Write to the War Risk Insurance Bureau, Washington, D. C., for information. Address the National Military Home, Dayton, O.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS.

(Answers prepared by a physician of authority. Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnoses or treatment of individual cases will not be given. Questions that cannot be publicly discussed, if showing evidences of sincerity, will be answered when accompanied by stamped envelope.)

HOPEFUL.—Birthmarks can be removed, but not without a scar, as the pigmented skin must be destroyed.

MABEL.—Such exercise would tend to reduce the abdomen. It would be better if a general advantage is sought that other exercises be combined with this.

P. D. Q.—Circles under the eyes and redness of the face are no doubt caused by some disorder of the general health. Search should be made for this and correction made.

TENANT.—Premises which are infected with cockroaches, bed bugs and other vermin are subject to inspection of the City Health authorities in order to have them placed in the proper sanitary condition. Apply at Room 62, Municipal Courts Building.

E. M.—In such a disease in women the tubes are only removed when they are invaded, which fortunately is not by any means always. Infected tubes are a bar to childbirth. The symptoms are tenderness, discharge through the uterus and tumor formation.

E. H.—Such a diet would, no doubt, reduce weight, but it is not a good diet, being too severe. We would especially advise against the lemon juice regularly. If you will send a stamped and addressed envelope, requesting an obesity diet list, one will be sent to you.

D. H. C.—Jamaica ginger can of course be taken in different forms, powder, infusion, essence, extract, etc. At present the ginger, as ordinarily sold, is made double strength. The ordinary dose would be a teaspoonful, but now a half teaspoon is proper. It may be taken in water or soda water.

THE HAIR DRESSES "UP AND BACK"

No Longer Do Puffs Hide the Ears or Drawn Locks Cover the Forehead, According to Exhibit of Smart Models at the Buckingham.

By MARGUERITE MARTYN.

HAIR is so important a factor in woman's dress these days that local hairdressers may give a show devoted exclusively to the modern coiffure and fill the ballroom of the Buckingham Hotel to overflowing, as was done Monday night by an audience composed almost entirely of men and women engaged in this trade. On this occasion the St. Louis Cosmeticians' Association was entertaining, or rather, being entertained, by a group of the faculty of the Chicago Hairdressing Academy who dressed the hair of the models taking part in the exhibition.

A great variety of styles in hairdressing was shown, each of which was distinguished for smartness or becomingness, and while the hairdresser insists your choice of coiffure should be guided entirely by becomingness, your type, your age, the shape of your face and all that, there were certain points of similarity in all the arrangements, and we have the word of Mr. Hoffman, one of the visiting exhibitors, to the effect that the new tendency in hairdressing is "up and back."

That is, the prevailing mode is to brush the hair backward from the face and build it, or puff it, high at the back. A puff seems to extend beneath the waves from ear to ear over the crown of the head.

Of puffs there are many but they no longer cover the ears. They stand out sort of fan-shaped behind the ears and thin stray wisps of hair are allowed to veil the tops of the ears. No longer do those thick muffs of hair conceal the entire ear.

And only one model, and she was of the petite, ingenue type, wore her hair in the bobbed effect we have seen so much of recently. The forehead, too, in all cases, remained exposed, only a thin fringe or a flat curl marring its fair expanse.

Very little false hair was employed and very little dyed hair, the vogue of no one particular shade or color of hair seeming to predominate more than another. Crisp, sleek undulations of hair, so orderly in arrangements, so finished, so polished that they look like carved wood, seem to be the aim of the artist in hair. Nets are worn invariably, but carefully matched so that they are invisible.

The only artifice outside the skill which the hairdressers brought to the enhancement of their completed coiffures were the ornamental combs, pins, garnitures of all sorts which they used in profusion. A high Spanish comb of lacily carved jade and two paradise aigrettes were considered not too much ornamentation upon one dark head.

Wreaths of flowers and coronets of leaves were a popular mode. Only the artist should venture far in these effects, it being very easy to err on the side of the ridiculous, as was pointed out in the remarks of one of the Frenchmen from Chicago.

HOW FASHION DESIGNERS GET THEIR INSPIRATION

BY FAY STEVENSON.

"Every season he must produce something entirely new and at the same time attractive and appealing.

"An air of mystery surrounds the laboratory of fashion ideas and the designer's inspiration," he replied, "but the designer exploits ideas which are accessible to every student with an eye for human interest.

"I have a friend who regards the New York Public Library as the greatest adventure ground in the world. He can go there and get designs from all over the world. One fine day he will emerge with a quaint little geometrical figure made by some obscure peasant in Hungary and next week it reappears as an embroidery theme in a smart dress. Another time he digs up a tool of the Peruvian civilization and from a given line projects a section of a costume."

"Then a clever designer need not go to Europe, he can get all his material right in New York, can't he?" I asked.

"He can if he has the spirit to enter into the depth of an idea," he replied. "Consider the museums in this city and what they hold for the man looking for designs. One day last week our Museum of Natural History showed a beautiful specimen of an Indian blanket, recently acquired.

"Two designers spent an entire afternoon studying its curious figures. One picked a little theme that seemed lost in the maze of symbols and from it rapidly visualized a motive for a period costume suggesting Puritanism. The other, with the present fashion of Directoire in his mind, found a panel in the shawl pat to his purpose.

"Of course it will not surprise the woman who wants to be in style to know that the most beautiful effects are obtained from primitive art and visions that have been preserved as museum specimens.

"The creator of silks naturally avails himself of all these sources and goes to even greater length in exploiting the unfamiliar. A silk designer visited a recent art exhibit on Fifth avenue, where 12 French artists showed what a riot of gayety and movement there is in silks. These adventurous young artists had glorified primitive art and designs in modern terms. The designer bought two drawings, and is going to share his inspiration with thousands of women in reproducing the paintings in a design idea for fabrics.

"There are designers, however, who prefer contact with the living. They study the facades of a skyscraper or the scroll work in a gate of a library. They wander into city parks and study the forms of foliage. A New York designer has all the material on earth."

Hints for the Home Maker

BUCKWHEAT cakes brown better if made with boiling milk instead of water.

Barley well cooked and served with sugar and cream makes a good cereal dish.

One or two thin slices of lemon added to the black bean soup will give a good flavor.

When running meat through the grinder for hash run a cracker or two through at the last. The cracker will not harm the hash and it saves quite a bit of meat.

After washing raisins or currants, do not place them in the oven to dry, as they will become too hard. Dry them between towels or in the sun.

In washing off the bread board use cold, clear water and the flour will not gum on your dishcloth.

Tastiness and substantiality is added to the dish of fried tomatoes if one or two eggs are added while cooking.

BRAN MUFFINS

ONE cup bran, one cup flour, one egg well beaten, one-quarter cup molasses, two rounding teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one cup milk.

Mix and sift white flour, baking powder and salt. Add bran, egg, molasses and milk. Bake in previously heated and buttered iron gem pans, or muffin pans, over high flame.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The Twins Are Comforted

There is no comfort quite like that Contained in mother's loving pat.
—The Twins.

THE instant they saw Mother Bear the twins stopped bawling. Nothing could harm them now. They knew it. Mother would take care of them. Of that there wasn't a shadow of a doubt in the minds of Boxer and Woof-Woof. Hanging on with every claw of hands and feet they leaned out as far as they could to see what would happen to that great Black Bear who had frightened them so.

But nothing happened to Buster Bear, for, as you know, that is who had chased them up a tree. Nothing happened to Buster, for the very good reason that he didn't wait for anything to happen. Buster was doing no waiting at all. In fact, he was moving so fast and at the same time trying to watch behind him that he didn't even pick his path. He bumped into trees and stumbled over logs in a way that, to say the least, was not at all dignified. But Buster was in too much of a hurry to think of dignity. There was something about the looks of Mother Bear as she tore after him that made him feel sure that he would find it much pleasanter in another part of the Green Forest, and he was in a hurry to get there.

Mother Bear didn't follow him far, just far enough to make sure that he intended to keep right on going. Then, growling dreadful threats, she turned to hurry back to the tree in which the cubs were. Boxer and Woof-Woof were already scrambling down as fast as they could, whimpering a little, for though they felt wholly safe now, they were not yet over their fright. She reached the foot of the tree just as they reached the ground.

She sat up and the twins rushed to her and snuggled as close to her as they could get. Mother Bear put a big arm around each and patted them gently. It was surprising how gentle great big Mother Bear could be.

"Wha-wha-what would that awful fellow have done to us?" asked Woof-Woof, crowding still closer to Mother Bear.

"Eaten you," growled Mother Bear, and little cold shivers ran all over Woof-Woof and Boxer.

"I hate him!" declared Boxer.

"So do I!" cried Woof-Woof. "I think he is dreadful and I hope we'll never, never, never see him again!"

"But you will," replied Mother Bear. "I don't think you'll see him again right away, for he knows it isn't wise for him to hang around here when I am about. But by and by, when you are bigger, you will see him often. The fact is, he is your father."

"What?" screamed the twins, quite horrified. "That dreadful fellow our father!"

"Just so," growled Mrs. Bear. "Just so. And he isn't dreadful, at all. You mustn't speak of your father that way."

"But if it isn't dreadful for a father to want to eat his own children, I guess I don't know what dreadful means," declared Boxer in a most decided tone. "I call it dreadful, and I hate him. I do so."

"Softly, Boxer. Softly," chided Mother Bear. "You see, he didn't know you were his children. He knows it now, but until he saw me coming to your rescue he didn't know it. He never had seen you before. You were simply two tempting-looking little strangers who, if I do say it, look good enough to eat." She squeezed them and patted them fondly. "His name," she added, "is Buster Bear."

UNCOMMON SENSE

By JOHN BLAKE

Put Your Assets to Work.

THE boy who has been left a million dollars has a million dollars to take care of. A million people are going to try to take that money away from him. A million schemes will be submitted to him for its investment. And unless he is a very unusual boy he will not have his million, or any part of it very long.

So frequently is the gilded youth robbed of the money for which his father toiled that schools of investment are now established, whose sole purpose is to teach rich heirs how to hold on to their money.

Fortunately this is nothing for the rest of us to worry about, for there are not enough inheritors or fortunes to make a great deal of difference in the world.

But every boy born in this present day has a heritage which, if protected and invested, ought to bring a return of happiness and prosperity.

The bank in which it is deposited for him is to be found in every school and library. But he cannot transfer it to his account and check against it till he has proved his right to it.

The way to come by this heritage is to learn how to use it. The learning that was gained for you by men long dead, you can make your own by the very simple process of studying. After you make it your own you can make it pay. This is what every man who begins life poor and becomes successful is doing every day.

Charles M. Schwab, once a messenger boy, found out how to secure for himself the knowledge of the steel industry that had been amassed by Carnegie and many other iron masters.

He got that knowledge into his own head. And then he made it work for him.

How well Schwab succeeded need not be told. There are few people in any civilized country who do not know about him.

If you will consider all the learning that has been left by wise men as your heritage, you will find it worth far more to you than money.

For if you were left a million dollars without knowing how to care for it, you would probably not keep it very long. But the wealth of wisdom that you laboriously store in your mind will last as long as you last.

THE PHANTOM ALIBI

By Frederick Irving Anderson

(Copyright, 1921.)

SECOND INSTALLMENT.

WELL, they tried it again, and again. Nothing doing." Parr regarded Armiston with his dry smile. "It seems Sauer has been furnishing his own aluminum, hitherto, Salted it. I suppose. Those two experts never suspected him. You can get a trace of gold out of any sample of commercial aluminum—not enough to pay, but you can show it. Pettibone suspected what had happened. He handed Sauer a piece of chemically pure aluminum. And he didn't give him a chance to dope the brew. Then he laughed at him. There was quite a blowup. Brown quit cold, feeling as if he had been made a fool of. So did Westcott. They left in a huff. But Petty stayed behind, Sauer buttonholing him. The last Brown heard, Pettibone was explaining to Sauer, in words of one syllable, just what kind of a crook he was."

"He'd do that—make it a point of honor," agreed Armiston. He yawned. "This is all very thrilling, Commissioner," he said. "But when do you produce the corpse?"

"We don't," said Parr, grimly.

"What? You can't execute a man for murder, in this State, without a corpus delicti."

"We can't produce it," repeated Parr. "And yet, we are going to send Pettibone to the chair."

"Pettibone!" ejaculated the extinct author, now sitting up stark. "You're going to execute Pettibone?" he repeated. "Oh, my dear fellow! Come, this is too much of a good thing"——

"Pettibone was the last man seen with Sauer, alive," went on Parr. "Something happened. Nobody knows just what. The engineer in the basement was roused by a racket. Then water began coming through the ceiling as if there was a flood upstairs. He called up the office, and with the nightman broke into Sauer's rooms, and found"——

"Nothing," said Byrnes. "Nobody there. The safe was open, a lot of papers were scattered about the floor. A chair or two was upset and broken; and the city water was pouring out of a broken pipe, from a connection that Sauer had had put in for his experiments. There had been a three-foot length of galvanized pipe over a lead sink. This pipe had been twisted off at the elbow, and there it lay on the floor. Somebody had been bludgeoned with it. On one end there was blood and hair. Otherwise—nothing."

HERE the deputy paused again for dramatic effect.

"Have I hooked you on now?" he demanded nasally.

Armiston had sprung to his feet and was pacing the floor. He stopped in front of Byrnes.

"Pettibone arrested for murder! Oh, come, Parr," he said disagreeably. "This is too stupid, even for you." Parr grinned, with no ill-feeling. This was why he had come; he had deliberately played for this explosion.

"But the body—what became of the body?" demanded Armiston.

"What becomes of a lump of sugar in a glass of water?" retorted Parr. "It dissolves." He said in the same odd tone: "Well, that's what happened to our friend Sauer. He dissolved."

"Dissolved?"

"Pettibone's finger prints were on one end of that pipe," said the policeman.

"Finger prints, bah!" cried Armiston, angrily. To think that even police bungling would lay a sordid crime of this sort at the door of a man of Dean Pettibone's prestige was maddening.

"I will allow you that," said Parr. "But they led us to Petty. We searched this place. Why, I don't know. Only a fool would expect to find anything there. Still, he was the last man seen with Sauer alive—and something had happened to Sauer. In his laboratory Petty had a big lead tank full of liquid. We asked him what it was. He said it was residues. Residues of what. I don't know. Well, we drained that tank, and we found—this!"

He pushed his clubby fingers into a vest pocket and drew out a tiny ball of tissue paper, which he unwrapped carefully. He laid this small object of irregular shape on the desk. Armiston stared at it. He examined it, under a magnifying glass.

"It's gold, isn't it?" he said, puzzled. Parr nodded.

"It's the residue of our friend Sauer," he said coldly. "It is the corpus delicti that's going to convict Pettibone. It is the gold filling of Sauer's tooth—the sole mortal remains of Sauer, that Pettibone couldn't dissolve in his vat."

ARMISTON sat down dumbstruck.

"Remember," continued Parr, with painful certitude, "it was only three weeks before that the dentist made that filling. He used the amalgam process in making the pattern. He has the matrix—and it fits to a crossed T and a dotted I. Furthermore," said the policeman as he watched Armiston with keen eyes, "the dentist happens to have the preliminary rubber impression he took of Sauer's jaw. You won't tell me you can counterfeit that. Those are the facts, Armiston," he concluded, and he leaned back in his chair to await the verdict.

In his school days Dean Pettibone had been Armiston's kindly guide and friend, one of those rare teachers who achieve something like saintship in the memory of their students.

"It's—preposterous"— Armiston began, and halted. "Are you going to maintain in court that dear old Petty—why he doesn't weigh a good 100 pounds—carried the dead body of Sauer across town, in the middle of the night, to get rid of him in his vat?"

"Preposterous?" said Parr. "Not at all. It was midnight. Sauer's apartment was on the ground floor—with a private entrance in the side street. Pettibone admits he came and went in his coupe, alone. Nobody saw him leave Sauer's rooms. His laboratory is on a lonely road—I believe there was an element of danger in his research work, and a bad smell—and he had to get off by himself. Now do you say 'preposterous'?"

"Reason?" said the deputy. "There is no reason in a crime of violence. But that!"— He pointed to the tiny fragment of gold, every accidental irregularity of whose surface testified incontrovertibly to its identity. He turned fiercely on Armiston. "What are you going to do about that?"

The Deputy Commissioner rose and pulled on his coat slowly. "The jury won't leave its seat," he said absently. "Regrettable, yes, to balance a man like Petty against a cheap trickster." He picked up the particle of gold and restored it to its tissue paper and as he put it back in his pocket, he murmured, "It will send your friend Petty to the chair."

Without a leave-taking he stalked out. In the street the police functionary permitted himself a complacent smile as he looked up at Armiston's windows. Unless he was very much mistaken, he had started a fire.

When Armiston emerged, he at once became conscious of something in the air. Not infrequently, even in a city of such involved complexes as this, there comes a moment, an occasion when street-sweeper and applewoman, milady and her maid, stockbroker and greengrocer, think the same thought, as if an idea had become static, and anchored itself over them like a fog. On this day every street corner had its little group, heads together; in the restaurant where Armiston lunched, usually decorous people craned their necks over their neighbors' newspapers; the female cashier instead of saying, "It's a nice day," said, "Wasn't it awful about the vat?"

The latest extra blared in large type—"HELD WITHOUT BAIL!" One couldn't escape it; in the quietest side streets the eddies of the news danced and swirled, the vat murder was on the tip of the tongue wherever one turned. The sleuthhounds of the press, long fretting on leash, were loose, full cry. This single obscure crime summoned into being myriad phenomena of human interest and activity. On every corner stood impatient groups jingling pennies and waiting for fresh extras. It isn't often that the public gets a best-seller. When it does, newspaper circulation must stand ready to expand like a rubber band.

FLOWER DECORATIONS

HERE is an economical yet very pretty way of making a dozen carnations decorate as effectively as several dozen. Make a pyramid about 10 inches high in the center of the table by setting different sized bowls one within another, using a tall, plain glass vase for the core of the pyramid. Fill all with water and entirely conceal the bowls and vase with such greenery as ferns, asparagus plumosus, smilax, evergreen, two-leafed Solomon's seal or privet to form a solid pyramid, then thrust a dozen pink or red carnations into it at various angles and the result will be quite charming. Pink carnations are pretty in the day time, while red ones glow attractively in the evening when artificial light is used.

RUSSIAN TEA CAKES

RUSSIAN tea cakes as served at one of the Greenwich Village tearooms are made by mixing 1 cup of sugar with 1 cup of beaten eggs, 1 cup of sour cream and enough sifted flour to make a dough stiff enough to handle. Place on a floured board and roll out very thin, ¼ inch thick; spread with a thin layer of butter, fold the dough, roll out and spread again; repeat this four times, using 1½ cups of butter in all. Place the dough in a bowl, cover and place on the ice to harden. When the dough is hard, roll out very thin and spread with a mixture of 1 cup seeded raisins, half a cup of chopped blanched almonds and sugar mixed with a little cinnamon. Cut into seven-inch strips and roll each strip like a jelly roll. Cut into squares, sprinkle with chopped almonds, sugar and cinnamon. Bake in a hot oven.

Mrs. Solomon Says:—

Being the Confessions of the Seven-Hundredth Wife.

By HELEN ROWLAND

For in the photoplay, all sirens are as one siren, and that one obvious; but, in Babylon, there dwell seven times seven varieties of VAMPS and every one an Expert.

Lo, I charge thee, when a damsel looketh at thee through her lashes; when she practiseth the side-glance; when she droppeth her eyes significantly, when she gazeth at thee soulfully, as one seeing visions, be not hypnotized, but take heed.

For, this is the Optic-Vamp, who mesmerizeth her victims, as the cat charmeth the bird. And what she seeth in thine eyes is but the reflection of her own conquest.

When a damsel sunneth her locks upon the beach; when she tosseth them in the wind; when she shaketh her bobbed curls; when she scenteth her hair with spikenard and Chypre, I charge thee have a caution.

When a damsel harkeneth unto thy speech with rapt attention, when she hangeth upon thy words, and applaudeth thy judgments; when she is "CONVULSED" at thy jokes, and laugheth deliriously at thy witticisms, I charge thee flee while there is yet time.

When she bringeth forth the chafing-dish, and feedeth thee the ambrosial Neuburgh, and the nectarine home-brew; when she donneth a fascinating apron; when she lighteth thy pipe, saying, "DO smoke! For it is so chummy!" when she offereth to baths thine aching head in eau-de-cologne and maketh the cushion more "comfy" at thy back, I bid thee be not moved.

For this is the Motherly-Vamp. And, unless thou yearnest for a kitchenette apartment for two, run ere thou succumbest!

When she weareth the exceeding short skirt and the infinitesimal sleeve; when she displayeth dimpled elbows, much neck, and more back; when she sitteth more near and is pensive, I bid thee depart in haste.

Yea, and there be many other Vamps; the Smiling-Vamp, the Platonic-Vamp, the Sympathetic-Vamp, the Sophisticated-Vamp and the Vamp-OF-Vamps, which is the BABY-VAMP.

Therefore, my Son, be not wise in thine own conceit, concerning thy knowledge of women; for they are as the Paris hats, no two of which are alike.

Behold, the fool hath said in his heart: "Lo, I know them all! Yea, by heart, have I their 'numbers'!"

Selah.

Bring out the "High Lights" in your hair!

There is an elusive blue light hiding amidst your dark tresses, Rich Brunette, or perchance an alluring tint of bronze.

And, Dainty Blonde, there are golden glints unawakened that will make yours a true crowning glory, once they are aroused.

And, why don't you, Stately Titian Girl, emphasize the dancing lights that make your hair so fascinating?

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

THE PASSING OF STREET MUSIC.

No more, when shadows gather 'round
We hear the shuffling, rhythmic sound
Of little dancing feet.
No more a small Pavlowa seeks
To balance on her toes
That while a barrel organ squeaks,
"That's Where My Money Goes."
For we are cultured now, you know,
Our taste has grown severe,
And music that is coarse and low
Offends the Public Ear.

The street piano has no charm
Like Galli-Curci has;
It doesn't startle and alarm
Its audience like jazz,
But when, as closed the summer day,
Its strident notes would soar,
Each dirty street and alleyway
Became a dancing floor.
About it joyous throngs would flock,
Collected by its lure,
And every kid along the block

I know there is no music in The rude, discordant noise,
Despite its magic power to win
I know that those on whom a "tune"
Will never care a mite how soon
The music grinders go.
But though no soul-stuff they express
With their discordant strings,
Though Low and Vulgar, I confess

He Deserved Something.

Little Willie had been told that he must always wait patiently until he was served at meals and not to cry across the table nor grab for his food. One day, while dining at a neighbor's with his mother, the little fellow was accidentally overlooked. He was very patient for a time, but at last he could bear the strain no longer, seeing everybody feeding but himself. So, leaning quietly across to his mother, he said in a loud whisper: "Mother, do little boys who starve to death go to heaven?"—Houston Post.

Reviving an Old Friend.

As the season approaches, we just have to hustle down into the files of forgotten gags and spring the old one:

"Well," said the farmer, "I thought you said you could milk a cow? Har, har, har!"

"Oh, I can milk her all right," said the indignant city boarder who had been bragging, 'but I can't get her to sit down on this stool!'"—Richmond Times-Dispatch.
